THE WEATHER

After carrying umbrellas daily for almost a month, residents of Pittsburgh can leave them at home today without fear of receiving a sudden ducking. The weather man is convinced that this section has had enough rain, and now promises fair and warmer weather till Friday, at least. Yesterday's maximum was only 77. The rainfall measured .07. The sun rose cloudy at 4:58 and set cloudy at 7:13 yesterday. The daily report, furnished by the local weather office, follows:

SARTO RULES THE VATICAN

Venetian Cardinal Unanimously Chosen Pope on Seventh Ballot.

ROME IS OVERJOYED

Election Was Unexpected, but Has Proven Immensely Popular With People.

APPEARED AT ST. PETER'S

For a sketch of Pope Pius X. and the reception in Pittsburgh of the news of his election see page 9.

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

Rome, Aug. 4.—The conclave, after being in session for four days, today elected Guiseppe Sarto, patriarch of Venice, as pope to succeed Leo XIII., and he now reigns at the vatican and over the Catholic world as Pius X. Tonight all Rome is illuminated in his honor.

His election and the assumption of his holy office were marked by a striking demonstration and impressive ceremonies at the vatican, which only ended this evening. Tomorrow, the new pope, clad in his full pontifical robes and with all the ritualistic ceremony, will receive the members of the diplomatic corps, the cardinals and the bishops, who will then offer their official homage, this notwithstanding the fact that twice today the cardinals and many high officials of the vatican went through a similar ceremony.

Coronation Next Sunday.

The date upon which the coronation of Pius X. will occur has not yet been officially decided, but the impression prevails that it will occur August 9. Although the election was over at 11 o'clock this morning, and was announced to the world 45 minutes later by the appearance of the new pope at the window of St. Peter's, the conclave was not formally dissolved until 5:30 this afternoon.

The cardinals have returned to their various apartments in Rome, with the exception of Cardinals Rampolla and Oreglia, who temporarily retain their official suites in the vatican, and Cardinal Herrera y Espinosa, who is too ill to be removed for several days. It was to the sick cardinal that the new pope paid his first visit after being formally proclaimed pontiff.

The cardinals will remain in Rome for tomorrow's ceremonies, and should the coronation be fixed for next Sunday, they are not likely to return to their respective homes until after that ceremony. With the exception of the Spanish cardinal, Herrera, all the others are now in fairly good health.

Election Was Unanimous.

The election of the patriarch of Venice this morning was unanimous. After Monday's ballots it was a foregone conclusion that he was the only candidate sufficiently acceptable to all to secure the necessary two-thirds, which the laws of the church require. One of the cardinals said tonight that he believed Pius X. would follow the broad lines of Leo's policy, although not likely to accentuate it. This voices the general feeling here which is one of satisfaction.

The new pontiff is a man of simple origin, and although not a very prominent candidate, he had been frequently mentioned as one of the many cardinals who might be taken up as a compromise. In several respects he resembles his venerable predecessor, notably in his reputation for culture and piety. Having been associated with no factions, this fact alone won him much favor from foreign cardinals, who were without an especial candidate. Pius X. was humorously described as a "country mouse who could not possibly find his way about Rome."

Resembles Bishop Brooks.

Venetians who know the new pope well, say that he will soon be as much beloved as pontiff as he was yesterday as the beloved patriarch of the poor of the Adriatic. In appearance Pius X. is a very handsome man. He has a fine, erect figure, despite his 68 years, his face greatly resembling that of the late Phillips Brooks, the eminent Boston divine.

When he pronounced his first benediction today at St. Peter's his voice rang out with splendid resonance. In every way today he showed beyond a doubt that he has dignity and personality in keeping with the best traditions associated with the famous pontiffs who for centuries have ruled the vatican.

This afternoon, before opening the conclave, Pius X. repaired to the Sistine chapel in full pontifical robes and wearing the mitre, where he seated himself on the throne which he so little expected to occupy, as he left the affairs of the patriarchate at Venice in a certain confusion.

Kissed New Pope's Foot.

There, on the throne, he received the second obedience, or so-called "adoration" of the sacred college, each cardinal as before kissing his hand and foot as a sign that he acknowledged the new pope's sovereignty. Meantime the oration super pontificem electum was recited in low tones. Then the new pontiff rose and, extending his hands and his powerful and magnificent voice, which is much stronger than that of the late pope, reverberating through the dim chapel, he pronounced the apostolic benediction amid profound silence. Then the great door of the conclave opened.

At about 5:30 p. m. Prince Chigi, the marshal of the conclave, and many high ecclesiastical and lay dignitaries went to the Sistine chapel to kiss the pope's hand and foot. They were received with great benignity. The commandant of the noble guard and the officials of the Swiss guard also went to perform this duty. Among these officers was Count Camillo Pecci, the brigadier general of the noble guards and a nephew of the late Pope Leo. The new pontiff received him with special graciousness, saying a few words of welcome.

Pope Pius then retired to his cell, while

W. E. COREY SUCCEEDS C. M. SCHWAB AS THE PRESIDENT OF UNITED STATES STEEL

The Corporation Directors Made Choice Unanimous Yesterday.

SCHWAB A DIRECTOR

His Continued Ill Health Forced Him to Resign from the Presidency.

COREY IS NOW IN CHARGE

The Pittsburgh Gazette Bureau,
Herald Building, Herald Square.
NEW YORK, Aug. 4.

Charles M. Schwab today resigned as president of the United States Steel Corporation and W. E. Corey, to whom he referred as his logical successor, was chosen in his stead.

The announcement was made after the closing of the stock exchange, where there had been a depression of value, but in the opinion of those who follow the market closely the steel corporation did not have a large share in the state of affairs in Wall street.

Ill health was given by Mr. Schwab as the reason for his action, and those who saw him today were convinced that his retirement was due to this condition. He came from Atlantic City, where he has been under the care of a physician, and after the meeting at which his resignation was accepted, he announced that he would return to the New Jersey resort to seek rest and recreation.

Rumors that the corporation was soon to have a new head have been in circulation for several days, and the financial world waited today with eager interest for the outcome. There was a preliminary meeting of the board of directors this morning, at which were present E. H. Gary, J. P. Morgan, H. C. Frick, Norman B. Ream and George W. Perkins. Mr. Gary now holds the newly-created office of chairman of the board of directors.

Rumor Caused Slump.

It was reported that Mr. Frick was to be chairman of the finance committee and that he was in favor of a reduction on the dividends on common stock. There was a decline in steel stocks and the common went down to its low record.

The regular monthly meeting of the board of directors was held in the board room at 3 o'clock this afternoon and business was dispatched with celerity. One of the directors said that the acceptance of the resignation of Mr. Schwab and the selection of his successor was practically all that was done at the meeting, and that the question of dividends was not discussed. Mr. Schwab, shortly before the conclave, walked down from his office, on the Twenty-eighth floor, to the board room. He refused even then to say anything about the rumor that was in circulation.

At the close of the meeting the doors were opened, Mr. Schwab could be seen shaking hands with the directors, and then it was announced that he and Mr. Frick would make announcements and that perhaps another statement would be made. Mr. Trimble, the treasurer, issued the following statement:

Statement By Company.

At the regular meeting of the board of directors of the United States Steel Corporation, Mr. Schwab in consequence of continued ill health, tendered his resignation and it was accepted. Mr. Corey, who has been for some time performing the active duties of the president, was elected to the vacancy. The office of chairman of the board of directors was created and Mr. E. H. Gary was elected to that position and will continue to devote his entire time to the business of the corporation. An advisory committee to consist of three directors, besides the president, to consider and make recommendations concerning manufacturing, transportation and operation, was created and Messrs. E. C. Converse, William Edenborn and D. G. Reid were elected as members of this committee. Mr. Schwab will continue to be a member of the board of directors and of the finance committee.

Upon the request of Mr. Schwab, Mr. Frick reduced to writing what he had to say of an au revoir and copies of it were distributed. Mr. Morgan, who was asked to speak of the facts in connection with the desire of Mr. Schwab to retire waited until nearly 6 o'clock and made a valedictory statement.

Schwab a Sick Man.

Instead of making a formal statement Mr. Schwab talked to the reporters in person. Although he was apparently in a cheerful mood, a slight quivering about the mouth and an indefinable lack of physical poise plainly showed that he was suffering from nervousness. His manner was restless and his eyes lacked their usual brilliancy. Mr. Schwab has lost little in weight, but he does not have the air of reserve power which formerly distinguished him. The announcement which he made that he was still the largest stockholder in the corporation caused some surprise.

At the conclusion of the interview he went to the office of Mr. Morgan and had a brief talk with the financier. On the steps of the Wall street office where he again met him, he stopped for a moment to say again that Mr. Morgan would soon issue a statement and then hurried back to the Empire building. He spent the night at his apartments in the Lorraine. His secretary announced that Mr. Schwab would start for Atlantic City tomorrow.

George W. Perkins, chairman of the finance committee, said tonight that the directors of the steel corporation were pleased to have such practical men as Converse, Edenborn and Reid on the advisory committee, as they had had much experience in the practical workings of the steel industry and that they would be of much assistance to Mr. Corey in the executive department of the corporation.

Mme. Barrios Discharged.

NEW YORK, August 4.—(Special.)—Mme. Algeria de Reyna Barrios, widow of a former president of Guatemala, who was arrested last night on complaint of a cabman, was discharged by the magistrate this morning. Policeman O'Brien, who made the arrest, said she was not intoxicated and the prisoner convinced the magistrate that she was ill.

WILLIAM ELLIS COREY.

Chosen Yesterday As the Successor of Charles M. Schwab As the President of the United States Steel Corporation.

SCHWAB, FRICK AND MORGAN ANNOUNCE ILL HEALTH MADE A CHANGE NECESSARY

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 4.—Charles M. Schwab, after his resignation as president of the United States Steel Corporation was announced, said:

I am suffering from nervous trouble and am threatened with a complete breakdown. I am going back to Atlantic City to rest and try to get well. I have nothing particularly new to say. The newspapers, I think, have treated me badly in reference to this matter. Every cause of my retirement that they have announced has been false. For instance, take the United States Shipbuilding matter. There never was any disagreement between me and Mr. Morgan and Mr. Morgan never had anything to say in reference to my retirement, nor any other man in the United States.

When I returned from Europe in January I wanted to retire and tried then to get Mr. Morgan's consent. Again, two months ago, I got Mr. Frick to beg the consent of the board of directors for me to retire. It was through his efforts that I finally gained the consent of the directors. Mr. Morgan will give a statement of the bare, plain facts in the case, which I begged him to do. Do not think that I am getting out of the corporation by any means.

I am still deeply interested in it. I am its largest stockholder. Mr. Corey, who has succeeded me in every position I ever held, succeeds me as president. He is my own choice. He is my best friend. Any report printed to the effect that there is enmity between Mr. Corey and myself is false. I am still on the finance committee and on the board of directors, and, as I said, am interested in the welfare of the corporation.

Henry Clay Frick gave out the following statement in connection with Mr. Schwab's resignation:

Several months ago Mr. Schwab told me that he would very much like to be relieved from the presidency of the Steel Corporation, on account of his continued ill health, and asked me to assist in so arranging. The matter was arranged entirely upon his request. Mr. Corey, who succeeds him, has been educated upon the same lines as Mr. Schwab and has been his associate for 20 years. I am sure his election will give general satisfaction to all concerned.

J. P. Morgan, departing from his usual custom, made a statement as follows after the meeting of the steel board:

I deeply regret that the condition of Mr. Schwab's health renders it impossible for him to continue at the head of the Steel Corporation. His loyalty to the interests entrusted to him cannot be doubted, and from the early days of the inception of the corporation, he gave to its formation, unification and development, his unequalled powers as an expert in the manufacture of steel.

I consider that in Mr. Corey the directors have secured an eminently competent successor to Mr. Schwab, and I am confident that the future will prove this to be the case. In fact, I think that today the steel company in all its branches, is intrinsically in a stronger and better position than it has ever been.

SCHWAB'S RETIREMENT MAKES SEVERAL CHANGES

Officials of the Carnegie Steel Company Will Benefit by Corey's Elevation.

By the promotion of W. E. Corey to the presidency of the United States Steel Corporation, all doubt is removed as to his resignation as president of the Carnegie Steel Company, a position he has held since Charles M. Schwab became the head of the steel corporation. It is expected that the board of directors of the Carnegie Steel Company will, as soon as possible, meet to act upon the resignation of President Corey and the elevation of a successor.

A. C. Dinkey, now general superintendent of the Homestead steel works, is believed to be the man slated to succeed President Corey, and Homer Williams, Mr. Dinkey's assistant at Homestead, to be the new general superintendent. These have been the plans of the Carnegie Steel Company board since the announcement of the appointment of W. E. Corey as assistant to the president of the United States Steel Corporation. At that time Mr. Corey stated that he would not resign the presidency of the Carnegie Steel Company, although he said the duties of his new office would require his residence in New York city. Since that time he has been at the general offices of the United States Steel Corporation in the Empire building.

None of the officials of the Carnegie Steel Company were here yesterday. Ex-Judge J. H. Reed attended the meeting of the executive committee of the United States Steel Corporation in New York.

Mr. Dinkey is very well known in Pittsburgh, both in a social and business way. He was one of Andrew Carnegie's 50 young partners, and is a practical steel man. Like Mr. Schwab and Mr. Corey, he has come up every step through all important positions. He is a brother-in-law of the retiring president of the steel corporation.

While it is not positively known that Homer Williams will succeed Mr. Dinkey it is generally conceded. The only other person mentioned in that connection is Col. A. B. Hunt, superintendent of the Duquesne steel works.

NO BENEFIT AS YET FROM UNION-SHARON PROPERTY

Steel Corporation, However, Expects to Enhance Last Quarter's Earnings.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 4.—Unofficial estimates of the net earnings of the Steel Corporation for the month of July give $12,200,000 as the maximum, which is $750,000 greater than July, 1902, when the net results were $12,041,000. For August the estimate of $12,000,000 is made, which is $72,729 less than August of last year, but this year the corporation expects to utilize August for repairs to a greater extent than was the case last August.

The June excess of net earnings over last year's of $600,000 will more than make up the predicted decrease this month, while September's business ought to be greater than last year, according to the present outlook. In the third quarter last year the corporation made $36,945,489 net, and the returns this quarter ought to be as good or better. Up to this time the Steel Corporation's net earnings have not been benefited by the acquisition of the Union-Sharon properties, because of the extensive repair and improvement work, but henceforth they should materially enhance net results, especially in the last quarter.

The delay in settling the building strikes throughout the country has caused a falling off in structural material and the defeat of the appropriation for the Manhattan bridge postpones indefinitely a contract for not less than 80,000 tons, for which the steel men of Germany and the United States were to compete, and which was to mark the entrance of the German steel trust into the competitive field in this country.

FRANK A. PARKER.

LOCOMOTIVE EXPLODES; TWO FATALLY INJURED

BALTIMORE, Aug. 4.—By the explosion of the boiler of a Northern Central railroad engine, drawing a freight train at Timonium, Md., tonight, John H. Baer, engineer, and W. Chenowith, fireman, of this city, were badly mangled and little hope for their recovery is held out by the physicians at the city hospital.

BIGELOW AND CLARK CONFER

Democrat Was Not Prepared to Open Fusion Negotiations.

TO SEE GUFFEY TODAY

May Not Deal With Bigelow Publicly Unless He Makes Certain Advance Promises.

HE MUST AGREE TO BRENNEN

At the request of Thomas S. Bigelow, County Commissioner James A. Clark yesterday afternoon had a conference with him on the question of fusion. Clark told Bigelow that he could give him no assurance of what his party would do until he had conferred with the leaders.

Clark, who was authorized by the Democratic county convention to name a committee on fusion, arrived in Pittsburgh yesterday morning from the west. Long before he reached the court house, Bigelow had an agent there to extend an invitation to Clark to confer with the head of the Citizens party.

During the morning Clark talked with W. J. Brennen. Later he agreed to meet Bigelow at his home in Highland avenue at 3 o'clock in the afternoon. Mayor W. B. Hays is supposed to have been present during the interview.

Before meeting Bigelow Clark said that he was not prepared to enter into any fusion negotiation with the Citizens. Before he would agree to any definite program he intended to confer with Col. J. M. Guffey and one or two other Democrats. After the meeting with Bigelow Clark said he would not make public what occurred until after he had reported to Col. Guffey this morning.

There is good reason for believing that Bigelow requested Clark to name his fusion committee and agree to a meeting with the Citizens. Some Democrats are predicting that there will not be a formal conference. This belief is based on the possibility of the Democrats deciding to apparently deal direct with the new independent Citizens party that some of the men dissatisfied with the leadership of Bigelow are endeavoring to promote. Plans for this new organization have progressed considerably.

The Democrats will fuse with the party that will give them the district attorneyship. If an absolute promise can be gotten from Bigelow to deliver this nomination to W. J. Brennen a formal conference will be held. If he refuses, then the Democracy will doubtless announce that the cause of reform demands an alliance with the "better element" of the Citizens party. By never having formally conferred with Bigelow, it will be easier to make the alleged reform deal.

The McQuaide-Lauler faction of the Citizens party in the Fourteenth ward, at a meeting last night, adopted this resolution:

Resolved, That the Citizens committee of the Fourteenth ward, recognizing that the fusion tickets of the Independent Republicans and the Democratic party has in three successive campaigns been triumphantly elected; and that good fellowship and good faith between the parties has existed in all these campaigns, we therefore urge upon the county committee of the Citizens party the importance of securing fusion with the Democratic party in the coming campaign.

DEATH FOR THOSE WHO TAKE OR GIVE BRIBES

Remarkable Declaration by a Democratic Convention of Lawrence County, O.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 4.—The Democrats of Lawrence county have gone on record as favoring the death penalty for politicians who give or take bribes. In the resolutions adopted at their regular county convention, they say:

"The vile practice of boodling, so-called at first by stealth, has become an open shame to our citizenship and so permeated the ranks of the voters that a decent man shudders the prospect of being a candidate for office. Recognizing as we do that ours is a self-government, and has for its foundation the intelligence and virtue of the people and, as patriotic citizens, we demand of the legislature the enactment of a law that will punish by death the person who gives or offers a bribe, and that will prevent our voting places from being, on election days, hotbeds of treason and corruption."

SEARCH OF LAKE'S BOTTOM FOR WHISKY

TOLEDO, O., Aug. 4.—(Special.)—An expedition that will probably not receive the indorsement of the W. C. T. U. is being formed in this city. It has the rather unusual object of a search for a cargo of whisky carried by the schooner Favorite, which was lost at the entrance to Maumee bay in 1860. The schooner Favorite cleared from Buffalo with a cargo of 368 barrels of whisky and 132 barrels of rum for Toledo. She foundered and was abandoned by her crew. A craft suited to the work will be fitted out here at once.

Found a Meteorite.

LOCKPORT, N. Y., August 4.—(Special.)—Several persons in Hartland, 12 miles northeast of this place, reported seeing a flaming object fall from the sky last Sunday evening. Today Fred Strong of Wrights Corners came to town with a strange stone which weighed 14 pounds. It is supposed to be a genuine meteorite.

Fairbanks' Daughter to Wed.

INDIANAPOLIS, IND., August 4.—(Special.)—The announcement of the engagement of Miss Adelaide Fairbanks, eldest daughter of United States Senator Fairbanks, to Ensign Trimmins of the United States navy, was made tonight and it is understood that the nuptials will take place in the near future.

QUAY URGES ELECTION OF JOHN WANAMAKER

Senator Desires Republicans to Nominate His Old Enemy for Congress to Succeed Foerderer. Would Represent Whole State.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

Chambersburg, Pa., Aug. 4.—John W. Frazier of Philadelphia contributes to the Franklin Repository, the Republican organ of Franklin county, a letter urging the nomination of John Wanamaker for congress to succeed the late Congressman Foerderer. Mr. Frazier is one of Senator Quay's close political friends and in constant touch with him.

He writes that Senator Quay desires the party organization to nominate a man who would restore the prestige held by the Quaker City during the many years Judge Kelly and the Hon. Samuel Randall were among its representatives. There are three citizens, either of whom Senator Quay would like to see represent Philadelphia, John Wanamaker, Charles Emory Smith and John H. Converse. Mr. Frazier continues:

"By his progressive business methods John Wanamaker has done more to promote the welfare of the people of Philadelphia than any other citizen of that city, and in return the people have readily promoted the prosperity of Mr. Wanamaker, and as Senator Quay, in good faith, without exacting any conditions, would especially like to see Mr. Wanamaker sent to congress from the Foerderer district, it would seem that the sacrifice demanded is one that might be made by Mr. Wanamaker in the interest of the people of his city and state and of the whole country.

"The election of Mr. Wanamaker to congress would give to Philadelphia a greater congressman than New York, Boston, Baltimore, Chicago or any other of the great cities in the house of representatives, and if there was a time when the politicians, the people and the press of Philadelphia ought to unite to follow the desire of Senator Quay, it is in regard to securing the consent of Mr. Wanamaker to represent Philadelphia and Pennsylvania, and incidentally the whole country in the congress of the United States."

LAVA POURING FROM VESUVIUS

Destroyer of Ancient Pompeii Is Once More on Verge of an Eruption.

VILLAGES ARE THREATENED

[Special Cable to The Gazette.]

Paris, Aug. 4.—The latest dispatches from Naples seem to indicate that Mount Vesuvius is on the verge of an eruption and the people who, with all their old-time foolhardiness, have built their houses and cultivated their vineyards almost to the very edge of the crater are in a state bordering on panic.

The city of Naples does not seem to be in imminent danger, except that it may be bombarded with a shower of hot ashes and stones as it was in 1861. But Sorento, with the villa of the famous American author, F. Marion Crawford; Castellamore, Torre del Greco, Resina, Portici and all those other delightful places where beneath in the shadows of the great volcano are threatened with catastrophe.

The volcanic phenomena observed resembles exactly those which preceded those in the years 79, 472, 1737, 1861 and 1872. Several distinct earthquakes have been felt. The volcano at night presents a beautiful though terrifying spectacle. A column of fire rises from the crater, which is visible for many miles around, and loud explosions are heard almost continually. A mass of lava is pouring out of the crater and flows down the sides of the mountain.

The observatory is in the most imminent danger, but Prof. Macci, the chief observer, remains at his post making notes of every sound, and every little circumstance is recorded by his seismic instruments. Accompanied by another scientist, Prof. Paoli a few days ago crept up to the crater and sent out the report that an enormous incandescent mass had formed a new cone and that a stream of lava may break forth in the direction of Pompeii any moment, and even bury the villages at the foot of Vesuvius.

PUZZLED BY TWINS.

School Board Elected Teacher Whose Identity the Members Did Not Know.

NEW CASTLE, PA., Aug. 4.—(Special.)—The school board last night elected a teacher for the schools here whose identity the board did not know. An application was received from Miss Snyder of North Liberty. One of the members, who chanced to know the family, announced that it contained twin daughters, Louise and Blanche. One of the twins, which one he did not know, had been elected to a school in another place.

The Miss Snyder who applied here was then elected, and the secretary was instructed to notify the family that the daughter who was not elected somewhere else had been given a school here. Now the directors are wondering whether Blanche or Louise will respond.

RAIN DIDN'T STOP HER.

Miss Roosevelt Drove Through Newport in a Heavy Downpour Yesterday.

NEWPORT, R. I., Aug. 4.—(Special.)—In a driving rainstorm Miss Alice Roosevelt arrived this afternoon to visit Miss Cutting, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Fulton Cutting. Miss Cutting, who drove to an earlier train to meet her guest, was called home by telephone by her parents, who thought the weather too disagreeable to remain out in.

Miss Roosevelt was enveloped in a rain coat when she alighted from the train, and hurried to the Cutting carriage, which had remained. Tomorrow afternoon Mrs. Cutting will have a luncheon for her and Thursday evening the Cutting villa will be the scene of a dinner party in honor of Miss Roosevelt.

INFANT WAS DEAD WHEN MOTHER SOUGHT RELIEF

NEW HAVEN, CONN., August 4.—(Special.)—Bearing to her arms, a child already dead, Mrs. Martin Kaleer rushed into a drug store today with a prescription. She had just come from the office of a physician, who told her that the child could not live long. "Is this prescription for what baby? If it is there is no need of putting it up for your child is dead," said the pharmacist. The mother burst into tears and became hysterical.

STONE MASONS QUIT COUNCIL

Building Trades Council Got Another Blow When 1,500 Men Pulled Out.

ABOUT 1,500 MEN NOW IDLE

The Building Trades council received another blow yesterday when the Stone Masons' International union, known as the independent stone masons, formally withdrew from the council. Their action was anticipated, although it was thought they would not pull out "under fire." This takes away about 1,500 members from the Building Trades council. With this exception the trouble between the council and the Builders' Exchange league was practically at a standstill yesterday.

The Builders' Exchange last night discussed the strike or lockout, until nearly midnight. The action taken by the Building Trades council last Saturday night, resulting in the passage of a resolution that the council would not agree to the ultimatum of the league, was considered last night. The secretary, E. J. Deitrick, was instructed to send the following communication to the council:

We are at a loss to understand why you have taken this position when you followed it up with a declaration that you stand ready to arbitrate the questions in dispute. The committee of six contractors appointed by the league have full authority to effect a settlement. This committee is ready to open negotiations with you when the members who are now out on sympathy strike, return to work.

When the arbitration board rendered its decision settling the dispute between the stone masons and the bricklayers, it stipulated that the masons affiliate with the bricklayers within 60 days. The masons met last night in Arnfeld's hall, No. 1159 Penn avenue, at which it was announced that the new charter had arrived. As the bricklayers are not affiliated with the Building Trades council the stone masons had to withdraw.

All kinds of figures were given out yesterday as to the number of men affected by the strike or lockout. The council officials say that not over 3,000 are now affected, as several hundred have been put to work for contractors not members of the league, and some have been sent out of the district. A fair estimate places the number of men now idle at 1,500. About 8,000 were locked out by the Builders' Exchange league.

FAILURE CAUSED DEATH

James W. Norcross, Head of Defunct Contracting Firm, Died as Result of Worry.

NEW YORK, Aug. 4.—(Special.)—James W. Norcross, 71 years old, head of the big contracting firm of Norcross Bros. Company of Boston, which failed on July 23, died today as the result of worry over the failure of his firm. The Norcross Bros. Company ranked among the leading building concerns in the country.

The labor strikes in this city tied up large amounts of the company's money in building material and the stringency of the money market, followed by the slump in stocks, was the final blow. The company has outstanding contracts involving $9,000,000, of which $3,000,000 had been spent. The company had an indebtedness of about $900,000.

PENNSYLVANIA TO TEST A FRENCH LOCOMOTIVE

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 4.—(Special.)—The Pennsylvania railroad will make practical tests with a French locomotive of the De Glehn compound type, which is recorded as the most perfect working passenger locomotive used in Europe. At a cost of about $20,000 a sample locomotive is being built. It will be delivered here next March and will be immediately put in service to demonstrate what it can do in comparison with the latest type of American locomotive.

M'KINLEY LIGHTHOUSE AT HONOLULU HARBOR

HONOLULU, Aug. 4.—The proposal to establish a public park in or near the city as a memorial to the late President McKinley will probably be abandoned. Instead of this tribute to the chief executive, during whose administration the people of Hawaii became citizens of the United States, it is now planned to erect a McKinley memorial lighthouse at the entrance of Honolulu harbor.

LITTAUER TELLS OF HIS CONTRACT

Considers Secretary Root's Action a Vindication of His Integrity.

WHY REBATE WAS MADE

Detailed Explanation of the Transaction With Contractor Lyon Who Underestimated Cost of Manufacture of Gauntlets.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, August 4.—Congressman Lucius M. Littauer, against whom Attorney General Knox is expected to proceed for his alleged connection with the army glove contracts tonight made a statement concerning what the government considers is a prima facia case of violation of a statute. He says Secretary Root's decision as to a technical violation removes any suggestion of dishonesty or any improper use of his influence as a congressman in regard to any glove contracts. He said:

"I can ask no more sweeping and complete vindication of my honor and business integrity than the final findings of the secretary. As to the matter which has been referred to the attorney general, I am at a loss to understand how any question, even of a most technical nature, can exist as to the perfect propriety and legality of the contract of December 7, 1898.

Mr. Lyon was a general contractor to the war department, furnishing not only gloves, but caps, cottons, ducks and various other articles. There was awarded to him a contract for 3,000 mustang fur gauntlets which he purchased from us at a price of $1.54 per pair. This price we ascertained during the process of manufacture was too low, as I informed him. Subsequently Mr. Lyon bid and his bid was accepted for 20,000 similar gloves, with a privilege to the government of requiring 50 per cent more, which the government took advantage of.

After the acceptance of the bid he called upon me to furnish him with the goods. In informed him that I would not furnish them at the price that the 3,000 pairs had been furnished, we having sustained a loss on the transaction. During the discussion I reduced this anticipated profit to 10 per cent, making the price $1.78. Mr. Lyon importuned me, however, not to leave him in the lurch, as he had already contracted to furnish the goods to the government at $1.65. He finally bought the goods at $1.65, but I conceded that if it should be demonstrated after the actual manufacture of the goods that they had cost me less than $1.65, his account would be credited with one-half of the difference between the actual cost per pair and $1.65, at which we had sold the goods to him. This difference was ascertained to be $5,837.05, and he was credited with this rebate, which amounted to $1,763.52.

If, as the secretary says, "there is no doubt that a manufacturing firm, one member of which happens to be a member of congress, has a right to manufacture and sell goods to jobbers who are filling government contracts, and that they do not come within the probabilities of the statute so long as the contract between that firm and the jobber is a separate and distinct transaction from the contract between the jobber and the government," I fail to see, and I am sure the community will fail to see, how even a technical or legal violation of any statute or of any code of moral or commercial propriety or any invidious criticism or censure can be founded upon this transaction.

BRITISH SHIPS SUBSIDY AGREEMENT COMPLETED

Annual Payment of $340,000 for Carrying Mails and Loan of $13,000,000.

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

LONDON, Aug. 4.—The agreement between the admiralty, the board of trade, the postmaster general and the Cunard Steamship Company, dated July 30, is issued in a parliamentary paper this evening. Accompanying the agreement is the draft of a trust deed, securing the debenture stock on which the government's advance of $13,000,000 for building the two new steamboats is made.

The new mail carrying agreement substitutes for payments by weight, a fixed annual payment of $340,000 during the life of the contract, which is for 20 years, dating from the first sailing of the second of the two new steamships. It provides that mails shall be carried more speedily than at present.

The company will be bound to utilize the best steamships for the mail service and the agreement stipulates for deductions from the subsidy in the event of the company failing to carry out the terms of the contract.

All the company's steamships between Liverpool, New York, Boston, the Mediterranean ports and Havre, including the new steamships which will have a speed of 24 to 25 knots, will be at the disposal of the admiralty for hire or purchase in the event of war. The vessels must be maintained under the British flag and managed without any undue increase in freight, conference or preference against British subjects. The masters, officers and engineers of all the vessels must always be British subjects and the same condition applies to at least three-fourths of the crew.

For these concessions the government agrees to subsidize the new vessels at $370,000 per year each. The loan of $13,000,000 which will bear interest at 2½ per cent, is to be repaid in 20 annual installments, will rank as the first charge on the whole Cunard fleet and will be secured by the debentures.

It is stated in the lobby tonight that the government agreement with the Morgan Shipping Company is completed. It is understood that the agreement will be tabled in the house of commons at an early date and may be debated simultaneously with the Cunard agreement.

OLD SCHOOL REUNION.

Teachers and Pupils Will Gather at an Old-Fashioned Picnic.

Nearly half a century's history of the Caldwell public school, in Upper St. Clair township, will be recalled at a big reunion of the teachers and pupils of the institution next Wednesday at McNay's grove, near Boyces station, on the Chartiers Valley railway. All the teachers and students who have attended the school since 1857 will join in the jubilee.

A basket picnic has been planned and all the merriment of a harvest home gathering will be enjoyed. All the residents in that end of the county will turn out and a great many people is expected. There will be blackberry pies, such as are famous in that region; fried chicken, country ice cream and other dainties from the farm. A number of prominent speakers have been engaged.

OLD ENOUGH TO KNOW.

Police Refuse to Pursue a Woman Said to Have Eloped.

John Hull of No. 947 Western avenue, Allegheny, last night notified the Allegheny police that his sister, Jessie E. Hull, had gone with J. E. Schlesser of Findlay, O. As the girl is 27 years of age the police refused to take any action.

According to Hull's story, Schlesser, who is a carpenter, is 61 years of age and is married. His wife, it is said, is living at Findlay, O. Miss Hull received a letter yesterday afternoon, presumably from Schlesser, and left her home, going to the Ft. Wayne station. Here Hull says, she met Schlesser and went away with him.

MAN WANTED AT CANTON WILL FIGHT EXTRADITION

SPOKANE, WASH., Aug. 4.—Paul Wetzlet, a mining man recently brought back from British Columbia on charges of fraud, won his second victory in the local courts today. Judge Hinkle dismissed the charge of embezzlement. Wetzlet is still held in custody, being wanted at Canton, O., on the charge of obtaining on false pretenses $4,000 from John E. Carnahan, a manufacturer and mine owner. It is announced that he will fight extradition proceedings.

POWERS LOSES POINT IN COURT

Making Defense at Third Trial for Alleged Murder of William Goebel.

TWO HUNDRED SUMMONED

Sheriff Is Ordered to Secure Large Number from Bourbon County to Qualify for Jury Service—No Instructions on Party Politics.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

GEORGETOWN, KY., Aug. 4.—Among those here to testify for the defense in the third trial of ex-Secretary of State Caleb Powers is "Tallow Dick" Combs, the colored barber, who is also under indictment for alleged complicity in the Goebel murder. He is expected to contradict Henry E. Youtsey, who is serving a life sentence, and has become a witness for the prosecution.

The defense today offered affidavits for a continuance supported by a plea in abatement to go behind the records of the legislature that unseated W. S. Taylor as governor, as it was upon this authority that the court of appeals held the advance pardon of Powers by Taylor to be effective. The plea held that by going back of legislative records the defense could show the pardon to be good.

Commonwealth Attorney Franklin objected to filing this plea and Judge Robbins sustained the objection, stating, however, that the court took judicial notice of the statements therein. Attorney Sims, for the defense, stated that he desired to tender the plea so that the rejection could be noted fully and the court consented. The defense was allowed to supplement its plea with the affidavit of an additional witness.

The court overruled the motion for a continuation and allowed the admission of depositions of absent witnesses. The sheriff was ordered to summon 200 men from Bourbon county, to qualify for jury service. The defense made an effort to have the officers instructed to summon men of both political parties, but Judge Robbins decided that the law gives no such power.

Juvenile Court Paroles Spend Several Days Looting an East End House.

Four boys, whose ages range from 13 to 15, were arrested yesterday, charged with robbing the house of C. A. Verner at No. 314 Lang avenue. The boys are Robert Beasley of No. 519 Culbert street, Andrew Burley of No. 519 Fannel street, Walter Grinage of No. 623 North Rebecca street and Charles Schnell of Stonehill street. The first three boys are negroes and Beasley and Schall are parolee from the juvenile court.

The residence of Mr. Verner has been unoccupied for some time while the family is spending the season at Rehoboth, Pa. Police Captain Boyle made an investigation of the premises Saturday and found the gas turned on in nearly every jet. This, together with the fact that finger marks were found on a window leading from the porch, led the police to believe that the house was being entered.

Policemen Alexander Luzell and David Corbett found Beasley hiding under a lounge in the parlor yesterday. He was dragged out by the heels and confessed that the house had been robbed by him and the other boys on Friday, Saturday, Monday and Tuesday. He also told the police where he had hidden some of the stolen goods, and that the other boys were carrying articles taken from the house.

Some other those boys were arrested later. Grinage had a loaded Smith & Wesson revolver in his pocket, a Masonic pin and a ring with the name of Mr. Verner engraved on the inside. Jewelry and clothing were found at his home. On the other boys a variety of articles, including foreign coins, money, a gold pin, fishing material and several small articles were found.

It is believed that these are the boys who have been committing petty thefts about the East End for the last few months. Beasley and Schall were arrested on July 25 for snatching a pocketbook from Miss Emma Waggoner while she was walking in North Highland avenue. The boys were paroled.

WITNESSES DISAGREE

Testimony of Doctor Who Attended Marcum Contradicts Fifteen Others.

CYNTHIANA, KY., Aug. 4.—In the case of the commonwealth against Curtis Jett and Thomas White, on trial here for the assassination of J. B. Marcum, Dr. J. M. Kash of Jackson testified to attending the dying Marcum as he lay in front of the court house. He testified that a few minutes before the killing of Marcum he saw Curtis Jett in front of Hargis Brothers' store. Immediately across the street from the court house, talking to Asbury Spier and "Lish" Noble. This contradicted the testimony of at least 15 witnesses who testified for the prosecution to seeing Jett go into the side door of the court house immediately before the shooting.

On cross-examination he did not remember seeing any one else at the time of the killing about the court house.

John Smith and John Abner testified at length contradicting Mrs. Mary Johnson and Edward Marcum, who said they had seen Smith and Abner a year before the killing of Marcum in a stone quarry near Marcum's home, armed and with other armed men.

CLEANING-UP PROMISED FOR STEEL BOROUGH

The new police force went to work in the borough of Homestead last evening, the men who were placed in the positions of ripped-out officers reporting for the night shift. The newly inaugurated reform promises much for cleaning up the town. Every man was discharged from the position on Monday evening, but all excepting five were reinstated on promise of active work in cleaning up the town.

Bank Cashier Held for Court.

HARTFORD, CONN., Aug. 4.—Oliver T. Sherwood, the cashier of the Southport National bank, who is charged with embezzling funds of the bank to the amount of $100,000, was arraigned before Judge Platt in the United States district court tonight. He entered a plea of not guilty and was bound over to court under bonds of $25,000. Sherwood was brought here today from New York, having arrived from Panama on the steamer Segurance.

Lutherans Hold Reunion.

BUTLER, PA., Aug. 4.—(Special.)—The eighth annual reunion of the Lutherans of Western Pennsylvania was held at Alameda park today. The attendance was not quite up to last year. A good part of the crowd was made up of the Pittsburgh and Alleghany delegations. Addresses were delivered by Dr. H. E. Jacobs, of Mt. Airy Theological seminary, Philadelphia, and the Rev. Dr. J. M. Reimen-Snyder of Milton, Pa.

Peddler Killed on Railroad.

BEAVER FALLS, PA., Aug. 4.—(Special.)—Frederick Herrick, an itinerant, fell from a freight train on the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie railroad at College station, north of here, at 7 o'clock tonight and the wheels passed over his legs. At Beaver Valley hospital the right leg was amputated, but Herrick is dying. He is 25 years old and a son of Freeman Herrick, of Albany, N. Y.

NEW HEAD OF THE CATHOLIC CHURCH

POPE PIUS X.

CATHOLICS ALL OVER WORLD PLEASED WITH NEW PONTIFF

Will Follow Leo's Policy.

NEW YORK, Aug. 4.—(Special.)—Archbishop Farley said: "I believe the course of Pius X., will be similar to that of the lamented Leo XIII., the chief tenet of whose policy was conciliation."

* * *

Prayers Go Up for Pius.

BOSTON, Aug. 4.—(Special.)—Archbishop John J. Williams: "All good Catholics will unite in rejoicing that a selection has been made and will, of course, love, honor and obey the new head of the church in all religious principles. Our prayers will be offered to the Almighty to guide our new pope in his administration of the affairs of our church."

A Man of Lofty Intellect.

ROME, Aug. 4.—La Patria says: "The majority declare and we believe that he is a man of lofty intellect, vast knowledge and exemplary piety—so much the better. In any case I feel sure he will not introduce any substantial innovation in the relations of the church and state, and will not import any change in the vatican policy." The Tribuna says: "The election cannot be considered to be the result of an agreement between the two opposing factions, though Cardinal Rampolla's followers are probably more pleased than those of Cardinal Vannutelli."

* * *

London Favorably Impressed.

LONDON, Aug. 4.—The London papers publish long and friendly reviews of the new pope's career. They generally think that the election augurs well for better relations between the vatican and the quirinal. Stress is laid on his attitude when the king and queen of Italy visited Venice last May, and Sarto went in state in his gorgeous gondola to render them homage.

Archbishop Ireland's View.

ST. PAUL, MINN., Aug. 4.—Archbishop Ireland said: "So far as known, Cardinal Sarto, now elected pope, is a man of deep learning and recognized prudence of action. He enters into the pontificate free from all entangling alliances, free in every way to carve out for himself his own career. The election of Cardinal Sarto is not a surprise."

Archbishop Ryan Pleased.

PHILADELPHIA, PA., Aug. 4.—Archbishop Ryan is greatly pleased with the election of Cardinal Sarto as the successor of Pope Leo. In speaking of the selection the archbishop said: "I am very much gratified at Cardinal Sarto's election. In my mind he was one of the very strongest of the candidates and the result of the balloting is no surprise to me."

Tribute from Mormons.

SALT LAKE, UTAH, Aug. 4.—"The Roman Catholic church is to be congratulated on the speedy election of a successor to the late Pope Leo," said President Joseph F. Smith of the Mormon church today. "Cardinal Sarto has achieved enviable fame as a model bishop and in his office as patriarch of Venice for years is reputed to have given evidence of wisdom, piety and good judgment."

ACCUSED OF CRUSHING AGED FATHER'S SKULL

Found Murdered in His Bed. Daughter in Same Room Knew Nothing.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

BARNESVILLE, O., Aug. 4.—Dwight Jackson, a negro of about 60 years of age, was found dead in bed this morning with his skull crushed to a pulp. A blood-stained sledge was found lying across the foot of the bed. The murdered man was discovered by his daughter Bertha although she says she knew nothing of the affair nor heard any disturbance during the night, notwithstanding that she slept in the same room.

Suspicion points to Fred Jackson, son of the murdered man, who has been working on the pike, using such a sledge as found on the bed. Jackson's sledge was not in its usual place this morning. Jackson was seen about 8 o'clock this morning by his brother.

Jackson was arrested this morning about 9 o'clock and subjected to a rigid examination by the sheriff. He denies all knowledge of the crime. The dead man has a wife, but he had not been living with her.

OFFER GLADLY TAKEN

Buyers of Contraband Goods Pay Duty to Avoid Prosecution.

SAVANNAH, GA., Aug. 4.—(Special.)—There is something of comedy in the latest developments of the so-called Brinson cigar smuggling case. A few days ago it was given out that Brinson had furnished Assistant United States District Attorney Leaken with a list of 42 persons connected with the smuggling scheme, and 115 persons to whom the contraband cigars had been sold. Leaken announced that merchants would be given three days in which to effect a settlement by paying the duty.

Yesterday a leading cotton and naval stores factor walked into the district attorney's office and said: "Well, I suppose I had better pay." "Yes," said Leaken quietly. "Here is what I owe you," continued the gentleman, handing out his check for $400. Mr. Leaken gave him a receipt. One merchant has paid $12,000.

PITTSBURGHER ATTENDS POSTAL CONVENTION

BOSTON, Aug. 4.—(Special.)—G. F. Wallace of Pittsburgh is among the officials registered today for attendance at the postmasters' convention opening this afternoon at Hotel Brunswick. One hundred and fifty postmasters are here, the delegates being from first and second class offices only.

Port Vue Strike Over.

Superintendent J. Leuck of the Port Vue tin plate mills, said last night that the strike is now a thing of the past and the only reason the old men are not all taken back is because the management desires to treat the new men, who on their work satisfactorily, right. Superintendent Lauck said that 10 mills would be running last midnight.

WOMAN CHARGED WITH RAISING MONEY ORDERS

Is Said to Have Conducted Successful Swindling Game With the Postoffice.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 4.—Mrs. Annie E. Sharpley of No. 1007 North Twentieth street, was arrested in the Memorial postoffice today charged with systematically "raising" postal money orders. Numerous complaints have been made of the woman's operations during the past few months. Her method being, it is said, to purchase small money orders, usually for 25 cents, erase the figures with acid, raise them to sums ranging from $15 to $100, and induce hotel keepers or tradesmen to cash them.

When arrested half a dozen such "raised" orders were found on her. She was arraigned before United States Commissioner Shields, and will be sent tomorrow to Philadelphia, where a warrant for her arrest has been issued.

Postoffice inspectors Jacobs and Meyer, who arrested the woman, say she is the cleverest "raiser" of orders that the department has ever had to deal with. She is 45 years old, and until recently conducted an express business in Philadelphia.

THREATENED BY MOB

Captured Negro in Danger of Lynching for Murder Saved by Train Moving.

KENTON, O., Aug. 4.—William Nichols, colored, accused of the murder of Alpha Minard, near McGuffey, and for whom search has been going on for two weeks, is locked up in the jail here. He was arrested at Carmel by Sheriff Griffith of Hardin county. When the train which was bringing the prisoner to this city reached Bell's Center a crowd of about 200 residents of the vicinity where Minard had lived, were gathered at the depot.

Nichols was observed in the car and immediately cries of "Shoot him," "Hang him," were set up by the crowd. Fearing mob violence the train quickly pulled out. Another crowd awaited the train on its arrival here and many angry threats were made, but the sheriff got his prisoner to the jail without trouble.

Nichols denies his guilt, but during the few hours he has been locked up he has made many conflicting statements.

SUIT ENTERED AGAINST ASPHALT STOCKHOLDERS

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 4.—Receiver Henry Tatnall of the Asphalt Company of America filed a bill in equity in the United States court today against George W. Eldins, William L. Elkins, George D. Widener, S. Burgess Wagner, William J. Latta and Sydney F. Ford, all of this city, who are connected with the Asphalt company. The bill takes the form of 123 questions and asks for a complete accounting of all transactions entered into by the defendants as so-called promoters of the Asphalt company.

SARTO RULES AT THE VATICAN

the cardinals all left the vatican and returned to their respective apartments in Rome, with a feeling of particular pleasure after their confinement in the small rooms of the conclave. In his cell, which was very small and dark, the pontiff received the picket of guards on duty, the imposing figure of the new pope seeming to embellish the modest surroundings. His pontifical robes from a merely handsome man changed him to a truly stately embodiment of the Catholic idea, the gorgeous robes adding dignity to his person. Pope Pius' benevolent manner is gaining him friends from moment to moment.

Pius X. has given orders that he will receive the papal court in great state tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock. He has confirmed in the post of master of the chamber Monsignor Bisleti, who was so trusted by Pope Leo in that position, and has also reappointed Dr. Lapponi, the papal doctor.

Pope Blessed Dying Cardinal.

Pius X., accompanied by Cardinals Satolli and Sanminiatelli and Mgr. Rigdi, master of the ceremonies, this afternoon went to the cell of the sick Cardinal Herrera, saying he wished the first act of his pontificate to be a compliment to a brother laid so low. Cardinal Herrera seemed transfigured by such thoughtfulness and exclaimed: "Let me kiss your hand. Now I shall die happy." The pope remained some time in the cell, encouraged the sick man and said he would pray for his recovery. He then gave him the apostolic blessing.

The usual large crowd assembled before St. Peter's at about 10:30 a. m. to await the rising of the smoke from the Sistine chapel. When the quarter after 11 o'clock struck the crowd left its shelter and stood bravely in the sun in the belief that the smoke would appear within a few minutes, as it had consistently given its signal at about this hour since the conclave commenced.

Minutes sped on, and still no smoke was seen. When the bells sounded half past 11 the ministers and others left their carriages and joined the watchers on the steps of the basilica. Inside St. Peter's many also were waiting and the suspense brought thousands running from the nearby streets, the delay on the fourth morning of the conclave being interpreted to mean that a decision had at length been reached. St. Peter's boomed out three-quarters of the hour, and there was still no sign of an announcement. A second later the great center window of St. Peter's facing the piazza swung slowly open. A loud shout arose and all rushed madly toward the cathedral. At the open window half a dozen vatican attendants appeared. Cardinal Macchi, carrying a large red book and preceded by a glittering cross, appeared at the window. A wild shout went up. Cardinal Macchi waved both hands for silence. In a second a solemn hush fell on the scene.

Crowds Went Wild.

In clear tones Cardinal Macchi read the preamble, the people below meanwhile being scarcely able to contain themselves until he reached the word "Sarto," when a tempest of cheers went up. Those out of hearing of the cardinal's voice joined in the acclamation and the whole square became one mass of men and women, throwing hats in the air, shouting and cheering at the top of their voices.

Vainly the cardinal waved his hand for silence. The long pent-up feelings of those who had watched for four days now found an outlet and for some minutes they could not be suppressed. Finally it was quiet enough for Cardinal Macchi to proceed and say that the new pontiff had taken the name of Pius X. Then with a blessing upon the crowd the cardinal disappeared from the window and the attendants quickly drew up the banner.

Rush into St. Peter's.

Those below instantaneously made a rush to go into St. Peter's and a mad scramble ensued for the basilica. Thousands dashed toward the four huge doors, and in spite of their width a desperate jam occurred, in which the women narrowly escaped injury. Like a roaring wave the people swept into St. Peter's.

"Pope Pius" and "Sarto" were the cries which could be faintly heard above the din that was raging from end to end of the historic cathedral. The attendants at the gallery window, who had hung out the same banner as was previously displayed from the window in front, now hastily drew it up. With every sign of excitement they motioned to the crowd to go back to the steps of St. Peter's.

Those who a few moments ago were fighting their way into the cathedral now struggled with redoubled energy to get out. The new pope was going to bless the world from the outside of the basilica, which had not been done since the days when the vatican ruled Rome.

Then came a sudden revulsion. As quickly as the banner had been let down it was drawn up. The plans had been again changed. The last rush that immediately followed for the doors of St. Peter's was almost indescribable.

At the gallery window stood Cardinal Mathieu, Mgr. Merry del Val and several other cardinals. The centerpiece was vacant. Amongst the seething mass below, which never ceased waving hats, two members of the American pilgrimage, Father Lynch of Niagara university and Father McGowan of New York, held aloft American flags.

Pope Appeared at Window.

In a few moments terrific cheers burst from every throat. There, with the sun streaming in from the window behind, was the new pope. His rich red papal robes shone resplendent amidst the more somber colors of those who stood beside him. For a few moments the tall form remained perfectly still. The pontiff was gazing at the crowd beneath. The deafening roar of cheers showed no signs of diminishing. Mgr. Merry del Val and others waved for peace, but none came.

Then Pius X. raised his hand. In the twinkling of an eye the crowd, mad with excitement but a moment before, became dumb and a death-like silence prevailed throughout the basilica. It was broken only by the clear, strong voice of the new pope.

"Ajuterium nostrum in nomine domini," he chanted like the keys of a magnificent organ struck by a master hand. The response swelled up from the crowd below. There was another silence and another response. Then came the benediction. All crossed themselves and with magical rapidity the scene ceased to be one of deep devotion. Loud cheers burst from the people as the pope started to go back to the vatican by way of the terrace.

Confusion in Vatican.

The election of Pius X. was proclaimed in a loud voice by the cardinal scrutineer to the sacred college, Mgr. Merry Del Val, secretary of the conclave, and Prince Chigi, marshal of the conclave, were notified through a bell by Cardinal Oreglia. It is impossible to describe the confusion in the chapel. The friends and supporters of the new pope gathered around him, complimenting and congratulating him, crying "Viva," and even clapping their hands without ceremony.

Among the conclavists and prelates the expression of opinion was much freer and two so lost control of their tempers that they had to be separated by the scandalized onlookers. There was great irritation one on side and a correspondingly great exultation on the other.

"Sarto!" "Sarto!" ran from mouth to mouth, penetrating to the furthermost corner of the vatican precincts. All scurried toward the Sistine chapel to see the new pontiff emerge and pay their homage to the new sun and have the honor to be among the first to kiss his hand. After the election, even when the excitement began to die down, none seemed quite to know what to do. It being to all, except Cardinal Oreglia, a new ceremonial. Even he had only seen it 24 years ago.

Sarto Proclaimed Pope.

Cardinal Oreglia, with Cardinals Natte and Macchi, approached the new pontiff saying in Latin, distinctly, but in a shaking voice: "Do you accept your election, according to the canonical law as supreme pontiff?" Pius X. answered simply "Yes." The cardinals, thereupon, removed their biladachins so that that of Sarto was the only one remaining, thus marking him as their supreme head.

While Prince Chigi, the marshal of the conclave, was drawing up the official act of the election and acceptance of the newly elected pope, the latter disappeared into a small room near the altar, where he donned the white robes of his office.

The new pope was attired all in white with the exception of red shoes, which was quite regular, but he did not stop to remove the red cardinal's stockings for the white papal ones, and these showed as he raised his gown to move forward. When he was quite robed, the secretary of the conclave, Mgr. Merry Del Val, kneeling, offered him the papal white cap.

He did not follow the precedent created by Pope Leo, who declined to give his red cap to the master of ceremonies, as a sign that he would soon be created a cardinal, but, with a slight smile, Sarto took the white cap, placed it calmly on his head, and dropped the red one lightly on the head of Mgr. Merry Del Val.

As the new pontiff stepped from behind the altar the only touch of color about him being his red and gold shoes, he really seemed the embodiment of his holy office. His face was pale and clearly softened by emotion. He paused a moment, as he came before the expectant cardinals, then seated himself on the throne, with a hurried movement, as though he had suddenly grown weak. His back was to the altar, and he was enthroned to receive the so-called "first obedience" of the cardinals.

They came forward, one by one, some calm and smiling, others sober and noncommittal, while still others showed considerable difficulty even at this hour, in concealing their too obvious disappointment.

All kissed his hand and foot, while he saluted each on the cheek with the kiss of peace. Then all broke into the Te Deum with such effect that scarcely an eye was dry. Pius X. then rose and in a voice at first tremulous, but gradually becoming full and firm, administered the papal blessing to all of the members of the sacred college. It was received with bowed and uncovered heads.

The fisherman's ring, not yet having been found, a new one, designed by Cammuccini of Naples, was placed on the pontiff's finger as a symbol of renewed power, and evidence that the Catholic church has once more a sovereign head.

In the meanwhile masons and carpenters had been busy breaking down doors, so that the Cardinal Camerlengo together with the master of ceremonies and the conclavists and many others, might proceed to the balcony of St. Peter's.

As Cardinal Macchi returned to the Sistine chapel the new pope, tired and an effort to make some kind of procession was made, but Pius X. was literally carried in triumph to his cell, followed by a great concourse and preceded by the papal cross. He was stopped every step or two by those anxious to kiss his ring and receive the papal blessing, which Sarto accorded with great benignity and patience.

After a short rest Pius X. joined his court in the ducal hall for the solemn reception which he was about to give to the people of Rome.

A procession was formed. In the center was the pontiff in his white robes. He was surrounded by the cardinals still in their violet robes and preceded by the pontifical cross. The procession traversed many noble halls until it approached the window looking into St. Peter's. From below a murmur of voices although subdued by distance, denoted the presence of a large concourse of people. The murmur grew louder and louder, turning to Cardinal Bacilieri, who stood beside him, he said:

"Now I understand the emotion Pope Leo always showed when going into St. Peter's. To have no sign of a great crowd foreboded ill. It is almost terrifying."

RIGHT MAN FOR POPE.

F. Marion Crawford Says Pius Tenth Is Beloved by All the Catholics.

ROME, Aug. 4.—(Special Cable.)—The new pope is beloved by all Catholics, esteemed by the Italian government and respected by everybody. He is a man of supreme practical sense. He is altogether a splendid choice. He was an ideal bishop and a favorite with the late king. The best proof of any one's goodness is to stand well with one's own people. Sarto lives in the hearts of the Venetians. He is of the right age for a pope, 68.

His solution of the difficulty with the Italian government, when taking possession of his see, shows how well considered he was by all. The government claimed the patronage and presentation to the diocese as the right of the king. The question was shelved in consideration of Sarto's merit. He made the liberals of Venice not only good Catholics, but brought them to love him. The Catholic church has nothing to fear in the hands of the white-robed head of the church.

LEO PREDICTED THE SUCCESSION OF SARTO

He Announced Last April Election of Venetian Patriarch. Received Fifty Votes.

[Special Cable to The Gazette.]

ROME, Aug. 4.—"Pope Leo's prophecy to me has been fulfilled. It is Sarto." This cry rang out over the heads of the throng before St. Peter's today. It came from a lonely monk, in gown and cowl, standing apart from the pushing, struggling crowds.

This monk was Father Lorenzo Perosi of Venice, composer of masses and oratories, to whom Pope Leo no later than last April had prophesied that Sarto was to succeed to the papal throne. The incident was told to the world at the time in cable dispatches.

The secrets of the conclave are closely guarded, but it is known Sarto received one vote on the first scrutiny, while Rampolla had a third of all the votes. The second scrutiny added another vote to Sarto. When Monday morning Rampolla announced his retirement, begging his supporters to vote for another, Sarto received half the total votes, Serafino Vannutelli coming next. Finding his election impossible, Vannutelli followed Rampolla's example and withdrew. In the second ballot it was known that Vincenzo Vannutelli will be made secretary of state.

Sarto was elected by 50 votes. Then the election was made unanimous. It is popularly believed the election of Pius X. means the retirement of Rampolla, but the new pontiff is a man of such gentleness and conciliatory disposition it is likely changes in the vatican will be slow. It is probable that Rampolla will be given another important post.

The superstitious tonight are commenting on the curious sequence of the number nine in the pope's career. He was nine years a parish priest at Salzano, nine years canon of Treviso, nine years bishop of Mantua and nine years patriarch of Venice.

SURPRISE IN WASHINGTON.

News of Sarto's Election Unexpected to Papal Delegation.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4.—(Special.)—The news of the election of Cardinal Sarto, patriarch of Venice, as Pope Pius X. was known only unofficially at the papal delegation here up to a late hour tonight. At the papal delegation the officials state that there will await an official cable dispatch before taking any steps.

The first step will be to send a letter to each of the 99 bishops apprising him of the election of a new pope. The letters have been prepared and will be sent out probably tomorrow morning. Officials at the papal delegation were apparently as much surprised as the rest of the world by the election of Cardinal Sarto. All of the officials had heard of his learning and his piety, but of course Rampolla was among the immediate probabilities. The most interesting feature of Cardinal Sarto's elevation is that he is persona grata to the Italian government.

BOTH EFFORTS FAILED.

George Metz on Failing to Get Position as Detective Turned to Other Things.

It is probable that if the local detective bureau had consented to allow George Mertz, who, with R. G. Herron, was arrested in Fifth avenue late Monday night, to demonstrate his abilities as a thief catcher he would have been hunting lawbreakers at the very time he was being hunted himself. Luck seems to have been against Mertz all day, for when he failed to have himself appointed a guardian of the peace he turned his talents to the other extreme, and now, with his confederate, he is in jail, charged with having broken the laws.

After Mertz and Herron were given a hearing before Magistrate Thoms H. Stewart at Central police station yesterday morning on charges of assault and battery and larceny, made by Estella Rose Eberhardt, the woman the men are alleged to have beaten, chloroformed, bound and gagged and robbed in her home at No. 1021 Clark street, they were committed to jail for trial. Investigation of the records of Mertz and Herron soon appear to be of the kind which Mertz had presented to Detective Superintendent McQuaide, in which County Recorder O'Neil requested that McQuaide give Mertz a place in the local detective bureau.

The superintendent is reported to have promptly turned down the request and told Mertz that the fact that he resided in McKeesport was not the only reason he could not secure a place in the bureau.

PREPARING FOR LABOR DAY.

Building Trades Council May Not Take Part in the Demonstration.

The executive committee of the Labor day celebration held a special meeting last evening. The principal matter to be considered was the route for the parade. It was decided that William J. Kelley, secretary, and E. A. Magian, chief marshal, shall confer with the Pittsburgh Railways Company regarding the route. There was considerable discussion regarding the Building Trades council taking part in the parade. The carpenters, bricklayers and structural iron workers are refusing to come out on a sympathetic strike with the other trades and for that reason the council will retaliate by not taking part in the Labor day demonstration.

ORDERED TO PRODUCE TELEGRAMS IN COURT

JEFFERSON CITY, MO., Aug. 4.—The Cole county grand jury, which is investigating charges of bribing in the legislature wants to secure the telegrams that have passed between Daniel J. Kelley, former legislative agent of the Baking Powder Company and former Lieut. Gov. Lee. Representatives of the telegraph companies refused today to furnish these telegrams to the grand jury. Judge Hazel says Supt. G. E. Paine of the Postal Telegraph Company, and Supt. George J. Frankel of the Western Union Company until Thursday to produce the telegrams or show cause.

PROBABLE WIFE MURDER

Woman Expected to Die from Injuries Inflicted by Her Husband.

MARION, O., Aug. 4.—Samuel L. Clark, about 35 years of age, residing at Gurley, is confined in the county jail on a charge of assault with intent to kill. The assault was committed upon his wife at their home about 10 o'clock Monday night, and the attending physician pronounces the woman's injuries fatal.

The attention of the neighbors was drawn to the Clark home by screams of Mrs. Clark. They found her husband beating her in a frightful manner. He had torn nearly all her clothes off, and had struck and kicked her until she was but a mass of cuts and bruises. The neighbors interfered, but he fought them, and used a couple of men very badly in their effort to save the woman.

Clark does not deny that he beat his wife, but alleges that it was done while he was asleep, and that he knows nothing of it. He further states that he knew nothing of the assault until he was awakened and found himself in the county jail.

GETTING READY FOR FALL FIGHT

Allegheny Republicans Secure Permanent Headquarters and Will Commence Plans.

FRANCIS J. TORRANCE HOME

Dr. S. S. Woodburn Says Politicians' Wishes Will Not Be Considered in the Choice of Republican Candidates. Several Willing to Be Sheriff.

The first movement in the fall campaign in Allegheny was made yesterday, when the Republican organization officers started a lease for a building that is to be the permanent headquarters of the Republican party for the next three years. The house at No. 808 East Diamond street, formerly occupied by the Alexander Hamilton club, has been secured and the lease was signed by Francis J. Torrance, chairman of the Allegheny city Republican committee, and E. L. Braun, secretary.

Next week the building will be thrown open. Secretary E. L. Braun of the Republican executive committee will be in charge. A Republican jollification is being planned to formally open the campaign in the North Side.

Fight Will Begin.

With the closing of the deal for headquarters the political conditions on the North Side will be stimulated, and the fight for the election of county candidates will commence in earnest. During the last week in August a meeting of the executive committee of fifteen of the Republican party will be called, and the question of county candidates considered. It is conceded that the candidate for sheriff will will be an Allegheny man, and this office will engage the attention and efforts of the Allegheny Republicans more than any other. Although the choice of candidates is in the hands of the county committee, the man picked by the North Side executive committee will almost undoubtedly be the slated candidate to enter the Republican primaries in Allegheny county.

Torrance Has Returned.

Chairman Francis J. Torrance returned to the city yesterday after an absence of two weeks, and will attend all the quiet meetings that the Republican organization has planned for the next few weeks prior to the opening of the fall campaign.

Under the new party rules the coming fight will be conducted along lines entirely different from those in vogue for years past on the North Side. The organization is to be kept free of payrollers, and no one in the employ of the city government will have any voice in the conventions of the party. This will abolish a custom that has lived from time immemorial in Allegheny and has caused no end of unfavorable criticism by the public.

This innovation is provided for in rule 2, section 1, of the new rules adopted by the executive committee in June. This section reads:

"No person holding any office, or employment of honor, trust or profit under the county or municipal governments, except such persons as have been elected by direct vote of the people, shall be eligible to membership in this (ward executive) committee."

Dr. S. S. Woodburn, one of the Republican leaders of the North Side, said last night that the candidate for sheriff chosen by the Republican party of Allegheny would not be named until all possible candidates were earnestly considered and criticised.

Will Be a Strong Man.

"It is our intention," said Dr. Woodburn, "to place in the field the most available man, one whose every weapon and strong point has been thoroughly discussed, and who can go before the public without fear of anything. Our meetings are to be characterized by outspoken frankness in all things. This has been decided upon by every member of the executive committee, and no mistake is going to be made in naming a man for whom every good Republican in the county can vote for without any qualms of conscience.

"There has been for years a custom on this side of the river to name the men for office who are most favorable to the wishes of politicians. Our determination is to consider the people, not the politicians, and in this manner we are going to build up an organization in Allegheny that the public will not be ashamed of."

The recent talk of harmony in the county gave birth to aspirations in the minds of any number of politicians on the North Side who were in a receptive mood in regard to county nominations. Since the plans have failed and there is to be a fight in the county, the number of candidates for sheriff has been lessened.

Man That Are Mentioned.

Those who are talked of now as available are E. L. Braun, William J. Burke and Richard M. Kopp. Of these Braun seems to be the favorite. He was considered the nomination for the office at the last county fight, when he was with Bigelow, but refused it on condition that his business partner, the late James M. Fahnestock, be given it. Bigelow consented to this and Fahnestock won. Braun broke away from the Citizens party when Wyman gained control of the Allegheny wing of it last August. His political following is strong.

Kopp was a candidate for clerk of courts on the Republican ticket in the same fight and was defeated. This fact is not in his favor.

Burke was for years one of the most prominent Democrats in the county, and during the last county fight was secretary of the Ballot Reform party.

FELL INTO THE FOUNTAIN.

Man Who Wanted a Drink, Has Narrow Escape, but Is Happy Through It All.

The Allegheny police had to deal yesterday afternoon with one of the most amusing cases that has been recorded on the docket for months. John Walker of Beaver avenue caused all the laughter and brought a crowd of almost 100 people to Central station by his antics.

Walker consumed too much liquor yesterday and by 4 o'clock in the afternoon was carrying nothing but a jag and a large thirst. Not being successful in finding a friend to buy him a drink, Walker strolled into the park in the Allegheny diamond and seeing the water flowing from the fountain decided that water was the last resort. He mounted the stone wall surrounding the pool and, getting on his knees, tried to drink like a bird. The result was that he fell headlong into two feet of water, and not feeling bottom beneath him, began calling lustily for help. Some passersby pulled Walker out of the pool and he started at once for Central station.

Sergt. James Sherry and Turnkey Stewart Harrison were back in the cell rooms when Walker went in. Hamilton, on going back to his desk found Walker wringing the water from his coat. One of his shoes lay on the floor.

"What is the matter with you?" demanded Hamilton.

"Oh, some poor fellow fell into the lake over in the park there and got drowned, and I found his coat and one of his shoes," said Walker.

Walker was taken back and locked up while the crowd outside peered through the windows to see what would become of him.

Allegheny Plant Moved.

MONONGAHELA CITY, PA., Aug. 4.—(Special.)—The Liggett Spring and Axle Company will have the distinction of operating the largest axle works in the world as soon as all its machinery has been transferred from the old plant in Allentown to the new one at Axleton, across the river from Monongahela City.

Now That Heavy Hauling Job Is Done the Geyer Avenue Viaduct Can Be Finished

Thomas Maxwell & Co., a Lawrenceville firm, which does some of the heaviest hauling done in Pittsburgh, yesterday completed in Allegheny a job that has called for the expenditure of much horse power—the transferring from the Pennsylvania freight yards to the point where it is to be erected, of the structural work for the Geyer avenue viaduct. The heaviest part of the job was saved for the last. The illustration presented herewith shows a long line of horses just after they had left the freight yards, straightened out on Fremont street, ready to haul out the Brighton road a beam 74½ feet long and 7½ feet wide, and weighing 600 pounds over 19 tons. The horses, despite their perfect condition and strength, were well blown by the time they got the beam up the grades to the point where the derricks will swing it into position.

MILLIONS SPENT IN NEW MEXICO

Pittsburgh Capital Interested in a Gigantic White Pine Lumber Contract.

Through the shrewdness of Chicago and Michigan promoters, a monopoly of the white pine market has been secured and a Pittsburgher has been made the chief financial advisor of a corporation that already controls 300,000 acres of white pine lands in New Mexico. The capitalization has been placed at $8,000,000, all of which has been subscribed, and the first of a yearly output of 30,000,000 feet, will be placed on the market within 60 days.

W. G. Hamilton, a son of William Hamilton, superintendent of Allegheny parks, represents the strongest financial interests of the company, and he is now here for the purpose of consulting with a number of Pittsburghers, who are heavy backers in the gigantic undertaking. The 300,000 acres of land is densely wooded and is underlaid with a deposit of coal. The timber, it is estimated, will last 30 years.

The land was originally a grant from the government to the Santa Fe railroad, and was bought about 10 years ago by the Mitchell Bros., of Cadillac, Mich., for $1,000,000. At that time the supply of white pine was fast decreasing, although the Michigan lumber men were unable to develop the new tract, and last year, chiefly owing to the services of Mr. Hamilton and D. W. C. Merriam, a Chicago attorney, the American Lumber Company was formed. This corporation proposes placing every foot of the lumber on the market, and considering the fact that prices for white pine have advanced 50 per cent within the past year, it is safe to say that a ready market will be found.

"I think," said Mr. Hamilton, "that is the greatest part of the United States. It is fast developing into a wonderful industrial territory. The main plant of the American Lumber Company will be at Albuquerque, on the Santa Fe, just 125 miles from the timber lands, which are in McKinley and Valencia counties on the Vani mountains. The plant has been practically completed at a cost of $500,000.

"The advantages of New Mexico as a lumber country is that the weather will permit of operations every day of the year, and the dry kiln process is not needed. Our stuff will be marketed in the southwest and Chicago.

"The opening of the new Santa Fe Central railroad, in which Senator Quay and Francis J. Torrance are interested, will give us a direct line to the southwest."

Mr. Hamilton would not say who are the Pittsburgh men interested. He will be in the city for about a week, when he expects to return to New Mexico. Mr. Hamilton has been in that territory for 17 years, having been engaged during that time in the land and irrigation business. He has made a great success of the latter.

In regard to the question of statehood he said: "The men at the head of the plan to make a state of New Mexico are politicians like Senator Quay. The business people of the territory are interested neither one way nor the other. They like to see anything done for the territory, and, I suppose, if it is made a state, there will be little said. If the matter were put to a popular vote, however, I am sure it would not pass."

PLANT CLOSED DOWN.

Because the Men Were Organizing, the Company Declared Lockout.

The Amalgamated association has met another defeat in organizing workmen. For the past few days Vice President James Muchen was at work at Bristol, Pa., forming a local. He succeeded in getting nearly all the men interested and the local was instituted.

Yesterday the officials of the company learned of the men organizing and they immediately gave orders to close down the plant. This is the first instance a company has declared a lockout because the men were organizing. There are about 500 men involved.

ASSESSORS AT WORK IN HIDING

Are Making Up Triennial Assessments in Little Room Under City Hall Clock.

Away up in the top story of the city building, just underneath the town clock and in a little room that is reached by a narrow stairway after leaving the elevator at the first floor, the board of assessors has retreated to make up the triennial assessment. The place where the assessors are domiciled was used as a fire-alarm office before the new public safety building in Sixth avenue was built. Since then it has been used mainly for storage purposes.

The assessors have gone to this remote corner of the city building to be out of reach of persons who go into their office on the first floor and disturb their deliberations. The assessors fitted up the room with tables and shed their papers up there two days ago and have endeavored to keep their hiding place a secret. Four or five persons yesterday managed to locate the assessors and surprised them by walking in upon them while they were hard at work. Today the room will probably be locked to shut out unwelcome visitors.

The assessors have a double purpose in wishing to be alone. They do not want to be bothered with visitors and they also want to get through with the triennial assessment as quickly as possible, so that they may take their summer vacations. The entire city has been canvassed, with the exception of the downtown district, and the assessors started in the lower section of the city last week. They began in the First ward and are not out of that ward yet.

The radical increase in the values of property in the last three years makes the present assessment a big task, far more irksome and important than any previous triennial assessment. There has been a general advance in values of from 50 to 100 per cent downtown, and the assessors fear it exceedingly difficult to arrive at a scale that will not work hardship to the property owners and at the same time afford the city a fair return. The assessors started out with the understanding that the total valuations of the city would be increased $100,000,000, but there is a conservative element on the board that is opposed to such an extraordinary increase.

The assessors hope to complete the downtown assessments within a month, and after they have taken their vacations they will spend the balance of the year revising the assessments generally and acting upon appeals.

DISEASE RAGES; OFFICIALS AWAY

Twenty-Five New Cases of Typhoid Fever Reported in One Day.

Twenty-five new cases of typhoid fever were reported to the Pittsburgh bureau of health yesterday.

While city officials and councilmen, some indifferent to the needs of their constituents, lie away to summer resorts in search of recreation and pleasure, typhoid increases in virulence and in the numbers of its victims. The 25 new cases reported yesterday are scattered throughout the city, showing that the present epidemic is general and results from the unwholesome conditions of the city's water supply and is not due to local causes.

While typhoid is reaping its victims and adding new ones to the list daily, there is no effort on the part of those in responsibility to make any move in the direction of improvement. The special council committee, appointed to take the matter up speedily, is resting quietly on its oars, waiting patiently for the return of Director E. M. Bigelow, who seems to hold the key to the situation.

Common Councilman J. P. Sterratt, of the Fourteenth ward, declares he will not call a meeting of the committee until Director Bigelow returns, not even to organize or to map out a course of action for the committee to pursue. According to Councilman Sterratt, only the good pleasure of Director Bigelow will be consulted. One of the bureau superintendents in Director Bigelow's department stated yesterday that he expected his chief back by the middle of the month but he did not give his reasons for so thinking.

F. C. Sauer, whose office is in the Hamilton building, made a study of filtration while in Europe recently, and as a result he is an ardent advocate of sand filtration, which, he states, is recognized in Germany as the only natural and effective method of obtaining a pure water supply. Germany is regarded as one of the most healthful countries in the world and this condition is due mainly to its stringent health laws. The laws requires that the water supply for all cities and towns, no matter how small, shall be drawn through sand. He said that contagion has been reduced to the minimum by the enforcement of filtration and the law forbidding sewage to be emptied into streams. Mr. Sauer states that mechanical filtration is given no consideration abroad.

Women's and Children's Shoes for Greatly Reduced Prices.

For the strongly reduced prices which we quote today for women's high grade shoes—both Oxfords and Boots—it would be sort of an absurdity to hint to women that these are the greatest shoe bargains that have appeared for a long while. And the best of it is that in buying Oxfords now there are several months ahead in which to wear them. This is a genuine clean-up sale of high grade shoes for about what is charged around town for ordinary grades.

Wednesday, August 5, 1903.

Wall street had another period of funk yesterday, that it tried in some way to connect with the resignation of Charles M. Schwab. The unreason of any scare on that account is so graphically made plain by the brief statement of Henry C. Frick that any one influenced by it must feel ashamed of himself. The fact of the matter is that Wall street has been hurt and is now afraid of its own shadow. It has no reasons for its flights. But a period of good buying for investment by those who know when stocks are cheap will restore tone to the market and the bulls may then muster up courage to emulate that one that put the red automobile out of business. Just at present the red auto is master in the "street."

Director Bigelow was a member of the filtration commission and signed its unanimous report in favor of sand filtration. That commission thoroughly investigated mechanical filtration and every other possible means of purifying the water supply, and decided that sand filtration was best and most economical. When he returned to office under Maj. A. M. Brown's administration, he diligently applied himself to the work of carrying forward the plans of the commission, and his record justifies his public statement that not he, but councils have been delaying action on the matter. We do not think there is any reason for thinking that he has changed his attitude, or that he will now go against the system which he previously recommended.

There is fresh race disturbance in Delaware and a mob is hunting with shotguns for a negro who shot and perhaps fatally injured a constable in resisting arrest. In Southern Indiana, Southern Illinois and even in Kansas, negro settlers are being expelled, and in some cases are loaded on cars and shipped south, whence they came. Nebraska in some way or another makes itself so undesirable for negro settlement that in the last decade the colored population of the state showed an actual decrease. The outbreak of the race problem in the tier of states first to feel the overflow of negro population from the south is a significant circumstance, and indicates that not only has it ceased to be a sectional issue, but is on the way to become national in its dimensions.

Senator Marcus A. Hanna, addressing the builders' exchange in Cleveland concerning the aims of the civic federation, delivered himself of wisdom. He said the federation, of which he is a distinguished member, does not pretend to settle labor disputes. It merely tries to find a basis on which negotiations can be conducted and advises conciliatory measures. If its advice had been taken in every case last year more than $200,000,000 would have been saved to employers and employes. There is a present application of Senator Hanna's reasoning here in Pittsburgh—the tie up of building operations. The dispute in this case looks to disinterested outsiders to be a trivial one that should be easily settled. It drags along because no one will make a conciliatory move to end it.

Among the matters pigeon-holed by our do-nothing council committees is the resolution providing for the conversion of the delinquent tax office into a salaried office. It was referred to a special committee, which was to confer with the city solicitor on the subject, and present an ordinance on the subject. No report has ever been made and it is a question whether any ever will be. Mayor Hays, who pledged himself to a radical change in the compensation of this office, is now arguing against any change whatever. The Citizens' party has now a clean record of repudiation, no pledge made the people having been redeemed, and it does not seem likely that anything will be done about the delinquent tax office if the Citizens leaders can help it. The right way to deal with it is to consolidate it with the city treasurer's department, and the Republican members of councils ought to present an ordinance to that effect and put the Citizens on record, as was done in Allegheny.

The mention of Senator Gorman's name as Democratic candidate for the presidency probably comes earlier than that astute statesman would desire, as it would be more to his advantage to stay in the background until the Bryanites and reorganizers have exterminated one another and cleared the way for a compromise candidate. Although Senator Gorman's party regularity is unimpeachable, his selection as party leader in the senate was the signal for an attack upon him by Bryan's paper, and he is conspicuously absent from Bryan's list of available candidates. He would be out of place in that list from any point of view, as he is too strong and distinguished to be classed among "The Little Unknowns from Nowhere." The development of his candidacy may draw upon him the fire which Bryan is now pouring into Cleveland, and it is not yet certain that the Cleveland reorganizers will be willing to accept Gorman when the impossibility of Cleveland's nomination is demonstrated. Gorman gave a protectionist revision to the Wilson tariff bill, which brought down upon him the wrath of the Cleveland administration, but that is now being advanced as an argument in his favor, as his nomination would be a pledge that the party would not unsettle business conditions by a radical change of tariff policy. He has the advantage of coming from what is now a doubtful state, and is reputed to be strong throughout the east, while he is popular in the south from his successful opposition to the last attempts at legislation asserting federal control over federal elections. If the Pennsylvania delegation supports his candidacy he will undoubtedly take a prominent position among presidential possibilities.

United States Steel.

Charles M. Schwab has resigned his position as president of the United States Steel Corporation and William E. Corey has been elected his successor. There is an end to the perennial Schwab rumors that have disgusted not only the gentleman most immediately concerned, but his friends and a large share of the public. Mr. Schwab remains one of the largest holders of the corporation's stocks, a member of the board of directors and of the finance committee. He has been suffering from nervousness and has wisely chosen to retire from active management of the largest business in the world, without waiting for his malady to develop a more serious form. His associates have been loth to permit his resignation, but have finally agreed with his view of the matter.

William E. Corey, who suceeds Mr. Schwab as president of the United States Steel Corporation, has been succeeding Mr. Schwab throughout his active business career. As the one advanced the other followed. Both were trained in the same practical school and the election of Mr. Corey means there is to be no change in the policies and methods of the corporation. It is a recognition of the superiority of the Pittsburgh practice by the directors of the great concern and a guarantee of continuance of manufacturing methods that have won world supremacy and incited emulation on the part of the captains of industry of foreign lands.

The creation of the position of chairman of the board and a new committee of three is significant of the realization that the work assumed by Mr. Schwab at the beginning needs to be somewhat divided. Some of the weight of responsibility and some of the details will be lifted from the shoulders of Mr. Corey, not because he is not a thoroughly competent man, but to reduce the load to human endurance capacity. The financial statement of the corporation is proof of the falsity of derogatory reports. Net earnings for July are larger than for the same month last year. Those for August are estimated slightly less than last year, because many more repairs will be made. The natural result will be increase in September. In short, the United States Steel Corporation is in excellent physical condition, is conservatively managed, is progressive and faces bright prospects for the future.

The Cotton Corner.

The present cotton corner will undoubtedly stimulate a demand for legislation against corners and cornerers of foods and staples. There is a practical deadlock in the cotton market at the moment, because practically the entire available supply of cotton has been bought up by a speculative syndicate, which refuses to sell it at less than a price which is declared by manufacturers of cotton goods to be prohibitory. The cornerers are aided by the lateness of this year's cotton crop, but the manufacturers are stubbornly waiting for the harvest to break the corner. The syndicate is, however, for the time, in the awkward position of being without a market, as the price that is prohibitory to manufacturers is equally prohibitory to speculators, who cannot see the possibility of a further advance, or a market upon which to unload at a profit were an advance possible.

This is the year's second corner in cotton. The first syndicate carried the matter as far as it thought advisable and then sold out to the second syndicate, which carried the price higher, and is now carrying the load. The prospects of the new crop were poor when it assumed the burden, but are improved. The government's monthly report on Monday estimated the condition to be 2 6-10 per cent better than the July estimate and 5 6-10 per cent better than that of June. As the government sees it cotton is now 73 7-10 per cent, which is compared with 81 9-10 per cent on July 25 of last year and 77 2-10 per cent at a similar period in 1901. The indications are, therefore, considered to point to at least an average crop, or, if the weather continues as favorable as during June and July, to even a record-breaking crop. This is not a cheerful outlook for the cornerers, but their resources appear equal to the waiting game, and it is in their favor that the crop is two to four weeks late, for frosts may play havoc with it in the fall. If frosts do not appear they will be well punished for the losses they have inflicted on capital and labor employed in the mills of this country and of England. It apparently depends wholly on the weather whether they shall reap a large profit or suffer immense loss.

The New England mills, suffering now from a shortage, will be compelled to either shut down entirely before the new crop is harvested or make their purchases until the new crop is gathered at the terms dictated by the syndicate. This latter they will be loth to do, for more than immediate requirements during the next month at least, or until the ultimate condition of the new crop is more apparent, for against whatever advantages there may be in keeping mills running in anticipation of demand is the consideration that output must be marketed this fall and winter on the basis of prices established by the harvest. The prospect is, therefore, that labor in the cotton mills will be poorly employed for weeks to come, and that the disturbance to trade, due to the withholding of domestic and foreign orders for cotton will continue, for the foreign manufacturer is no more willing than the home manufacturer to risk capital in liberal purchases that are the rule at this season of the year. This condition is one that breeds hostility to corners not only on the part of labor, but on the part of capital, and more is likely to be heard about it later.

The New Pope.

The papal conclave has once again, as often before, confounded all anticipation by electing one who was hardly regarded as among the probable candidates. The patriarch of Venice had been mentioned as a possibility, but that was all. His age was in his favor as a compromise candidate, as it is a traditional inclination of the conclave, when prevented by conflict of interests from selecting one of the leading candidates, to choose one of the older members of the college of cardinals. It was in just this way that Leo XIII. himself was selected at the age of 68, and the extraordinary length of his pontificate was almost miraculous in view of the delicacy of his constitution when he assumed the tiara. The new pope is something over two months older than Leo XIII. at the time of his accession.

The election of Giuseppe Sarto, patriarch of Venice, will at once recall to the minds of students of history the great Venetian ecclesiastic, Pietro Sarpi, who was the champion of the Venetian republic in its conflict against the pretensions of papal prerogative advanced by Pope Paul V. Under the guidance of Sarpi the papal interdict was successfully defied and protected by the authority of the state the Venetian clergy discharged their functions as usual. Sarpi's extraordinary literary activity during the controversy, and his subsequent labors as a historian, made him one of the great figures of the 17th century, and securely established his fame as scholar, statesman and patriot, but the cause for which he labored has been completely defeated. Moral influences have accomplished what papal interdicts could not, and tendencies toward the organization of the church upon the basis of nationality are now extinct.

The historic suggestions made by the selection of the head of the church of Venice are confronted by an entirely different kind of suggestion in the choice of a title made by the new pope. He is to be known as Pius X., having chosen a name above all things identified with resistance to the subordination of the church to the sovereignty of the state—resistance sustained even to martyrdom. The first of the name was an early martyr. Over 1300 years elapsed before the name was again assumed by a pope, but during the renaissance period several renowned popes chose it, the last of whom from his holy zeal being known as St. Pius V. Over two centuries elapsed before the name was again chosen as a papal title, and then two pontiffs of that name were victims to the power and violence of Napoleon Bonaparte. Pius VII., who crowned Bonaparte and later excommunicated him, was imprisoned by him, but lived to reign with undiminished authority for many years after the great conqueror had died in captivity at St. Helena. Rarely has history given such a lesson of the ineffectiveness of material weapons against moral forces.

The pontificate of Pius VIII. lasted only two years, but that of Pius IX. is the longest in the history of the church, lasting from 1846 to 1878. It was a period of storm from first to last, during which the spiritual authority of the pope was aggrandized, but his temporal authority was destroyed by the annexation of the papal dominions to the kingdom of Italy. The relations between church and state, thus violently displaced, have never been re-established, but have since remained an unsettled question. During the long reign of Leo XIII. time has done much to heal old wounds, but the attitude of conflict has not been relaxed. The great question as regards the conclave just closed has been, will it choose a pope who will accept the situation and resign himself to the loss of the secular power? The fact that the new pope has assumed the title of Pius X., a name associated with obstinate adherence to temporal sovereignty, might be regarded as a sufficiently plain answer in the negative. And yet it is known that he has been friendly in his attitude toward the royal family, and that he once made a state visit to the king in spite of a suggestion from the vatican that he should not. He is a great preacher, a distinguished writer, an able administrator and is credited with liberal opinions, so that here again anticipation is at fault, and there is room for surprises in the development of the policy of the new pope.

More Cars Needed.

We hear again the familiar cry for more cars. The annual movement of coal and ore to and from the lake shore has set in, the crop movement is being prepared for by sending the usual number of cars to the west. Yet it is not really a shortage in the total supply of cars that is the trouble, but a lack of movement and of terminal facilities. This makes a shortage of cars at the points where they are needed for loading. Shippers are unable to get cars on demand and that hampers the movement of business to some extent. Conditions are not as bad as they were at this period last year, a fact amply attested by the larger tonnages moved during June and July than for the same months in previous years.

There will be a recurrence of congestion this fall. The cry for more cars now presages a more serious situation for the later months of the year. But the railroads have been busy on improvements and they are confident they will be better able to cope with traffic than ever before. Some of their improvements will be thrown into use just as the rush season opens and that should help materially. For example, the Pennsylvania railroad will soon have completed its four-track system to Greensburg, that will be a pronounced benefit in handling the coke shipments from the southwest division, without clogging other freights. The completion of the Allegheny elevated tracks will facilitate movement in that direction. The capacity of the Buffalo and West Penn divisions has been increased. The Baltimore & Ohio is in better condition and the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie has provided new trackage and yards. In addition to all these things the motive power of all roads and divisions has been added to more than 25 per cent since the complaints about congestion were first heard three years ago.

Pittsburgh is vitally interested in this matter. Its development was seriously checked by the railroad blockade, and it will be equally forwarded when the railroads are able to handle all the tonnage offered. By another year the Wabash will be in the field for its share of traffic and for a few years thereafter the railroads should be able to care for all of the business that can be created, even at this greatest tonnage producing point. But if they would continue to keep even they must continue their expansion.

"I'm the cock of the walk, piff paff,"
Said the red automobile in glee.
"I'm the boss of the road, piff paff,
And there's nothing the matter with me."
Then the bull bore down, biff, baff,
And the auto a sight was to see.

In connection with the appearance in print of the Gorman boom it may be remarked that it isn't the choice of the Democratic politicians, but the man the people are for, who will be elected president of the United States in 1904.

Russell Sage, it may be remarked, was 87 years young yesterday, but that something good which he promised Wall street for his birthday seemed to have worked backwards. Perhaps it will come all right on his next birthday.

There doesn't appear to be any copyright on the assertion that Congressman Littauer is being handled without gloves. Nevertheless the gloves are at the bottom of all his trouble.

Those 50,000 soldiers of the Cuban revolution who are demanding that they be paid in full must have been somewhere on a furlough when the Americans landed at Santiago.

Councilmen and city officials are said to have been driven out of the city by the demand for railroad passes. Can't this demand be kept up?

You can never estimate the full strength of a revolution until there is a prospect that the revolutionists will be paid.

If King Edward and the Irish were not pleased with each other, they were very polite.

There is a new prisoner of the vatican, but he holds the key to the door.

Gorman had better take his boom in nights, as the frost season is approaching.

The typhoid fever germ works while Pittsburgh waits for pure water.

Drivers of "red devil" automobiles should beware of high-tempered bulls.

The stock market had another of its attacks of indigestion yesterday.

An immediate improvement in Mr. Schwab's health should follow.

The Gorman boom is on hand early enough to avoid the rush.

IN THE EYE OF FAME.

President Smith of Trinity college, Hartford, Conn., is unique among college presidents in receiving a life pension. The sum in his case is to be $3,000 a year.

King Edward has approved the appointment of A. B. Aylesworth of Toronto, Canada, to succeed the late Justice Douglas Armour of the supreme court of Canada on the Alaskan boundary commission.

Dr. Albert Lefevre, who has been appointed to succeed the late Dr. Edward E. Sheib in the chair of philosophy in Tulane university, is a young man not yet 30 years of age. He has, however, made a reputation as a teacher, thinker and writer.

Miss Mary B. Sixby of Pasadena, Cal., has found a document of historic value to Maine. It is the first commission issued to a lighthouse keeper in this country, and bears the signature of George Washington, appointing Joseph Greenleaf keeper of the light at Portland Head.

There are several young premiers in various parts of the British empire, but the latest is the youngest of all. He is R. McBride, the new premier of British Columbia, who was born in New Westminster, the original capital of that western Canadian province, 38 years ago. He went to the other end of the dominion for his education, as he is a graduate of Dalhousie university, Halifax. In 1892 he was called to the bar of British Columbia, and six years later he entered the parliament of the province of which he is now prime minister, so that his term of political preparation for the premiership was less than five years.

HOW LONG, HOW LONG!

(Written for The Gazette.)

"If all the world was apple pie,
And all the sea was ink,
And all the trees were bread and cheese,
What would we have to drink?"

So runs the jingling nursery rhyme
Heard by our childish ears.
And we might raise a paraphrase
To suit those modern years.

If all the water in our reach
With typhoid germs is filled,
And city dads fight over fads,
How long till we are killed?

We've waited very patiently
For something safe to drink,
But not a drop has come to stay
The thirst from which we shrink.

A filter made of sand we thought
Would give us some relief—
Choked out of shape by reddest tape
This plan was brought to grief.

Next came a blood-encurdling scheme
From which digestion quails,
An alum vat, reducing fat,
While eating out entrails.

And so we watch the graveyards grow,
Still claiming as their own
Dead by the score, and yawn for more,
While we can only groan:

If all the water in our reach
With typhoid germs is filled,
And city dads insist on fads,
How long till we are killed?

C. A. H.

The Quiet Observer.

By ERASMUS WILSON.

How is it with you, brother, now that your wife is away for the summer?

Do you ever think of the mean things you said to her when the steak was a bit tough, or the eggs two seconds overdone, or the roast scorched on the top side, or the biscuits sad, and—and other things?

And do you recall how, when she pointed to the fact that you were late, and that roasts, biscuits and cooking things won't wait, but go on from good to bad, that you felt that she was fussing and jawing unnecessarily?

As you go around sucking your burnt fingers, wiping your greasy hands on your clothes instead of a dishrag, and trying to show the dog that you can cook, don't you wish her vacation was at an end, that she would be home tomorrow?

The dog is on to your cooking, and knows as well as you do that it would kill anything, in time; but the dog can't tell, and you won't; so your wife, being glad to see you, and believing in you, will swallow all your stories about living fat and full, and having a boss time. The lank sides of the dog, and the condition of things in the pantry and cupboard tell a different story, but she won't hear it—not a bit of it, for she believes in you.

* * * * *

Men mean well; even in their meanness they mean well. At least women think so, and what a good thing it is for men that they do.

If every woman thought every man as mean as he is, what sort of a country would this be, anyway?

When heaven made woman it did the best job in the whole lot—"Heaven's last, best gift to man." John Milton never wrote a truer line. And you would hardly have expected him to write it, seeing the useful time he was having with woman at the very time of the writing.

But, being a conscientious man, and aiming to tell the truth, he couldn't help writing as he did. It was given him to say, and he had to say it. For poets, you know, like prophets, are sent to say things, and if they are worthy of their mission they will say them all right.

The style, the cut and the manner of a messenger does not affect the matter of the message.

But that is neither here nor there. Heaven did the fair thing when it sent woman to bear man company along life's journey through this streaked world—streaked with sunshine and shade, joy and sorrow, plenty and poverty, and everything. Thomas Otway hit it right when he said:

"O, woman! lovely woman! Nature made thee
To temper man; we had been brutes without you."

* * * * *

But is it any wonder that your wife flares up sometimes and shows you the other side of domestic life? She has her trials and troubles the same as other folks, and they are good for her, too, the same as your troubles are good for you. If she didn't flare up sometimes and show you what sort of a woman she could be you never would know what you are missing every day she lives.

So, when she does cut loose don't say a word, but wait a minute or more, and she will be herself again, and you will be thankful that she isn't herself at her worst.

Here is her side of the story done up in manner and form to attract your attention. But that is womanlike, for she is great on making things attractive—even herself.

Oh, men and oh, brothers, and all of you others, I beg of you pause and listen a bit.
And I'll tell you without altering any of it,
The tale of the housewife's part.
Mixing and fixing,
Brewing and stewing,
Basting and tasting,
Lifting and sifting,
Stoning and boning,
Toasting and roasting,
Kneading and seeding,
Straining and draining,
Poising and shaking,
Choosing and using,
Reasoning and seasoning,
Paring and sharing—
This is the housewife's part.

Filling and spilling,
Pounding and sounding,
Creaming and steaming,
Skimming and trimming,
Mopping and chopping,
Coring and poring,
Shelling and smelling,
Grinding and minding,
Firing and tiring,
Carving and serving—
This is the housewife's part.

Oiling and boiling and broiling,
Buying and trying and frying,
Burning and turning and churning,
Frieing and icing and slicing,
Hashing and mashing and splashing,
Scanning and planning and canning,
Greasing and squeezing and freezing—
This is the housewife's part.
Aching and baking and making and shaking,
Beating and heating and seating and treating.
Oh, men and oh brothers, and all of you others—
Do you envy the housewife's part?

—Susie M. Best.

* * * * *

But how is it with the new woman? Do you imagine that she will make as good a wife as the old-fashioned girl you married?

She may, and she may not, but whether she does, or she don't there are a lot of man willing to chance it. Let them be a bit easy with her, and, if needs be, help her some, and she will be likely to pan out all right. We can't always tell by the style of a messenger what style of message he bears.

We hear a lot of talk about the new woman, and not a little of it comes from the old woman; not because she is jealous, or hateful, or anything that way, but because she believes that the way she was raised is the right way to raise girls, and that the way she has lived, if followed, is the right way to live.

These strong beliefs is what made her a strong, successful woman. Believing that you are right, and then believing in yourself, will make you strong, and give you great influence over others.

"I can't tell what is the matter with you young people," said a bright, lovable old lady. "You are such imperfect. You can't endure as much as a kitten did 50 or 60 years ago, when I was a girl.

"The boys of that day chopped wood and hoed corn, walked 15 miles a day, not on wagers, but doing chores and hard work. But today a man kicks if the elevator breaks down and he has to walk up three flights of stairs. He is off account when it comes to an emergency. He puts on his overcoat in October, and wants the street car heated if he rides a dozen blocks.

"And you women! You are even worse than the men. It used to be that a 17-year-old girl could run home, do a family washing at 10 until midnight entertaining her beau, and be up at the ironing by daylight next morning just as though she had gone to bed at dark the night before. In those days a poor man's daughter or a moderately rich man's daughter, for that matter, did the work and thought it a natural thing to do.

"But nowadays a man works hard for the maintenance of wife and daughter, while they sit in the parlor and whine because servants are so incompetent, and if by any manner of means they have to do the work, it is a positively dreadful state of affairs, and they gain the commiseration of all their friends.

"I think the trouble is we now overdo the luxuries of life. We have too much to eat, and wear too many clothes, and we live in too fine houses. If we would live more rationally, we would have more strength, and there would be more men and women, and fewer editions de luxe in the present generation."

The Immigration Problem.

The remedy is to be found in a wider distribution of the flood. Scattered throughout the union a million foreigners would exert but little influence, and in the course of a few years they would acquire a knowledge of American ways and institutions. Their children would grow up in the midst of an American environment, and, learning the English language and attending public schools, they would become American in every sense. The country is big enough and has sufficient resources to accommodate many more people than will come, even though they come at the rate of 1,000,000 a year for the next half century.—Denver Republican.

Epigrams and Epitaphs.

There is not much difference between an epigram and an epitaph. An epigram says unkind and true things about the living; the epitaph says kind and untrue things about the dead.—London Punch.

Talked of in New York

GEORGE C. JENKS.

(By Private Wire to The Gazette.)

NEW YORK, Aug. 4.—Bitter was the disappointment today of Col. Robert A. Ammon, the former Pittsburgher, when he found that he must go forthwith to Sing Sing to begin life as a convict. For many weary weeks Col. Ammon has been in the tombs. After the first shock of hearing the sentence of the court that he must be a prisoner at hard labor for not less than four years, the stubbornness of the man asserted itself. He went back to the tombs with as firm a step as he used to walk along Fifth avenue in Pittsburgh, years ago, or along Broadway, in New York, later, and his lawyers began the preliminary work which might yet save him the ignominy of convict stripes. The application for a reasonable doubt, which would have acted as a stay, was this afternoon refused by Justice Geigerich of the supreme court. The application has been in hands for a long time, and Ammon's friends argued favorable answer from the long delay. But it was not to be. Justice Geigerich denies the motion, and declares that he has given the case most careful consideration. When the news was taken to Ammon in the cell he turned pale, a pallor which was deeper than that caused by his being shut in from the free air and sunlight for so long—and trembled a little. Then he heaved a long sigh, as if to brace himself, and said: "Well, when do we start?" He may be taken to Sing Sing tomorrow. The hard feature of the matter is that he will have to begin his sentence from the time he enters Sing Sing, so that the months he has spent in the tombs will be so much extra imprisonment.

Pleased With Sarto's Election.

Archbishop Farley was one of the New Yorkers who was much pleased when he heard that Cardinal Sarto had been elected pope. The archbishop, then bishop, met Cardinal Sarto in Venice a year ago, and had a pleasant interview, bringing away with him delightful recollections of the patriarch's kindly manner and scholarly conversation. Archbishop Farley thinks the selection was the most generally satisfactory that the conclave could have made.

Touched the Right Spot.

Dr. McBirney, the physician who was called in consultation in President McKinley's illness, is known the world over as a man of broad sympathies, as well as a healer of almost marvelous gifts. He lives in this city, in the Forties, and his personality is familiar to thousands who see him in public. An illustration of his methods is afforded in the experience a young actor had with him. The young fellow feared that he had tuberculosis, and he sought out the physician. The young man had to wait an hour or so in the doctor's anteroom, for Dr. McBirney is a very busy man. At last he was admitted. The physician tested his lungs and examined him rapidly. But thoroughly, and told him to come back in a few days. The patient went back this afternoon, and anxiously asked: "Do you think I have consumption, doctor?" Dr. McBirney responded: "You are perfectly sound, young man. There is no pulmonary or any other weakness about." Then came the ticklish question of the fee. Dr. McBirney charges as high as $500 for his services to some of his patients and the young actor had come prepared with something over $20. The doctor looked him over, and then asked, quietly: "Do you think you could afford to pay me $25?" The young actor could and did—delighted. Moreover, he is one more person to sing the praises of this really great man, who, busy as he is, still has time to consider the circumstances of his patients in asking a fee.

Johnnie Batter Come Home.

Pittsburghers remember that in one of the "Billy Baxter Letters" the author talks about "eating his cheeks." He had been obliged to dispose of them in this way, he said, or he would not have been able to fully assuage his thirst in the metropolis. I believe there are only two cafes in Pittsburgh where checks are used in paying for refreshments, but they are the rule in New York. A bright young Pittsburgher who is spending a few days here walked so far this afternoon in looking about the city that he felt the absolute need of something liquid to keep him up to the mark. With another Pittsburgher, who has been in New York for some time, he went into a gilded palace of cordials and bitters in Broadway, and when both had modestly "irrigated" the pharmacist behind the bar handed him a check discounting the silver dollar which the Pittsburgher had laid down. A slide of something otten leads to a cigar, and it was so in this case. The friends moved to the cigar counter, lighted a weed apiece, the cost of which was taken out of the silver dollar, and then, crumpling the check in in his hand, the visitor, with his friend, walked out. No one appeared to notice that the check had not been paid, but the more experienced Pittsburgher asked, gaily: "Are you eating your checks now, Jack?" Then they went into another refreshment parlor, but so that the Pittsburgher who had learned the ropes could give his friend an object lesson in the use of Manhattan pasteboards.

Fans Were Disappointed.

Rain stopped the baseball game today the Americus leaguers were to have at their park with the Athletics. There was a large crowd of rooters outside the gates when the rain began to come down heavily, but everything was off.

He's in Carrie's Class Now.

That Brownie elephant, "Tommy," who has been held up for duty, and has kept his press agent working overtime to describe all his antics, went on a rampage today, and tore part of the Bostock palace at Coney Island, to smithereens. Coney can recover itself when a hurricane and black squall knocks everything on its head into a cocked hat, and makes some of the fakirs almost fall into the error of giving short change, but when an elephant as big as Tommy kicks up his heels and cuts loose with trunk and trumpet, everybody had to stand from under. Tommy was guilty of one unpardonable crime, in the eyes of Coney Islanders, in that he hit the Carrie Nation act with his huge bulk, so smashed a barroom. He is reported to right's having quieted down.

Political Revenue.

Senator Hanna says there is not a living in politics for any man. Not an honest living is what Mr. Hanna means, of course. Some men, not a thousand miles from Missouri, have lived very handsomely in politics.—Kansas City Journal.

Gorman and His Boom.

Mr. Gorman returns to find his presidential boom in an excellent state of health. Just at this moment it shows more vigor than any of its rivals. None of them is languishing, but none has grown within the past few months as much as that of the Maryland senator. It might be hasty to say that this promises ultimate success. The Democratic national convention is nearly a year distant, and what may be called the true test of booms is yet to come. But certain it is that Mr. Gorman is now a very prominent figure in all the speculation relating to his party's leadership, and his position in the senate gives him an opportunity he is reasonably sure to improve to keep his party and the country well advised of his presence in the land.

Mr. Gorman returned in diplomatic trim. He was able to recall no quarrel with Mr. Cleveland, and while he took a left-handed fling at Bryanism, his language was temperate and unexciting. In this we probably have a key to Mr. Gorman's method of producing harmony, and it is a key it would profit his party to study. Some of his organs are already studying it, as may be seen by their change of tone from ridicule to a pretty fulsome brand of praise of the Sage of Princeton.

And now for Maryland. Will the coming Democratic state convention declare for Mr. Gorman for president? The Baltimore American mentions some gossip on the subject, but presumably the question rests with Mr. Gorman. His control over his party at home is firmly reestablished, and it would likely, in this as in other matters, obey his wishes.—Washington Star.

Although Senator Gorman may not be an available candidate for president of the United States, no one better understands than he the measures and policies upon which the Democratic party can be most effectually united. Nor is there any one better qualified than this consummate politician to accomplish the desired union of all elements of the party for the contest of 1904. He believes in the success of the party as he did in 1902, when he had so large a share in the management of the campaign. If the Democratic party next year will put in nomination a candidate for president who is capable of winning the confidence of the people it can do no better than adopt the counsels of Senator Gorman and make tariff revision and honesty and economy in public administration the watchwords of the contest. As chairman of the Democratic committee of the senate Mr. Gorman is in a position to exercise a commanding influence in carrying out his own program.—Philadelphia Record.

Senator Gorman is a master of the fine political art of speaking for publication and yet of saying nothing. Across the threshold of his return home there lay the inevitable necessity of an interview about the plans and prospects of the Democracy. The one issue that he seriously suggests for adoption by the Democracy in next year's campaign is the tariff. But he refrains discreetly from specifying how and when he would revise the existing customs duties. His name is associated with the Wilson-Gorman bill that was so changed by enforced compromises in the senate as to cause President Cleveland to denounce it as a "monstrosity" and to withhold his signature. Under that tariff the country entered a period of industrial decline that ended only with the Dingley act. It is not probable that either capital or labor would be willing to entrust tariff revising to the direction of Mr. Gorman.—New York Mail and Express.

Mr. Gorman indicates the issues which he thinks ought to be presented. "The tariff, economy and honesty." They are good issues if you can get them accepted by your opponents and if you are sincere and courageous as to those which your opponents will accept. The Republicans are not likely openly to oppose economy and honesty or very clearly to come out for extravagance and rascality. On those issues they as well as the Democrats will be judged by their record only, and we are compelled to say that their record is quite as good as that of the Democrats of the Gorman school. As to the tariff, of course that is practically the only issue that has a national significance and importance. On that, with Mr. Gorman as a candidate, his party would labor under the disadvantage of an extreme unpopularity whatever what the party promised and what the candidate has done in the past. The party might be won over to Mr. Bryan on a gold standard platform or Mr. Gorman on a platform denouncing trusts. Mr. Gorman's fine impetuosity in discussing politics is not, unfortunately for him, prevalent among the voters. The Democratic party in the next campaign is likely to find that its candidate is himself, in great measure, its platform, and if Mr. Gorman is the candidate that would be fatal.—New York Times.

Senator Gorman is "talked about" more than he may suppose. Full his presidential boom is kept in judicious abeyance. Some other public man would like to know how it is done. They would like to know how a presidential movement is kept at full tension without the aid of a bass drum or a B-flat cornet.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Senator Gorman is passing through the record of his usual midsummer brains as a presidential candidate. The first occurs when he sails for a few weeks abroad, and the second occurs when he returns. He enjoys both immensely. After they are over—and they rarely last for more than 48 hours—he returns to Maryland and the calm waters of political indifference roll over him till congress reassembles.—New York Commercial Advertiser.

Our Stake in China.

A few simple facts and figures show the magnitude of the commercial interests of America in Manchuria, in behalf of which Secretary Hay and his lieutenants are waging so gallant a campaign, says the New York Tribune. Official statistics report that United States exports to South America have increased, between 1898 and 1902, only about 30 per cent, to Europe, about 60 per cent; to North American countries 80 per cent; to Asia, 175 per cent, and to Africa, 228 per cent. The growth of our trade with Asia is thus vastly more rapid than with any other continent, save only Africa, and, as Asia is the most populous of all the continents, the potentialities of that circumstance are obvious. Moreover, of all our exports to Asia, 40 per cent now goes to China and Hong Kong and 25 per cent to Japan. China takes directly more than 20 per cent. Of our exports to China, the major part goes to Manchuria, the one port of New Chwang alone receiving more than $20,000,000 worth of cotton goods yearly, of which the bulk is of American origin.

Kentucky Feud Trials.

The trouble with the Goebel trials in Kentucky is that, when you get a witness sufficiently freed of his terror from assaulting to tell his story, it is necessary to unterrify five or six others in order to find out whether the willing witness is lying. It is a gubernatorial progression that ruins fair to run on into infinity.—Baltimore American.

DELEGATES MEET AT A BANQUET

Gay Scenes at Hotel Henry, Where the C. T. A. U. Representatives Foregathered.

THE BUSINESS SESSION TODAY

Members from All Parts of the United States and Canada Flock to Pittsburgh—Two Archbishops May Arrive Here Today.

A reception at the Hotel Henry served last night to bring the delegates of the thirty-third annual convention of the Catholic Total Abstinence union together. As the delegates are from all parts of the country, this medium of getting acquainted was eagerly embraced. For several hours nearly 1,000 persons moved about the parlors of the Hotel Henry, the sober costumes of the priests offering a striking contrast to the gay dresses of the women.

The predominating color of the decorations was blue, the color of the union. During the reception an orchestra played selections. Thanks to the good work of the reception committee, the evening passed pleasantly.

While the reception was in progress the presidents of the diocesan unions held a meeting and decided that each president should cast the vote of his delegation on the questions that may come up. If this proposal is adopted by the convention, business will be expedited, for no delegate will be able to cause delay by casting a separate vote, opposed perhaps to the sentiments of the majority of his delegation. The convention will open today and will be in session only three days.

Delegates from each state wear the general badge of the union, a separate state badge and small streamers of ribbon, the diocesan unions being determined by different colors of ribbon. The delegation from Illinois represents 3,500 members. Among the delegates are Bishop P. J. Muldoon, Walter J. Gibbons, Father Thomas Quinn, Mrs. Hicker, William Hersheey, Mrs. Griffin and Miss May C. Smith.

The following delegations arrived yesterday: Peterboro, Ont., headed by the president of that diocesan union, the Rev. M. J. O'Brien; Boston, headed by President Edward Mulready and Father Mullen, spiritual director of the union; Baltimore, with its president, Father Thomas L. Stenton; Connection State union, with President Father Peter H. McClean; Scranton, with President Father P. J. McMann; Philadelphia, with President Father P. T. Hanagan. The Rev. Father I. Donlan, rector of the cathedral, Dubuque, brought in a large delegation and a corps of uniformed cadets.

The managers of Pain's "Last Days of Pompeii" have sent to Father John G. Beane, president of the Pittsburgh diocesan union, an invitation to bring all the delegates to the exhibition on Friday night, when fireworks pictures of the new pope will be shown.

The business sessions will be held in the Duquesne theater. The floor of the theater is reserved for the delegates, and visitors will be admitted to the galleries only. The speakers for the public meeting to be held in the theater tonight were not announced, because of the non-arrival of Archbishop John Ireland of St. Paul and Archbishop P. J. Ryan of Philadelphia, who are expected to come today.

All the delegates will meet at the Duquesne theater at 8:30 a. m., and from there they will march in a body to the church of the Epiphany in Washington street to attend the pontifical high mass to be celebrated by Bishop J. F. Regis Canevin. The first business session will begin at 11 a. m., and will be taken up with reports from the various unions.

Big Railroad Strike Threatened.

CHICAGO, ILL., Aug. 4.—(Special.)—A strike is threatened on the entire Rock Island railway. W. G. Lee, vice grand master of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, and E. B. Clarke, grand chief of the Order of Railway Conductors, came this morning, but refused to talk. The men are demanding the standard railway wage scale.

THE DEATH ROLL

Frederick Lehman.

Frederick Lehman, 17 years old, a well-known member of the Allegheny county G. A. R. association, died yesterday morning at his home, No. 118 Barnett street, Allegheny. For eight years he was janitor of Allegheny city hall, but owing to failing health he was compelled to give up the position about 12 years ago, when he retired. He was a member of Company F, Sixty-first regiment, Pennsylvania volunteers, in the civil war, and of Post No. 258, G. A. R. His widow and two sons, William and Samuel, survive. Funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at his late home.

Mrs. Anne Nicholson Brown.

Mrs. Anne Nicholson Bronson, a native of Fayette county, Pennsylvania, died in Govanstown, Md., aged 70 years. She was a member of the distinguished families of Pennsylvania, her great grandfather Nicholson being the second commander of the American navy, having command of the vessel that took Washington to New York to be inaugurated president. Mrs. Brown was born and reared on the old Albert Gallatin homestead in Fayette county. George Gallatin was her father's uncle by marriage. Among the surviving children is Mrs. Beasie Blair of Waynesburg.

William J. Kiskadden.

William J. Kiskadden, 43 years old, a prominent druggist of Etna, died at his home in Bridge street, that borough, early yesterday morning after a long illness. He was a native of Etna, and for the last 25 years had been in the retail drug business, becoming well known as the proprietor and manufacturer of patent medicines. He took an active interest in public affairs, and for four years was treasurer of Etna borough. His widow, Mrs. Florence J. Kiskadden, and five children survive.

John H. Robertson.

John H. Robertson, 58 years old, one of the best known residents of Oakland, died Monday night at 9:15 at his home, No. 7 Oakland square. Mr. Robertson only filled one position during life, and that was with the George A. Kelly Company, wholesale druggists. He was with the firm 27 years, and four years ago had to retire on account of ill health.

James Johnston.

James Johnston, aged 57, a prominent resident of Penn township, is dead at the home of his sisters, the Misses Hannah and Sarah Johnston. He was born and raised near where he died. Old age caused his death. The funeral will be held at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. He is survived by two sisters and one brother, Harry Johnston of Penn township.

Obituary Notes.

John Doerhoefer, a tobacco manufacturer of Louisville, Ky., is dead, aged 54 years.

Mrs. Martha Horner Evans, widow of the late William M. Evans, died at Parkersburg, W. Va., aged 87 years.

Stephen A. McKenna, 60 years old, a former steamboat engineer, is dead at his home, No. 42 Carver street, Eastend. He is survived by one daughter, Mrs. S. W. Littell.

Miss Ollie Dwyer, 21 years old, daughter of Michael Dwyer, is dead at the family home, No. 1 Third avenue. Deceased was a member of St. Francis De Sales' Roman Catholic church, McKees Rocks.

John Mahoney, aged 27 years, died late Monday night at Mercy hospital of typhoid fever. He moved from Erie to Homestead a few weeks ago. His widow, parents, several sisters and brothers, all of Erie, survive.

Mrs. Mary A. Crowther, 77 years old, died yesterday at her home, No. 47 Butler street, Etna. She was a member of the Millerstown Baptist church, and is survived by four children. She was the widow of Benjamin Crowther.

William Miguel Dateman, 46 years old, general agent of the Pittsburgh district for the Union Life Insurance Company, and a former professor of mathematics in Bucknell university, is dead at the home of his father-in-law, James S. Laughlin, No. 6920 Hamilton avenue. His widow and one child survive.

CITY WILL ISSUE BONDS TO ITSELF

Money Needed to Fight Smallpox, and Councils Can Authorize the Certificates.

SINKING FUND TO BUY THEM

Health Bureau Appropriation Nearly Exhausted—Controller Larkin Prodding City Officials Whose Duty It Is to Make Collections.

Controller Larkin has been convinced that it requires more money for the treatment of smallpox than he imagined, and has agreed to a bond issue of $250,000 to fight the disease. This was determined yesterday at a conference attended by Controller Larkin, Director Moore, Assistant Controller Morrow and Solicitor Rodgers.

Director Moore made a statement, showing clearly that the expense of caring for smallpox patients was much greater than the controller had supposed or that the controller and the finance committee had anticipated when the appropriations for the present year were made. Former Director Leslie asked for a much larger sum than the controller or finance committee was willing to give, and the new bond issue is the result.

Director Moore stated yesterday that the money provided by the finance committee for the health bureau would fall short of the amount needed. As the disease continues, with no sign of abatement, more money, he said, was absolutely needed to aid in its suppression. After Director Moore's forceful statement, the controller offered no objections to the plan for raising more funds. As there was no money available for the health bureau, it was decided that a bond issue was the only way out.

Solicitor Rodgers stated that the city had a wide margin for bonds, and that councils had the authority to issue them. The bonds are to be issued in series of $25,000 or $50,000 each, bearing 3½ per cent interest. They are to be short-term bonds and are to be purchased by the sinking fund commission, which will take up the bonds only as they are needed.

Solicitor Rodgers was instructed to prepare the necessary ordinances, and they will be introduced in councils at the first meeting in September. It is expected that the bonds will be issued in October, so that the bureau of health can get the benefit of them at that time, when the appropriation is expected to be exhausted.

Controller Larkin is prodding all the city employes whose duty it is to collect money to get their statements into his office that he may know the condition of the city's revenues. He is also hustling the superintendents of bureaus for statements as to the condition of their appropriations, so that by both items he can get at the expense of running the city the first six months of the fiscal year and can make an estimate of the income for the next six months.

A warm letter he sent last week to the department of public works stirred up the officers who look after switch licenses, and a return made to him yesterday showed collections of about $1,500 in the past few days. He collected $17,000 from that source last year, and expects to do much better this year.

A statement he got from the bureau of water assessments yesterday showed that although the assessors were new this year and delayed the collection of the water tax, their expenses were $5,455.99, as against $8,591.49, a saving of $135.50. Their work, too, it is said, was very thorough, following out the new system inaugurated which will likely go far toward adopting the meter system as the equitable one for both the city and consumer.

DUNN QUITS WORK.

Oratorical Champion of the Citizens Party Retires from Office.

James M. Dunn, who praised the Citizens from the stump in three big fights, has retired to private life after a brief connection with the city government. His reward was the chief clerkship of the bureau of building inspection at $83.33 a month.

The other day Dunn and Superintendent Dies disagreed about some question in connection with the working of the bureau. Dies was told that he could hunt a new chief clerk and Dunn walked out of the office. The place has not been filled.

HORSES MUST REMAIN UNTIL INCLINE MOVES

Plans to release the horses from the Penn incline are numerous, but the teams are still there, as no feasible scheme has yet been suggested. It is said that it would cost more to land the horses on the boulevard or either end of the incline than it would to keep them there for a week longer, while the machinery was being repaired. The heavy rain yesterday drenched the horses, but they will suffer little from their experience.

Why the Child Had Convulsions.

DERBY, CONN., August 4.—(Special.)—A rusty nail over an inch long and a burnt match of the same length were removed today from the stomach of the two-and-a-half-year old son of Walter Wynne of Rockville. The child had been suffering from convulsions for several days. The child has been all right since the operation.

PERSONALS

John H. Medley of Buffalo spent yesterday in Pittsburgh, and before leaving he said: "For several days we have been in receipt of letters from western grain shippers asking for harvest hands. As Buffalo is not a gateway for western traffic we have been unable to comply with their requests. The cool weather in the western states this season has retarded the ripening of the grain, but cutting commenced two weeks ago. Unless more help goes west the farmers will have a hard time to get their crops to the market.

Neighbors Visiting Pittsburgh.

The nearby residents registered at the local hotels last night were as follows:

NEW JUDGE FOR BLUE LAW CASES

Wilkinsburg's Committee of Twelve Before Alderman Negley.

BURGESS JOHN KEYS IS AWAY

Gazette's Cartoons Are Displayed in the Drugstore Windows—More Warrants Are Expected—Evidence Is Secured Against Number of Sabbath Violators.

Unable to locate Burgess James A. Keys of Wilkinsburg, the committee of 12, which has been collecting evidence against the druggists of that borough, yesterday afternoon appeared before Alderman E. C. Negley of Collins avenue, East End, and made information against five druggists for violating the Sunday laws. All informations heretofore made by this committee have been handled by Burgess Keys, and the changing of courts is regarded as favorable by the druggists.

There were rumors of a settlement last night, but nothing could be learned as to the details. Much spice was added to the fight yesterday by the appearance of The Gazette's cartoon on the Sunday violations. The five druggists who have been repeatedly fined displayed the cartoons in their windows, and last night hundreds of people stopped long enough to make some comment on the pictures and the activity of the druggists.

The committee of five, with nearly 50 informations against various persons for working on Sunday, has officially asked the committee of 12 to take up the prosecution of these cases, and the latter committee has flatly refused. A second offer will be made today to the attorneys of the committee of 12, Duff & Carmack, and in the event that a second refusal is given, the committee of five will then cause all pending warrants to be served. A lively time may be expected. The detective in the employ of this committee, who goes by the name of J. R. Worley, last Sunday collected additional information against a number of violators, and a second batch of cases may be expected to follow.

The druggists are incensed over the action of the committee of 12 in not prosecuting the people against whom evidence has been secured by the committee of five. They say the attitude of the committee of 12 shows that it is persecuting and not prosecuting. It has even been suggested that some civil action might be brought against the committee of 12 for discriminating.

The hearing in the case against the officers and employes of the Penn Ice Company will be held tomorrow morning before Justice Walker, Wilkinsburg.

The hearing of the cases against the five druggists before Justice Walker will take place this morning. These informations were made in the interests of the druggists. The time for the hearing for the cases before Alderman Negley has not been set.

CURRENCY BILL TO BE COMPLETE

President Will Sign No Measure That Does Not Fill the Nation's Need.

IS TIRED OF PATCHING UP

Abstract Views of Leading Financiers to Be Embodied in Any Reform He Suggests to the Senate—Busy Day at Sagamore Hill Yesterday.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

OYSTER BAY, N. Y., Aug. 4.—In currency legislation at the extra session of congress the president, as well as the house of representatives and Wall street, must be reckoned with by the senate. The president has made no suggestions to any of those who are wrestling with the problem, except that it seemed to him that there was real necessity for a business measure which would give genuine relief. He has expressed the hope that both branches of congress would be able to agree on a bill. Instead of differing widely, as at the last session, and failing to do anything.

President Roosevelt has made it clear to all his callers who sought his views on the subject that any measure to which he gives his support and signature must be something more than a mere emergency measure to temporarily cure the ills which may be caused by wild speculation and stock gambling. The bill which becomes a law must not be passed for the benefit of the men who have been responsible for the period of inflation of values in the stock market.

The president is getting the opinions of a great many financiers of the country as to just what should be done in the way of improving the currency situation. He has heard from men who think with Henry C. Frick of Pittsburgh, that the national expansion of the currency through the creation of national banks and the addition of newly discovered gold is almost sufficient for growing needs.

He has also heard from Representative Cannon, the next speaker of the house, who, speaking for the western bankers, says: "Go slow," but who, it is believed, will be found in the end favoring a scheme to give an emergency circulation. A great many small bankers have seen him, and they think there should be a complete revision of the banking system.

President Roosevelt today had his stock of information as to how different men feel about remedies which ought and ought not to be applied added to, when he had among his guests to luncheon Hamilton Fish, assistant treasurer of New York. Mr. Fish is the eyes and ears of the president and the secretary of the treasury in the great center of finance.

Mr. Fish said today:

"The thing most needed now is for all the persons who have views on this subject to get together and agree on some bill which can be passed."

For the first time in five days President Roosevelt was busy with callers today. During the morning he saw Ef A. Bond, engineer and surveyor of the state of New York. At luncheon the president entertained Judge W. H. Sandborn and A. E. Stone as well as Mr. Fish.

MALTREATED SOLDIERS.

German Officer Employed Fertile Brain to Devise Methods to Torture Privates.

BERLIN, Aug. 4.—The details are published today of a court-martial held at Metz upon a non-commissioned officer named Dunkel for maltreating private soldiers at Moerchingen, Lorraine. Five hundred and seventy-six instances of brutality, all occurring since last December, were cited. The evidence showed Dunkel's fertile inventiveness in novel methods of punishment, such as compelling a soldier to run at full tilt across a room and ram his head against a wardrobe.

The court sentenced Dunkel to two years and a half imprisonment and degradation to the ranks. The scandal became known to the military authorities through the suicide of one of the maltreated men, who left an anonymous letter ascribed to Dunkel's brutalities.

QUAY'S SON-IN-LAW BADLY INJURED

BEAVER, PA., Aug. 4.—(Special.)—Louis R. Davidson, the well known manufacturer and son-in-law of United States Senator Quay, was painfully injured at Mount Clemens, Mich. He missed his footing while going down stairs in his hotel, fell and suffered a severe injury to the base of the spinal column. For some time he was unconscious. He was brought to his home in Beaver and yesterday underwent an operation at the hands of four physicians, who removed a piece of bone at the base of the spinal column. He is resting easier today.

VICEROY CURZON IS GIVEN VACATION

SIMLA, INDIA, Aug. 4.—Viceroy Curzon informed the council at today's sitting, that he had decided to accept the government's offer of an extension of his term of office, with permission to take a vacation in England in 1904, should he so desire. Lord Curzon said he was fully aware of the strain on his health and spirits, and the fact that only two viceroys in the last 50 years had stayed in office beyond five years.

MONONGAHELA, PA., Aug. 4.—(Special.)—Intense interest is manifested in a prize baby show to be held Thursday afternoon on the lawn of the Friday Conversational club's grounds. The prizes are offered by three confirmed bachelors who were regarded as blind to infant loveliness. F. K. Alexander, banker, will give a prize for the cutest baby; C. D. Borland, shoe dealer, for the prettiest, and Morton Black, accountant, for the fattest. The baby receiving the highest number of votes in its class will win the prize. The babies in cabs will be ranged in a row on the club's lawn.

A BADLY WANTED MAN TERRORIZES THE TOWN

Frank Allen Recaptured After Giving Apollo Residents an Exciting Hour.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

APOLLO, PA., Aug. 4.—(Special.)—After terrorizing the town for over an hour, during which residents were driven to seek shelter in their homes for fear of being killed, Frank Allen, an escaped prisoner, was captured by local officers late Monday night. Allen is in jail at Greensburg, but before he was captured he took possession of the town and drove everybody off the streets, through which he marched like a walking arsenal and defying anyone to attempt to arrest him.

That no one was killed was due to the fact that Apollo residents gave Allen the right of way, and while he lasted he owned the town. On the 4th of July Allen was arrested after an encounter with the officers. It is alleged he celebrated Independence Day by bombarding his neighbor's house, through which he fired several shots. He was taken before Justice Alcorn at West Apollo and held for court trial at Greensburg. While arrangements were being made to take him to Greensburg he escaped from the lockup and nothing further was heard of him until Monday night when he arrived on a train, badly intoxicated and displaying several revolvers with which he rapidly cleared the station and streets.

Preparations for a man hunt were made by Officers John Kennedy, Joseph McGuire and Constables Allen. In the meantime Allen went to his home and secured his rifle and then turned to the streets, driving everybody indoors. The officers, after securing shotguns, made a detour to head off Allen. About half an hour later, and while the officers were concealed in a clump of bushes, Allen came along firing his weapons right and left. Suddenly the officers sprang out upon him and he was so taken back by finding shotguns shoved into his face that he dropped his weapons and surrendered without a struggle. Allen was then taken to the lockup and a guard placed over him till this morning, when he was removed to the jail at Greensburg.

Strike Threatened at Canton.

CANTON, O., Aug. 4.—(Special.)—The vice president of the Amalgamated association and a number of other union officials from the Pittsburgh headquarters, were in the city today in an effort to settle some difficulties between the steel workers and the Stark rolling mill officials. Unless some agreement is reached in a short time a strike will be declared. The men, to the number of 400, refused to go to work this morning. Rather than yield to the demands of the union, the officials of the company say they will close down the plant.

Wagon Driver Killed.

CANTON, O., Aug. 4.—(Special.)—Louis Weaver, better known as "Deacon," was run down and killed by a Pennsylvania passenger train this morning.

FATAL KNIFE DUEL IS FOUGHT IN MINE

Husband, Who Resented Boarder's Attention to His Wife, Got Worst of Battle.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

JOHNSTOWN, PA., Aug. 4.—In a dark heading of Berwind mine No. 32, at Windber, this morning Steven Mock and another man, whose name is unknown to the police, fought a terrible battle with knives. The cause of the fight is unknown, but it is alleged that Mock resented the other man's attentions to his wife. The heading in which the affray took place is some distance from where the other miners were working, and not until the unknown man succeeded in getting the best of Mock and fled, did the other men know anything about it.

Mock's right ear was cut off, his abdomen slashed and his head cut open in several places. After the fight the unknown man fled from the mine.

Flobert Rifle Victim Dying.

GREENSBURG, PA., Aug. 4.—(Special.)—Frank Holby, the young son of John Holby, a farmer of Derry township, is dying from a wound in the back made by a flobert rifle. In company with Samuel Neil he started hunting. Neil carried the rifle and in going through a thicket the gun caught on a twig and the hammer was released. The ball struck young Holby in the elbow but was deflected, lodging near the spine. Partial paralysis of the right side has set in.

Child-Wife Given to Husband.

WILKESBARRE, PA., Aug. 4.—(Special.)—Mary Ann Davis, who ran away a few weeks ago with Homolo Master Onzi and married, was today allowed by the court to go to her husband, and he, after being in jail for abduction, was discharged. The girl will not be 13 years old until October. But she is large for her age, and when she was married in Binghamton declared she was 18. The court held that she was legally married.

Refused Salvation Army Offer.

POTTSVILLE, PA., Aug. 4.—(Special.)—Assistant United States Treasurer Leib of Philadelphia, who was here today looking after his Republican county chairmanship duties, was waited upon by a Salvation Army delegation, who wanted to recruit him. They told Leib that his strenuous methods would make him an ideal Salvation Army worker, but he declined, preferring to fight under Quay's standard.

Temperance Women in Convention.

LATROBE, PA., Aug. 4.—(Special.)—The Intercounty Institute of the Woman's Christian Temperance union of Allegheny, Westmoreland, Cambria, Butler, Fayette, Washington and Indiana counties held the opening session of their annual convention at Ridgeview park today. The convention will be continued all day tomorrow.

Live Wire Kills Pedestrian.

SHENANDOAH, PA., Aug. 4.—While on his way from work this evening Peter Baycosh, aged 21, brushed against a live wire and was killed almost instantly. The wire had been dangling to the ground within a few feet of the busiest crossing in town for upwards of half an hour.

Miss Gannon, Sec'y Detroit Amateur Art Association, tells young women what to do to avoid pain and suffering caused by female troubles.

"I can conscientiously recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to those of my sisters suffering with female weakness and the troubles which so often befall women. I suffered for months with general weakness and felt so weary that I had hard work to keep up. I had shooting pains and was utterly miserable. In my distress I was advised to use Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and it was a red letter day to me when I took the first dose, for at that time my restoration began. In six weeks I was a changed woman, perfectly well in every respect. I felt so elated and happy that I want all women who suffer to get well as I did."—Miss GUILA GANNON, 359 Jones St., Detroit, Corresponding Sec'y Mich. Amateur Art Association. —$5000 forfeit if original of above letter proving genuineness cannot be produced.

It is clearly shown in this young lady's letter that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will surely cure the sufferings of women; and when one considers that Miss Gannon's letter is only one of hundreds which we have, the great virtue of Mrs. Pinkham's medicine must be admitted by all.

Our improved devices for the proper adjustment of glasses universally admitted the most satisfactory.

OUR lace department is conducted on unconventional lines—great quantities and complete assortments are freely shown on counters for easy selection, instead of the goods being wrapped and tucked away on shelves, as if they were luxuries. One of the secrets of our immense lace business is that these assortments on the counter are continually changed; goods are sold so quickly that they never have a chance to be pigeon-holed on the shelves.

Variety and elegance are the keynotes of today's lace display. The prettiest effects imaginable in hand-made linen Cluny laces for making garnitures for summer costumes, table covers, bed spreads, etc. Hundreds of new and artistic designs in wheels, squares, circles, Paraguay designs, etc., widths 2 to 5 in., white and Arabian shades, at yd., 15c, 48c, 39c, 25c and 19c

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

CHICAGO, Aug. 4.—Pittsburgh fell before the Microbes again this afternoon. It was one of the most brilliant games of the season. The score was 1 to 0, Jack Menefee, who is always able to do his best against the champions, pitching a game that the Pirates could not touch. They made but four hits off him, and no two of these were bunched. The locals made but one error, and that was not at all disastrous.

The Pirates played an errorless game and Phillippe twirled in gilt-edged form. He did well enough to have won an ordinary contest, and his backing was ideal. However, the Microbes bunched a couple of drives in the first inning, and these, together with a passed ball, let the run around which won the battle.

Slagle, who was the first Chicagoan to bat, tripled off a single and Casey sacrificed him to second. Capt. Chance came up and slammed out another safe one, which scored Slagle. Chance reached second on Smith's passed ball, but Jones struck out and Evers filled to right.

Not a Pittsburgh player reached second until the fourth. Then when two were out Wagner hit for two bases, but he was left. Bransfield, who followed him, being unable to do anything. Only one other Pirate got as far as second. This was Ritchey in the eighth inning, who led off with a single. A sacrifice by Kruger sent him to second, but both Smith and Menefee struck out in order.

The locals had a chance to tally in the third when Menefee started things by a single, but Slagle, Casey and Chance fell easy victims to the skill of Phillippe. The Pittsburgh pitcher took care of the more dreaded ones when they bunched, and after the first inning he gave but three hits, five being made off him altogether. Kling, who batted first in the fifth inning, stole second, but he was caught at third on Slagle's choice, while Tinker and Menfee were easy outs.

Slagle got as far as second in the eighth, when he reached base on balls. Smith's pass-ball gave him the second sack, but he became too anxious, and when Chance was batting he could not wait, but started to pilfer third. He was out by a yard and Chance said something under his breath.

Manager Selee was radiant after the game. "That looked to be easy enough," he said. "I don't see why we cannot do the same thing during the remainder of the series. Only Pittsburgh. The boys certainly get around the field when they are up against the champions." The score:

BRAVED BAD STORM.

Mrs. Wilhelm Drives Fifteen Miles so That Husband Might Join the Pirates.

WOOSTER, O., Aug. 4.—(Special.)—Irve Wilhelm, pitcher for the Pirates, left here at noon for Chicago to join the team, on a telegram from Manager Clarke. Wilhelm has been spending his time at his home, and late yesterday afternoon started for an outing 15 miles from the city. Mrs. Wilhelm, who is as greatly interested in the success of the team as in that from which pitcher winning fall and he hand when he is wanted, hired a conveyance, and in spite of a heavy thunder storm started to overtake her husband, but without success.

She was forced to seek shelter from the storm and when those with whom she stopped tried to prevail upon her to remain until morning she refused to do so, and when the storm abated again took up her journey, finally arriving at the camp, where she delivered her message. Mr. and Mrs. Wilhelm made a furious drive to the city, hoping to catch a train due here at an early hour, but the train was on time and they were a few minutes late, being forced to wait until 11:03 today. Wilhelm said on taking the train that he was never in better form and believed that he was in for a season of winning games.

FINE PRACTICE RACE.

Shamrock's Skippers Had a Lively Tilt for Honors.

HIGHLANDS, N. J., Aug. 4.—Capt. Wringe of Shamrock III. and Capt. Bavis of Shamrock I. got into a hot contest in today's race of the two boats off Scotland Lightship and the masterly fashion in which the clever skippers handled the big racers delighted Sir Thomas Lipton and Capt. McKinstry of the Teutonic and Capt. Bertram F. Hayes of the Arabia, his guests, as well as all the Erin's company.

During the last 15 minutes of the run Shamrock I. carried no spinnaker, relying upon her head sails instead, which she may have lost time, but the challenger had outrun her handily before the old boat reduced sail. It was one of the prettiest races yet sailed by the Shamrocks and gave evidence of the keen rivalry between the two skippers and proof that the challenger's victories are won without favoritism and solely on her merits.

WANTS ALL TITLES.

Ivor Lawson Has a Big Job Ahead of Him.

NEW YORK, Aug. 4.—(Special.)—Ivor Lawson makes the bold statement that he expects to win every short distance championship of America before he sails for Australia next month. His winning of Saturday over Frank Kramer gave him the one mile title, but there are several more he will have to win at differ ent distances before his boast is made good.

The next trial will be at one-third mile next Saturday, and gives promise of being the hardest yet in Lawson's long racing career. He will be pitted against not only Kramer and the regular field, but Willie Fenn and Floyd McFarland, who have beaten the two leaders several times of late. The two little riders have declared themselves as candidates for the race, and will put in the whole of the present week training.

Jockey Ryan Dies of Broken Back.

CHICAGO, Aug. 4.—(Special.)—Willie Ryan, the jockey, died today after lying at the Englewood hospital for several weeks with a broken back. Ryan was found unconscious near Sixty-second street. At the hospital Ryan was identified by a telephone address in his pocket. A call at that number brought to the hospital Miss Harriet Paine. She identified Ryan as a jockey whom she had met at Washington park track and to whom she promised to give assistance.

ATTEMPTED DOPE ACT.

C. A. C. Player Wanted to Put Johnstown Out of Business.

JOHNSTOWN, PA., Aug. 4.—(Special.)—Johnstown baseball enthusiasts are considerably aroused over a story which came to light today. The Carnegie Athletic club of Braddock played the Johnstown team here last Saturday. According to the captain of the Carnegie club, who gave the facts to Neal Doherty, one of the Carnegie men, was so desirous to win that he secured a vial containing a drug calculated to put the Johnstown players out of the business.

Warned by the player the captain was on the alert and prevented the man from carrying out his scheme. It is said that the man will be released by the Carnegie club.

COLLINS STILL THE WESTERN CHAMPION

CHICAGO, Aug. 4.—Kreigh Collins successfully defended his title of western tennis champion today, in his match with A. C. Snow, winner of the Kenwood tournament. The two sets postponed from yesterday were played today, and went to Collins, 7-5, 6-4. The first set was won yesterday by Collins, 6-0.

Washington Team Was Shut Out.

WASHINGTON, PA., Aug. 4.—(Special.)—The Washington baseball team went down to defeat this afternoon at the hands of the Waynesburg team by the decisive score of 10 to 0. "Kid" Williams, the Altoona boy, was on the rubber for the visitors and had the home team at his mercy, giving but four hits. Healey was in the box for the home team and was hit hard, being relieved in the ninth inning by Ridgely. Ganier, Kenner and Montgomery were the stars for the visitors, while Collins played a good game for the locals. The game was a pretty contest up until the ninth inning when the visitors jumped on Healey and batted him out of the box, scoring five times. Score:

										R.	H.	E.
Waynesburg	0	1	0	0	0	3	0	1	5	—10	12	1

R. DOHERTY DEFAULTS, BUT BROTHER BEATS R. WRENN

English Get Commanding Start in International Tennis Tournament at Boston.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

BOSTON, Aug. 4.—A default of one of the British players and a decisive defeat for one of the American contestants, made the first day's play for the international lawn tennis challenge cup, at the Longwood Cricket club today, not only dull but disappointing. The result, however, leaves each team with one point in the total of five, so that the next three contests cannot fail to be interesting. Three thousand lovers of the game were present on the grounds. When it was announced that R. F. Doherty had given up his match with W. A. Larned because of a strained shoulder, they sat in the drizzling rain and waited for the other brother, H. L. Doherty, defeated the American player, R. D. Wrenn, in straight sets, 6-0, 6-3, 6-4.

The British team had the option of playing its spare man, H. S. Mahoney, in the place of R. F. Doherty, but this would have necessitated his playing also in the second series of singles on Thursday, by which time it is expected the elder Doherty will be in shape again.

Under the conditions governing the contest the British team was obliged at 5 o'clock on Thursday to name the men for the doubles tomorrow and the Doherty brothers were submitted. There is also a provision in case one of the team is disabled another member may take his place, so it is possible Mahony may be substituted for R. F. Doherty the last minute before the match tomorrow.

The result of the match tomorrow in view of each team's having scored one point today will not decide the fate of the cup, so that the two contests in singles on Thursday undoubtedly will prove the chief attraction of the week.

In the match between H. L. Doherty and R. D. Wrenn, the American player won the toss and chose to serve. He lost the first point by a drive out of court. Doherty followed this with a net, and after each had netted again Doherty won the game through a double fault by Wrenn and another net. After this Wrenn's only bright episode was about much of his famed brilliancy in passing Wrenn repeatedly at the net or cross-courting him. Doherty won the next five games in rapid succession and took the set, six games to love. When Wrenn finally began to show his entire set, seven of these being on errors by his opponent.

Wrenn showed more strength in the net set, although Doherty won two games before the American got his first point. He netted on this side of the mark post. In this set, which he won 6-3, he passed Wrenn 15 times and scored a total of 29 points to 21 for his opponent. All this while Wrenn was failing repeatedly, although not very hard, and it looked before the third set started as if the match might go over until tomorrow. But the players kept on despite the slippery court.

In the third set at times played brilliantly and several of the games reached deuce. Doherty, however, placed three games to his credit before he allowed the American player a chance to score. With the set four games to one, Wrenn made a grand rally in the sixth game, and after deuce had been called twice he won out through two fine placed shots which brought the spectators to their feet for the first and only time in the afternoon. The next game, however, went to Doherty and the set was five games to two. Then came another rally by Wrenn, who won the next two games, principally through well placed shots.

Doherty, however, quickly regained his form and captured the set and match by a couple of cross-court shots. The points scored were as follows: First set:

H. L. Doherty	4	4	4	4	4	6—26	6
R. D. Wrenn	2	2	0	0	2	4—10	0

Second set:

H. L. Doherty	4	4	1	4	2	4	2	4	4—29	6
R. D. Wrenn	2	2	4	1	4	1	4	2	1—21	3

Third set:

Doherty	4	5	6	3	4	4	4	1	1	4—36	6
Wrenn	1	3	4	5	0	6	2	4	4	2—31	4

In the entire match Doherty scored 44 on places, 22 on nets, 21 on outs and 4 on double faults, while Wrenn scored 28 on places, 24 on nets, 14 on outs and no double faults. A total of 91 for Doherty to 62 for Wrenn.

DEAF MUTES GATHER FOR CONVENTION

JOHNSTOWN, PA., Aug. 4.—(Special.)—The seventeenth annual convention of the Pennsylvania Society for the Advancement of the Deaf will open here tomorrow morning with about 300 delegates in attendance. A number of the delegates, including President B. R. Allabough of Wilkinsburg, William Burt, principal of the Western Pennsylvania Institution for the Deaf, and George Lifegarden, arrived tonight.

AFTER AUTO RACES.

Pittsburgh Wants the Events and Offers Good Places to Hold Them.

NEW YORK, Aug. 4.—(Special.)—Cleveland is not to get the October endurance run without a struggle. Pittsburgh is to make a big bid for it. W. L. Smith, president of the Pittsburgh Auto club, is in town to present the claims of the Smoky City clubmen. Mr. Smith will appear before the meeting of the technical committee of the National Association of Automobile Manufacturers Wednesday.

It is understood that the Brunots Island track has been offered free for the contemplated racing tournament, and that the city of Pittsburgh will also use of a mile and half of park boulevard for the straightaway trial that is proposed. The committee is to consider the offers of the rival cities and pass upon the proposed rules Wednesday.

PHILLIPPE IN BAD SHAPE.

Pirates' Star Pitcher Coming Home to Consult His Physician.

CHICAGO, Aug. 4.—(Special.)—Pitcher Phillipe of the Pittsburgh team left tonight for the Smoky City and the Pirates expect to known within 48 hours whether the star twirler will be able to go east with the team.

Phillippe suffered from the assertion that was necessary to hold Chicago down to one run, but believes that with proper treatment he can get rid of the pain that bothered him ever since he was hurt on July 4. He will be guided by what his doctors advise him to do.

MISS ANTHONY IS ERRATIC, BUT WINS

CHICAGO, Aug. 4.—After an exceedingly uphill fight in the first round for the Glenview cup in the women's open tournament at Glenview today, Miss Bessie Anthony finally won her match with Mrs. Brewer, 3 up and 2 to play. Miss Anthony was 2 down at the second hole, but managed to recover in time to make the match all square at the turn. Her play on the whole was decidedly erratic, and nowhere near her usual standard.

Erie Races Spoiled By Rain.

ERIE, PA., Aug. 4.—(Special.)—Six hours' rain early this morning softened the track and made necessary the postponement of the first day's races of the local meet of the Lake Erie trotting circle. Today's program will be run tomorrow and the other events will be put over a day.

The Opening Race Meet.

The opening meeting of the Monongahela Valley Driving Park association will be held at Monongahela on the 25th, 26th, 27th and 28th of this month, and there promises to be some first-class sport. The association has hung up liberal purses and the entry list will be very large.

STAMPING GROUND WON THE ALABAMA STAKE

Winner Was a 20-to-1 Shot in the Betting—Track Was in Bad Condition.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

SARATOGA, Aug. 4.—Conditions for racing were very unfavorable today. A great deal of rain fell last night and it continued to drizzle throughout the day, rendering the track inches deep in mud. The Alabama stakes of $5,000 at a mile and a' sixteenth, however, was run on the turf. B. Doctor's Stamping Ground, at as good as 20 to 1, ridden by Jockey Fuller, captured the stakes, with Orsvina second and Astoria third.

William C. Whitney's pair of 3-year-old fillies, Girdle and Judith Campbell, who went to the post favorites at 11 to 5, finished in the rear. B. Haggin's Ada Nay, who had been well liked by her backers, was well up, but could not take the show money from Astoria. Summaries:

First race, 5½ furlongs—Memories, 100, O'Neil, 12 to 1 and 4 to 1, won; Stalwart, 112, J. Burns, 3 to 1 and even, second; Dashing Lad, 116, Odom, 3 to 1 and even, third. Time, 1:10 2-5.

Second race, selling, mile—Rostand, 101, Fuller, 9 to 10 and 1 to 5, won; Tony Bell, 106, O'Neil, even and out, second; Dinkels, 88, McCafferty, 50 to 1 and 20 to 1, third. Time, 1:44 3-5.

Third race, 5½ furlongs—Bohaldi, 112, G. Williams, 6 to 1 and 6 to 5, won; Minosia, 100, Stonebridge, 7 to 10 and out, second; Glad Tidings, 109, Olandt, 8 to 1 and 4 to 5, third. Time, 1:10 3-5.

Fourth race, the Alabama, 8½ furlongs on turf—Stamping Ground, 116, Fuller, 15 to 1 and 6 to 1, won; Gravina, 116, H. Cochran, 10 to 1 and 4 to 1, second; Astarita, 124, Hicks, 4 to 1 and 7 to 5, third. Time, 1:54 4-5.

Fifth race, selling, 6 furlongs—King Pepper, 103, Fuller, 9 to 10 and out, won; Yardarm, 108, Rice, 8 to 5 and 2 to 5, second; Birch Broom, 103, Johnson, 5 to 1 and even, third. Time, 1:16 4-5.

Sixth race, mile, for 3-year-olds—Gimerack, 100, Gannon, 7 to 5 and out, won; High Chancellor, 103, O'Neil, 7 to 5 and out, second; Dramatist, 103, Hoar, 10 to 1 and 4 to 1, third. Time, 1:45 4-5.

WON BY BONDAGE.

Had to Stretch His Neck to Beat Bragg a Head.

CHICAGO, Aug. 4.—Bondage, backed from 3 to 1 to 3 to 2, won the 1½ mile handicap at Harlem today. The Arthur colt, however, had to stretch his neck to beat Bragg a head in a desperate drive, which lasted the full length of the stretch. Lucian Appleby, almost invincible last year in the mud, quit cold in the last eighth and finished in third place three lengths back of Bragg. Hermenda was the only other starter, Harris and Beeler-McCarthy being scratched. With the exception of the fourth race, which was won by the favorite, Aladdin, the other events went to long shots and second choices. Weather cloudy and cool, track slow. Summary:

First race, 5 furlongs—Eva Clair, 112, Waterbury, 17 to 1, won; Justine Morel, 109, Wonderly, 20 to 1, second; Codex, 103, W. Waldo, 8 to 1, third. Time, 1:07 3-5.

Second race, 6 furlongs—Oconto, 105, L. Wilson, 7 to 1, won; Cypress, 97, Helgesen, 15 to 1, second; Sylvia Talbot, 102, H. Phillips, 7 to 10, third. Time, 1:18 3-5.

Third race, 1⅛ miles—Bondage, 99, Robbins, 3 to 2, won; Bragg, 107, Helgesen, 5 to 2, second; Lucian Appleby, 112, Gray, 13 to 5, third. Time, 2:01 3-5.

Fourth race, mile and 70 yards—Aladdin, 100, Helgesen, 11 to 10, won; Mamselle, 87, W. Knapp, 25 to 1, second; Laurallghter, 96, Stiltz, 3 to 5, third. Time, 1:53.

Fifth race, 5½ furlongs—Borgo, 95, Spencer, 10 to 1, won; Glisten, 84, H. Phillips, 2 to 1, second; Banwell, 103, Otis, 40 to 1, third. Time, 1:13 3-5.

Sixth race, mile and 100 yards—C. B. Campbell, 102, L. Wilson, 4 to 1, won; Larry Witt, 108, Waldo, 15 to 1, second; Lady Matchless, 98, S. Bonner, 10 to 1, third. Time, 1:55.

ALLEGHENY MAN LOST LEG FIGHTING POLICE

Spectator Assisting Officers Pulls E. B. Colley's Artificial Limb Off and Gets Painful Fall as the Result.

Several hundred people witnessed a fight the Allegheny police had last night while arresting E. B. Colley, president of the Colley Novelty Company, that operates slot machines in the two cities, and one spectator was painfully bruised in endeavoring to assist the officers.

Colley went out driving with a fast horse last night and traveled over the principal thoroughfares of the city at a pace that started the police after him. At North avenue and Federal street the rig collided with a street car, and the horse was thrown to the ground. Officer Thomas Hardy finally captured the horse at Montgomery avenue and West Diamond street and started to take Colley to Central station. The man, who is powerfully built, put up a fight, and Officer John Kerr went to the assistance of Hardy. It is only two blocks to City hall, but Colley fought the officers every inch of the way.

By this time several hundred people had been attracted and followed the struggling trio. When the prisoner was landed at the top of the stone stairs that lead to the lock-up, he fought so desperately that both officers were compelled to use their maces. Colley sat down on the top step and refused to move. At the request of Officer Kerr one of the spectators got hold of one of Colley's feet and started to drag him downstairs. Suddenly the man shot backward and fell headlong to the stone pavement at the foot of the stairs. He carried with him in his hand Colley's cork leg that had been torn from its fastenings. This was the first the crowd knew of the artificial limb, and although the willing spectator was painfully injured the crowd laughed. Colley was finally locked up and will be given a hearing this morning.

BYERS IS PICKED AS A CONTENDER

Knowing Ones Think He Will Be Up at Finish for Western Amateur Championship.

CRACKS WIN FIRST ROUNDS

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

CLEVELAND, O., Aug. 4.—The first day of the western amateur golf championship opened with anything but good weather for golf. A cold, steady wind blowing off Lake Erie added to a steady drizzle of rain, made golfing difficult and uncomfortable. Twenty-two pairs contested, the rest of the 64 drawing byes. On Wednesday 32 pairs will contest.

The day was not filled with anything exciting, the favorites all winning. Louis James, the United States champion, had drawn a bye and rested. H. Chandler Egan, the present western champion, put up one of the best contests of the day, defeating R. Deming of Cleveland 5 up and 4 to go. Walter Egan, his cousin, also put up a strong game, beating H. W. Fraser, one of Toledo's best golfers, in a handy manner. E. M. Byers of Allegheny, runner up to James last year, is putting up a remarkably steady game and won his contest with ease.

Today's play resulted in a thinning out and all is now ready for the first real day of play. Louis James drew R. A. Mead, who is expected to give him a little trouble. H. Chandler Egan also has an easy contest

PLEDGED THEIR LOYALTY TO POPE

American Confederation of Catholic Societies Pleased at Cardinals' Selection.

CONVENTION WORKING HARD

Numerous Resolutions Were Acted Upon Yesterday at the Session at Atlantic City—Election Will Be Held This Afternoon.

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Young's Ocean Pier.
ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Aug. 4.

On receipt of the news of Cardinal Sarto's election as pope, the American Federation of Catholic Societies, now in session here, immediately telegraphed to the apostolic delegate at Washington, D. Falconio, for confirmation of the news. He wired back that Cardinal Sarto had been chosen by the cardinals. There was great enthusiasm displayed when the announcement of the election was made to the convention. A committee was named to cable the congratulations and expressions of loyalty of the American Federation of Catholic Societies to the newly elected holy father. Several resolutions of importance were adopted by the convention this morning. The first resolution was one of respect to the memory of the late pontiff, Leo XIII., and expressing a sense of grateful appreciation to the national officials, the press and the non-Catholic fellow citizens for their words of reverence for the departed pontiff and sympathy with ourselves. The second resolution was against the infringement of the right belonging to the Roman church. The seizing of the sovereignty of the papal see, and praying to the Almighty to restore, in his own good time, the Roman pontiff, to an absolute and full independence of any civil government. The third resolution was one condemning socialism and calling upon all Catholics to lend every effort in support of the suppression of the evil, and also indorsing the endeavors of workingmen to better their material condition and prosperity by the formation of trades unions. Another resolution was passed, deploring the laxity of laws relating to divorce and calling upon Catholics to endeavor to have laws enacted that would uphold the dignity of the marriage state and make it extremely difficult to obtain divorces. The election of officers is expected to take place late tomorrow afternoon. St. Louis is so far the only place that has been named for the meeting place next year. There is so much business to be transacted that it is expected that a session will have to be held tomorrow morning to finish up.

Beach Patrol Drowned.

Ex-Capt. Charles Lake of the Atlantic City beach patrol was drowned this morning in the inlet opposite the Royal Palace hotel. He had taken two boys in the lifeboat, which moved through the water opposite the end of Pacific avenue. The three landed and the boat drifted away from the bar with the rising tide. Lake started to swim after the boat, which moved through the water faster than he could swim. He was seen to throw up his hands, turn on his back and disappear beneath the water. Several persons rushed to boats and went out to where he had gone down, but found no trace of him. Capt. Timothy Parker and his crew from the Atlantic City life-saving station went out and assisted in dragging the channel for the body, but it could not be found. The swiftly running flood tide had carried it up into the inlet, where it will probably be found when the tide falls. Lake was one of the most reliable members of the beach patrol. Appointed with the original paid life savers in 1891, he has been in service every season since, acting for many years at the head of the life guards. He succeeded William B. Dennis as captain of the beach patrol and last year was a co-worker with Capt. Rutter as the head of the force.

PRESIDENT ARRESTED.

Club Official Must Answer Charges of Illegal Liquor Selling.

William A. Arbogast, president of the Alexander Hamilton Republican club of East Diamond street, Allegheny, was arrested last night on the South Side on charges of illegal liquor selling and selling liquor on Sunday. The bail is fixed in each case at $1,000.

William P. Arbogast, a son of the president, and E. O. Barker, a vice president of the club, are each under bail for a hearing on Tuesday afternoon next on similar charges.

CONFESSED MURDER OF A LITTLE GIRL

LEWISTON, IDAHO, Aug. 4.—William Hamilton, aged 24 years, confessed this morning to the murder and mutilation of Mabel Richards, 11 years old, whose body was found near Asotine yesterday. The child was waylaid by Hamilton while en route to Sunday school. Hamilton is in jail at Asotin. In all probability he will be lynched, as hundreds of people are reported to be assembling in the town. The dead girl was a daughter of Sheriff Richards of Asotin county. Hamilton is a farmer.

Women Engage in Cutting Scrape.

A cutting scrape occurred last night at No. 208 Grant street. Jennie Gardner and Kate Murray, it is alleged, got into a quarrel in the house and went outside to settle the difference, when it is alleged, the Murray girl drew a pocket knife and stabbed the other girl in the side. Both were arrested.

Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher. The Kind You Have Always Bought

SOCIETY

THE wedding of Miss May Margaret Malone and Frank Van Dusen, Jr., takes place today. It will be a quiet home wedding at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. Malone of Bedford avenue. There will be no attendants. The Rev. Father Ryan of St. Brigid's Roman Catholic church will officiate. After the ceremony Mr. Van Dusen and his bride will leave for a trip of about three weeks' length. Then will go first to New York, later visiting Newport and stopping for a time with the parents of the bridegroom in West Yarmouth, where they have a summer cottage. Miss Malone will be wedded in a light gray traveling suit. Sidney Van Dusen, a brother of the bridegroom, who has been away for some time on a business trip to Indian territory, returned yesterday morning and will be present at the wedding.

Tomorrow Miss Lydia Mendel becomes the bride of Harry Hunter. Both are well known and popular young people of Allegheny. A number of social affairs have been given in Miss Mendel's honor since her engagement was announced. One of these was a linen shower at which Miss Selma Mendel and Miss Clara Hunter were joint hostesses. Miss Mendel and Miss Hunter will both act as bridesmaids.

York—Huttner.

About 800 guests attended the wedding of Miss Jennie Esther York and Samuel J. Huttner, which was solemnized last evening in the South Highland Auditorium. Miss Julia York was honor maid and Miss Belle Haupt, Miss Flora Klein, Miss Sadie Diamond, Miss Yetta Srolowitz, Miss Lillian Huttner and Miss Sadie Huttner, were the bridesmaids. Mr. Huttner's best man was A. Phillip York, a brother of the bride. Completing the bridal company were the ushers, Louis Alpern, Jacob Davis, Maurice Brown, Louis Avner, Samuel Engleman, Alexander Little, William Browarsky, Alexander Addleman, Samuel Marcus and Isaac Shenkam. The bride was gowned in white mousseline over silk, with trimmings of duchess lace and chiffon. Her flowers were roses and lilies of the valley, while her only ornament was a diamond brooch, the gift of the bridegroom. Miss York, the maid of honor, wore a gown of green with garniture of point lace, and carried white roses, held together with chiffon. The six bridesmaids were in white chiffon gowns and carried pink and white roses. Taking their places in the bridal train as flower maids were Frances Diamond, Leonah York, Minnie York and Maud York. Each maid appeared in white and carried baskets of sweet peas, which were thrown in the path of the bride. Rabbi Michael Fried of the Tree of Life synagogue, assisted by the Rev. M. A. Aller, officiated. The ceremony took place in the ballroom of the auditorium, the bridal party forming in the parlor on the second floor and marching through an aisle of palms to the flowered canopy under which the service was read. Carnations and roses were the principal blossoms used. These were arranged on the green canopy and the supper tables. Supper was served in the dining room, where 40 tables had been placed. Mr. and Mrs. Huttner have gone on an eastern wedding trip after which they will be at home in Carnegie, where the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph York, reside.

Treasurer—D. G. Donovan.

Off for Europe.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry J. Bailey and Miss Edith Bailey of Aiken avenue and Mrs. Alfred E. Clarke left Pittsburgh yesterday morning for New York. From New York they will sail tomorrow on the von Moltke for Europe. Hamburg will be the first stopping place. They will remain abroad about two months, the greater part of the time being spent in Norway and Sweden. Mrs. Clarke has crossed the ocean several times and has traveled on the continent extensively. Her Stanton avenue home is filled with curios which she from time to time has collected on her journeys. The Bailey party had made plans to sail earlier in the season, but the trip was postponed till after the wedding of Miss Laura Broadhead Rinehart and Dr. James K. M. Perrine, at which Miss Bailey was one of the bridesmaids. Dr. and Mrs. Perrine have returned from their wedding trip and are now at home with Mrs. Perrine's parents, Dr. and Mrs. Clarence C. Rinehart, of Center avenue.

Yankanuck Club Gets Away Today.

The Yankanuck club, composed of a number of well known Pittsburghers, leaves today for Yankanuck island in the Georgian bay district. Yankanuck is only eight miles distant from the camp of the Iron City Fishing club which left on Monday. In the Yankanuck party are the following, many of whom will be accompanied by their families: W. S. Brown, Charles W. Gerwig, Ralph Overholt, the Hon. William H. Graham, William A. Dinker, Talbott C. Graham, Edward V. Babcock, Frederick R. Babcock, E. R. Dowler, Thomas Ward, Robert M. Holland, Edwin R. Kopp, Dr. J. Guy McCandless, Guy P. McCandless, Stephen Stone, Col. W. T. Lindsay, Clyde Overholt and William T. Graham.

A Morning Wedding.

Miss Nellie Katherine Dolan and George Matthias Reinhardt were married yesterday morning at St. Mary's Roman Catholic church, Lawrenceville. The Rev. Father F. L. Tobin was the officiating priest. The bride's only attendant was Miss May F. Tobin, a sister. J. C. W. Roseler acted as best man. The bride appeared in white crepe with a large white picture hat trimmed in chiffon and plumes. A shower of roses and sweet peas formed the bridal bouquet. American Beauty roses were carried by the honor maid, who was gowned in white organdie and who also wore a large hat. Mr. and Mrs. Reinhardt will reside in the East End on their return from their wedding trip to the great lakes.

Field Day at the Playground.

Today has been set apart as field day at the South Side summer school and playground. Mrs. Samuel S. Miller is in charge of this school and will today be assisted by Miss Beulah Kennard and Mrs. Samuel A. Ammon. An interesting program has been arranged, consisting of athletic contests and games. The work done by the children will also be on exhibition. No child over 16 years of age will be permitted to take part in the sports. Many business men of the South Side will be present and Controller John B. Larkin and Mayor William B. Hays have accepted an invitation to be the guests of the pupils.

Church Lawn Fete.

The ladies of St. James' Roman Catholic church, Sewickley, are making elaborate preparations for the lawn fete to be held on the parish lawn tomorrow evening. Dinner will be served, for which 750 tickets have already been sold, and there will be other booths, with an orchestra, open-air minstrels, etc., as attractions. The proceeds are to fit the church with steam heat. The new organ donated by Andrew Carnegie, which is being placed in the church this week, will also be operated by steam power.

Breakfast at Mosscroft.

Mrs. John Hawarth of "Mosscroft," Edgeworth, entertained with a breakfast yesterday morning for Mrs. George A. Gormley's guests, Sir Colin and Lady Scott Moncrieff, their daughter, Miss Lucy Scott Moncrieff, and Mrs. Hilda Leebehm, all of London, England. There were 10 at the breakfast. The table was decorated with sweet peas, carnations and ferns.

Going to the Argonaut Club.

Mr. and Mrs. William Kates, Miss Eva Kates, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Heineman and Mr. and Mrs. Henry J. Lotz, left the city yesterday to join the Argonaut club of which they are members, which has a large club house on the Indian river, Mich. The club is composed of about 50 Pittsburgh and Allegheny people who have summered on the Indian river for several years past.

Braun—Russ.

Miss Hilada Braun, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Braun of Sciota street, East End, and Charles Russ, were quietly married at the home of the bride yesterday. The Rt. Rev. Bishop Canevin performed the ceremony, the bride and bridegroom leaving immediately after for a short trip. They will go to housekeeping in Ivanhoe street.

Pleasant Birthday Celebration.

William L. Rogaliner of Fayette street, Allegheny, was host at a very pleasant birthday party last evening. About 50 guests were present, a number of them coming out of town. Refreshments were served and a most enjoyable evening was spent.

At Victoria Point.

The Misses Kroff of Penn avenue will leave shortly for Victoria Point, where they will join a party of Pittsburghers who left yesterday, in the party are Mrs. L. C. Kleber and Henry Moser.

Social Notes.

The Qui Vive club holds its third summer dance at Kennywood park this evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Christian Borner of Carson street left yesterday for an extended trip through the west.

Henry J. O'Bryan of Denver, who has been the guest of J. D. O'Bryan, returns to his western home today.

The Misses Gahon entertained informally at their home on Hill street, Sewickley, last evening in honor of their cousin and house-guest, Miss Katharine Gahon of McGregor, Ia.

Mr. and Mrs. D. E. McNary of Cross Creek township, Washington county, have issued dainty little cards announcing their golden wedding celebration, to be held August 11 at their home.

The Knights of the Maccabees of Sewickley, with their wives and friends, enjoyed a social evening last night in their rooms, during which a brief program was rendered. Refreshments were served by the ladies.

Women's Corner

Styles in Outing Hats.

The summer girl has a wide choice of vacation headgear. Not for a long time has felt played so large a part in summer millinery.

These felt outing hats are large, light in weight and color, and trimmed very much on the order of straws. In other years a simple band, or at most a quill or two was ample trimming. This year, however, many have a wide scarf of soft silk folded around, sometimes falling in hemstitched or fringed ends behind, sometimes caught up into knots and combined with big white wings or entire birds.

For shapes there are large round sailors, soft crowns and rolling brims, rounded crowns with brims caught quite up to the side of the crown, and a small sugar-loaf crown with an uneven brim turned up oddly somewhat after the tricorne shape. This model comes in all light shades and black.

Stitched cloth hats, in chamois and lambskin effects, rank with the felts. Such a hat, the brim stitched with black and trimmed with black wings, is really effective.

Least expensive are the little outing hats of duck—washable hats, they call them. These are mostly in white, and have pretty scarfs of dotted mull for trimming. A good style comes at from a little over a dollar up.

But perhaps the coolest piece of headgear is the linen hat. It is light as a feather, smartly trimmed, and has the brim stitched and interlined to preserve its shape. The color is good—a soft, becoming cream—and the price is reasonable, an attactive little hat of this sort, with dotted linen scarf and white quills, being available at $2. Better sorts range on up beyond the $5 mark.

A stitched linen with wide rolled brim has a boat-shaped crown, surrounded with tiny bows of black velvet, which looks more exclusive than it sounds.

Many of these linens have a wide open mesh, and are virtually first cousin to scrim.

Is This True of Pittsburgh Maidens?

A pessimistic writer in the Washington Star says that the athletic girl of today is a surprise to people who have not been noting her development. She has grown beyond all recognized standards to classical dimensions.

The bootmaker still calls a 4 B shoe his model, exhibits it in his window, and it is a pretty little thing to see. But the athletic girl, who has been brought up in a family where she has had an opportunity to live a healthful, natural life, with plenty of outdoor exercise, laughs at such tiny things.

The athletic girl has brought about an entire change in the hosiery departments of the shops. There was never a time when there were prettier or more extravagant things for women in the cobweb varieties of fine lisle thread and silk. Women wear these expensive things for outdoor sports as well as for dress occasions, but the sizes have developed with the women who wear them. Where 8, 8½ and 9 were worn five years ago, the girl of today wears 9½, 10, 10½, and she would often wear 11, if she could get it.

In the shoe shops there is the same noticeable change. The boots are made to go over the 10 and 10½ silk stockings.

To Help the Cook.

There is no end to the new inventions which are designed to make the life of the cook easier. Among these novelties is a chocolate grater, which uses up every bit of the chocolate, while protecting the hand, and a jelly strainer which sets on a tripod and is adjustable to a kettle of any size. Coffee machines, by which coffee is made at the table, have leaped into popularity. There is a new meat chopper which has a deep, curved blade that gives 11 inches of cut and is warranted to always cut across the meat. As the top is removable the blade can be easily cleaned. The ring mold, which is simply an ice cream mold made in the form of a ring with an open center, is especially popular where a woman has to rely on her own hands for dainty dishes. A cake pan with a bottom that comes off allowing the cake to be taken out easily and a cork extractor which fastens to the wall and holds the bottle while removing the cork are other new kitchen utensils.

Fashion Fancies.

The sleeves show a tendency to recall the old leg o' mutton style, and, no doubt, accompany the full gathered skirt with greater propriety than those of any less voluminous description.

Voiles, stamines, crepe de chine, mohair, canvas—anything that comes in a semi-transparent, open effect, is especially in demand.

Black satin waistband and stocks are quite the rage, and a low wreath-like hat of black silk poppies seems to be an investment which every smart woman has made.

A new trimming idea is to ornament the skirt of one's gown of voile or similar fabric with black velvet ribbon put on in a castellated design, the space between each pattern being filled with tiny black velvet covered studs.

She Had Done It All.

"Yes," says the proud mother, "if I do say it myself, there isn't another girl in society who has been so thoroughly schooled and who has enjoyed so many of the preliminary advantages. She has had the appendicitis, has spent two years in a rest-cure, has gone on six sea trips for exhaustion, has had seven attacks of nervous prostration, has been written up in the papers as about to elope with the coachman, has been proposed to by 10 foreign musicians and eight noblemen have looked her up in the financial agencies. Now that she is about to make her debut I see no reason why she should not become a great favorite, if complete preparation has anything to do with it."—San Francisco Wasp.

Why We Sigh.

Sighing is but another name for oxygen starvation. The cause of sighing is most frequently worry. An interval of several seconds often follows moments of mental quietude, during which time the chest walls remain rigid until the imperious demand is made for oxygen, thus causing the deep inhalation. It is the expiration following the inspiration that is properly termed the sigh, and this sigh is simply an effort of the organism to obtain the necessary supply of oxygen. The remedy is to cease worrying. You may be anxious, but there is no rational reason for anyone worrying. A little philosophy will banish worrying at once. Worry will do you no good; it will rob you of pleasures when blessings do come, as you will not be in a condition to enjoy them.

DEPUTY SHERIFF HAD A ROUGH AND TUMBLE TIME WITH A PRISONER

Deputy Sheriff James Haggerty had a narrow escape from being killed while taking an insane prisoner to the Allegheny County Home at Woodville yesterday afternoon. Amingite Matta, an Italian of Castle Shannon, was arrested several months ago on a charge of carrying concealed weapons. He received a workhouse sentence. While there he became insane. Sheriff William McKinley was notified and he detailed Haggerty to go there and take the prisoner to the county home.

Haggerty brought the prisoner to the Allegheny county jail yesterday afternoon and later boarded a train at the Fourth avenus station for Woodville. As the train was crowded, Haggerty placed the prisoner in one seat and he took another. After the train had gone a short distance a passenger touched the deputy on the shoulder and told him his prisoner had just jumped off the train. Haggerty rushed to the platform and catching a glimpse of the escaping prisoner leaped from the platform. He rolled over and over, down an embankment. Although bruised and stunned by the fall, he gathered himself up and took after the prisoner. He chased him back to the station and out Forbes street to Craft avenue, where he captured his man. The Italian was taken back to jail and later in the day Haggerty boarded another train for Woodville with his prisoner handcuffed to him.

EVIDENCE PILES UP

Oakland Robbers Now Have 12 Cases in Which They Must Appear as Defendants.

Evidence considered sufficient to convict the Walker brothers and Henderson of two more robberies was gathered by the police of No. 4 station last night. This makes 12 robbery cases Inspector Bailey has so far against the Oakland men.

Edward Irwin of No. 333 North Craig street identified an umbrella and neckwear as property stolen when Robert Walker worked for him in the capacity of coachman some time ago. Several small thefts were noted at the time and Walker was finally discharged when caught in the act of taking a $5 bill from a pocketbook. A razor of Irwin's was found on Walker's person at the time.

Edward Denihan, a grocer of Fifth avenue and Robinson street, identified a silver card case and a time savings bank as property taken from his store on July 10. Most of the property which was found in the home of the Walker brothers has been identified as property stolen from a dozen places.

SCHOOL CONTROLLERS ARE REVERSED BY COMMITTEE

Because of no quorum the meeting of the Allegheny board of school controllers was not held last night. The committee on supplies, acting on the authority given them by a clause in the school laws, has ordered a number of books from independent book firms, despite the fact that at the meeting in July the orders were given to Ginn & Co. President David E. Oliver ruled that the adoption of the report of the committee on grades and text books was irregular and for that reason ordered the books that have been used in the schools for years.

DRIVEN INSANE BY HEAT, ATTACKED HIS FAMILY

Affected by the heat of the last few days, William Graham, an employe of the Pressed Steel Car Company, became suddenly insane at his home, No. 209 South avenue, Wilkinsburg, yesterday afternoon and made a savage attack on his family. He shot several times at his wife, but without effect. He was taken to Mercy hospital, where the physician believes his trouble will be only temporary.

August Vacations.

Having this in view the Pennsylvania railroad announces a special seashore excursion on August 13, by special Pullman parlor cars and day coaches, Pittsburgh to Atlantic City, leaving Pittsburgh at 8:55 a. m., due at Atlantic City at 8:35 p. m. Evening trains at 4:50 and 9 o'clock. Sleeping cars through to Atlantic City at 10 p. m. Rate, ten dollars in coaches, or $12 in parlor cars or sleeping cars, good returning by the usual Pullman tickets. The same rate prevails to Cape May, Anglesea, Wildwood, Ocean City, etc.

Seats in parlor cars on day train, or berths in sleeping cars on evening trains, can now be secured at the company's offices, corner Fifth avenue and Smithfield street, and Union station.

DEATH CAME SUDDENLY

Cases for Investigation by the Coroner and His Assistants.

David M. Booth dropped dead near the railroad station in Dravosburg last evening. He was a resident of Dravosburg, 36 years of age and unmarried.

Edward Balsa, aged 25 and married, of Cecil, Pa., died at 7 p. m. at the Mercy hospital of injuries received at 11 o'clock yesterday by falling off a crane while at work near his home.

Robert Harris, a negro known in the workhouse as William Marshall, died there yesterday. He was sent there on March 19 last for two years for burglarly in this county.

Edwin Turner, 2-months-old child of Daniel Turner of No. 114 Fourth street, Aspinwall, died suddenly yesterday of congestion of the brain.

Dony Caballo, aged 25 years and married, was killed when at work in a brick yard, about two miles from West Elizabeth, by some machinery at 6 p. m. yesterday.

THREATEN TO GO TO COURT.

Residents of Talbot Avenue, Braddock, Want Better Traction Service.

Residents of Talbot avenue, Braddock, living east of Eighth street, threaten to go into court and have the franchise of the Pittsburgh Railways Company revoked because of the company's refusal to comply with the ordinance and operate cars.

During week days the cars are run to the end of the line at Thirteenth street, but on Sundays and holidays the cars turn at Rankin and go to Kennywood park. People living in that portion of Talbot avenue are obliged to walk three squares to catch a car. Yesterday they notified the traction company that unless cars were run to the end of the line, on schedule time, they would take the matter to court.

ANOTHER RAID MADE ON THE SLOT MACHINES

The Allegheny county detectives are waging war on the slot machines. Yesterday 17 of them were confiscated and taken to the court house, where they will be destroyed. The persons from whom they were taken will be prosecuted by District Attorney Haymaker. The county detectives have been at work for over a week locating these machines, and yesterday morning they closed down on the establishments. Detective P. J. Morrissey and George Schad took possession of the machines at McKeesport and Millvale, and Robert McMillian and J. W. Reed seized those in McKees Rocks.

The Prevention of Typhoid.

SYRIA TEMPLE'S PICNIC.

Arab Patrol Has Arranged for Twelve Hours of Continuous Fun at Kennywood.

Syria Temple, Ancient Arabic Order of the Nobles of the Mystic Shrine, will hold its third annual outing and picnic in Kennywood park on Wednesday, August 26, "from 12 noon to a finish." As usual it will be under the management of the Arab Patrol of the temple, and as much fun as possible will be crowded into the 12 hours in which the patrol is supreme. There will be dancing to the music of Syria orchestra, a drill by the Arab Patrol and a long list of sports.

The sports begin at 3 o'clock with a heavyweight tub race, the entries being Harry E. Naylor, John Dimling and Cal Reyburn. At 4 o'clock the roughriders' race, with George Moore and Charles T. Moore up will be started. At 5 o'clock there will be a stilt race, the starters announced being H. C. Biethrow, Albert L. Miller, J. J. Metz and Ralph Theophilus. The usual baseball game is on the program. The teams will be known as the "Bachelors" and "the Would-Be-If-They-Could." Herman W. Klein will captain the former and Charles T. Moore the latter. In the evening the Arab Patrol will give its annual exhibition drill, appearing this year in new uniforms from the ground up. The committee having charge of the affair are as follows:

NOT EXPECTED IN PITTSBURGH

Selection of Cardinal Sarto for Pope Was Almost a Surprise in This City.

LITTLE KNOWN IN AMERICA

Position as Patriarch of Venice Did Not Bring Him in Contact With Visiting Clergymen—Opinions of Priests Who Have Met Him.

To say that the Catholics of Pittsburgh were surprised at the selection of a new pope made by the sacred college would hardly be the right expression. The choice was unexpected, but it is traditional in the church that very rarely has the man who seemed to be the most prominent possibility been selected to wear the papal tiara. Cardinal Mastai Feretti had hardly been mentioned as a possibility, yet he became pope, reigned longer than St. Peter and was a witness of and an actor in most stirring happenings as Pope Pius IX. Cardinal Joachim Pecci was not considered a possibility. Never before had a papal camelengo been selected to wear the crown, but tradition failed in that respect, although it was borne out in the selection of one whom but few had considered as a papal possibility. The new pope, Pius X., was known as a successful administrator of the patriarchate of Venice, but his name was not mentioned in the gossip concerning the probable successor of Leo.

The selection of Cardinal Joseph Sarto was, therefore, unexpected, but it did not come as a surprise to those who are accustomed to surprises. What will be the policy of the new pope, whether he will follow in the footsteps of Pope Pius IX. and Leo XIII., or mark out a new policy toward the government of Italy, is pure conjecture, although his choice of the name Pius, the name of the "man of sorrows," as Leo's predecessor was characterized, is considered significant. All Christendom awaits with eagerness his first encyclical for in that document he will probably foreshadow his policy.

Unknown to Americans.

Bishop Richard Phelan is still at Idlewood on account of his health, and Bishop J. F. Regis Canevin was engaged all afternoon in a meeting with the diocesan council. Neither Bishop Canevin nor any priest in his entourage cared to be quoted regarding the new pope for reasons, which, it was explained, should be perfectly obvious.

The new pope is practically unknown to American bishops and priests. Until 1893 he was a parish priest in the north of Italy, and after his promotion to the patriarchate of Venice his attention was exclusively taken up with the affairs of that archdiocese. He has distinguished as an able executive and a learned man, but he was not of the immediate household of the pope, nor was he at the head of any of the congregations. It is the cardinals at the head of the congregations, who, coming in contact with visiting priests and prelates, are talked about in the Catholic world outside Italy, and whose names are in the religious and secular publications. It is, therefore, conceivable that a high churchman's name may be a household word in Italy and yet be almost unknown to the Catholic hierarchy and laity in other parts of the world.

Joseph Sarto was one of the few patriarchs in the Catholic church. In his actual episcopal functions he was, of course, no more than any other bishop, even the pope, as bishop, but in him are invested with no more canonical functions than any other hierarch, but the title of patriarch is a higher honor than that of bishop or archbishop.

One of Two Patriarchs.

There are but two patriarchs in Christian Europe—the patriarchs of Lisbon and Venice. Then there are the patriarchs of Constantinople, Alexandria, Jerusalem, Antioch and of the East Indies. The patriarchs of Constantinople, Jerusalem, Antioch and Alexandria had that title in ancient times.

Father Sixto of the Franciscan Fathers, pastor of the Italian church in Webster avenue, was at first a little indignant, but later felt somewhat amused at a publication yesterday which had him forecasting the policy of the new pope.

"No priest would presume to predict the policy of the holy father," said Father Sixto, "for what his policy will be is concealed in his own bosom. In good time we shall probably know from his first encyclical. I made the remark today that the holy father was reputed to have been a friend of the late King Humbert, but to deduce from that expression an opinion, that, therefore, as pope, the new pontiff will follow an entirely different policy from that of the late pope, is very far-fetched. There were no questions at issue between the government and the archbishopric of Venice, but there are material questions at issue between the bishop of Rome and the government. Even if he were a personal friend of Humbert and even of the new king, he will occupy an entirely different position as the bishop of Rome. One could hardly argue that because he was a friend of the king, that, therefore, he would do as pope what the king would like him to do.

"I have never seen Pope Pius X. I had heard of him, of course, as a good, pious man; a successful administrator of his archdiocese."

Appearance of New Pope.

So far as could be learned yesterday there are but two priests now in the diocese of Pittsburgh who have seen the new pope. Father Alexander Siwiec of Mt. Pleasant, who was in Pittsburgh yesterday, was in Venice in 1898 and attended in St. Mark's cathedral a mass at which Cardinal Sarto was the celebrant.

"The cardinal was a man of about 62 years," said Father Siewec. "As he was clad in his robes as celebrant of the mass I could not form a certain opinion as to his physique. His appearance was venerable, his hair was white and he was not robust, but there was vigor in his voice and he intoned clearly and resonantly."

Father Ambrose of St. Vincent's college at Beatty, was in Pittsburgh yesterday. He saw Cardinal Sarto in Rome in 1897.

"The cardinal impressed me as a man of strong intellect," he said. "He seemed to be to be above the usual stature and he had a remarkably spiritual countenance."

Father John Williams of the Order of the Holy Ghost said he had never seen the new pope, although he had met Cardinal Serafino Vannutelli, who was supposed to have a good chance of election. He said:

"The cardinals evidently found that those who were supposed to be the leaders could not be chosen, and they sought for a man combining as much as possible the attributes of the man of their choice, and in Cardinal Sarto they doubtless found such a man. A friend of mine, a Jesuit, told me he heard that Pope Leo XIII. had mentioned Cardinal Sarto as a man upon whom the choice of the conclave might fall."

Selection Is Significant.

The Rev. A. P. Doyle, editor of the Catholic World and a Paulist father, said last night:

"The choice of the patriarch of Venice to fill the papal chair is extremely significant. Cardinal Sarto is a man in the full maturity of his powers. A few years ago he was spoken of frequently as the successor of Leo, on account of his diplomatic gifts. His position as archbishop of Venice was one of extreme difficulty. It was his duty to affirm his fealty to the holy see and at the same time to express a friendliness with the Italian government. He has handled the difficulties of his position with extreme tact. During the past few years he has turned his energies to building up the institutions of his diocese. So successful has he been in this work that Venice has become noted among the dioceses of Italy for the splendid manner in which it has been equipped.

"Cardinal Sarto will bring to the papal chair all this remarkable diplomatic tact and his faculty of tireless work, and it may be expected that the great work that Leo has inaugurated will be brought to perfection.

"In two avenues particularly will Pope Pius X., in all probability, show his ability. First, in completing the union of the oriental rites. This work is very close to the heart of the late pope, who, by his tact, brought many millions out of schism into union with Rome. The patriarch of Venice is in close touch with the east, understands the genius of the oriental peoples and will perfect what Leo has begun.

Solving Social Problems.

"Moreover, in the solution of the social problems under the title of Christian Democracy, Cardinal Sarto has made a record for himself. His sympathies are with the workingman, because he has sprung from the very loins of the people, and no one appreciates the difficulties of the poor more than he. He has closely followed the studies of the late pontiff, and will undoubtedly work out to their ultimate solution the principles that were formulated in the encyclical on the 'Condition of Labor.'

"It is a great gain to have in the papal chair one who knows and understands the wants of the church among the English-speaking races. It is said that Cardinal Sarto, while in Venice, loved to meet Americans, and that he made diligent inquiry into the needs and successes of the church in the United States. This is considered a very prominent feature in his character. He brings to his work as pope a knowledge of and a love for the English-speaking races.

"It is confidently hoped by those who know Pius X. the best, that his lifework will be on the most enlightened lines. He will work for Christian unity and for a better exposition of the church to those who are outside the fold. There is a feeling of profound satisfaction among the Catholics in this country over his selection."

POPE PIUS X. A WORTHY SUCCESSOR OF LEO XIII.

Service Has All Been in Province of Venice—Possesses Great Learning and Piety—Popular With the People.

[SPECIAL CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

ROME, August 4.—Cardinal Giuseppe Sarto, who has been chosen as the successor of Pope Leo XIII., is better known in Italy than to the outside world. All his service to the church having been performed in his native province of Venice. Those who know him well, however, have no doubt that Pius X., his papal name, will prove a worthy successor to the great man whose place on the throne of St. Peter he takes.

Giuseppi Sarto was born June 2, 1835, in Riese, province of Venice, and received his education at the Salesian institute at Cottolengo, founded by the famous Dom Boco, and prepared for the priesthood at the Sacre Theologia at Rome. Pius X. was only 23 when he was consecrated a priest at Cartel Franco, acting afterward for nine years as coadjutor to the parish priest of Tombolo, province of Padua, a small village of 2,950 people, who were the first to appreciate his virtues.

His kindness was untiring. He sought to fill their wants and never murmured when he was called in the middle of a winter night to a supposed death bed, which proved to be nothing of the kind. He gave freely of his very small means, until he often went without meals himself, but he kept many a poor family from starvation.

Started as Parish Priest.

In 1867 he was appointed parish priest at Salzeno, which was considered an important promotion, being a village of 3,341 souls. Still, he was exceedingly sorry to leave Tombolo, having become attached to the people. The peasants when he left made a most enthusiastic demonstration. He distinguished himself so much at Salzeno that he was only kept there two years, which is remarkable in the career of an Italian parish priest. In 1875 he was elected chancellor of the bishopric of Treviso, then spiritual director of that seminary, judge of the ecclesiastical tribunal and finally vicar-general.

Pope Leo, who had highly appreciated his cleverness, piety and modesty appointed him in November, 1884, at the age of 46, bishop of Mantua, where he remained nine years, when he was made a cardinal and appointed patriarch of Venice.

He gained a reputation for great piety and fine executive ability and was regarded as one of the greatest preachers in the church. This honor was regarded at the time as a part of the patronage of the Italian throne, and objection was made to the pope filling it. Only the friendship of King Humbert for the man who is now pope prevented a deadlock then.

Friend of Crispi.

His selection was made by the consistory of 1893, which was compelled to sue the throne for the privilege of installing him as patriarch of Venice. In return for this concession, which was made through Premier Crispi, the church appointed an ecclesiastical vicar apostolic in Northeastern Africa to assist the premier in his pet scheme of extending the African colonies.

Cardinal Sarto had not been in office more than a year before he publicly declared for a union between church and state, speaking in no uncertain way. His utterances created a sensation and it was felt that he might have offended the holy father by the fervor of his words. Apparently he received the silent approbation of the pope, in whose estimation he held a firm place.

Cardinal Sarto has long been recognized as one of the most learned men in the church. He is a stickler for the exact truth as between the church and the people and won much renown some years ago by destroying certain relics of doubtful authenticity. He brings to his high office a character of most attractive modesty and unusual energy; in the direction of matters large and small, the talents of a fine administrative officer and the finer qualities of an organizer.

In addition to his abilities and his undoubted Christian character the cardinal is, from the sweetness of his nature, beloved by many millions of people. It is certain no other man would have received a more enthusiastic reception from the laity.

New Pope Is Handsome.

In appearance the new pope is most striking. He is tall and broadly built, and in youth had the physique of an athlete. Even now he is wonderfully well preserved and takes physical exercise enough to keep himself in fine condition. He has a face of great beauty and the features show well the intellectual strength of the man. His expression is serious and thoughtful, but there is no austerity there. The eye is mild and benign.

While the election of Cardinal Sarto was somewhat of a surprise he has been recognized from the start as one of the probabilities. It was reported in April last that Pope Leo remarked to Father Perosi, the noted musician of the vatican, that Sarto would probably be the next pope, but at that time the report was rather discredited in view of the overshadowing strength of Rampolla, Vanutelli and Gotti. It was known, however, that the patriarch of Venice was a great favorite of the late Leo, who had a profound admiration for his piety, learning, energy and ability. It is the universal opinion that the conclave has done well and that the great interests confided to him will be safe with Pius X.

Relatives Are Humble.

Advices from Riese, the birthplace of Pius X., and a village of 4,000 inhabitants, state that the pope's mother, now dead, when living there, occupied a small peasant's house, having in her humility always refused to live with her son, Guiseppe, as even his modest establishment was considered by her to be too luxurious in comparison with what she was accustomed to. An elder brother of the pope, Angelo, lives in the village of Dellegrazie, province of Mantua, being the postman of the district, and receiving $80 a year for his duties.

He adds to his income by keeping a shop in which he sells tobacco and pork. His two daughters are the belles of the village, being known for miles around as the handsome "Sarto sisters."

"Sarto," in Italian, means "tailor" and Pius X., when a young seminarist, being rather elegant in his priestly robes, his companions used to joke, saying that he evidently knew the business.

GIBBONS SHOWS HIS PATRIOTISM

Rejoices at Display of Stars and Stripes in St. Peter's Cathedral.

EULOGIZES THE NEW PONTIFF

American Cardinal Says Pius Will Watch This Country With Jealous Care. Action in Forwarding Social Movement in Church.

[SPECIAL CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

ROME, Aug. 4.—Cardinal Gibbons, pale and exhausted with his long vigil, received me after his return from the vatican. Cardinal Gibbons said: "Two things have rejoiced and rejuvenated my soul today. One was the election of the supreme pontiff. The other was the sight of the American flag in the basilica of St. Peter's, the head of the church of Christendom. No church, not even the gorgeous one designed by Michael Angelo, is too old to shelter the Stars and Stripes.

"When our American pilgrims, 200 strong, came into St. Peter's to pay their tribute of affectionate respect to the new supreme pastor, I felt proud of my country. I felt they were animated with the strong faith of our fathers. I was thrilled with joy when these pious pilgrims, our priests, our people from New York and elsewhere unfurled two beautiful American flags in full view of the 50,000 people who had come to seek the blessing of Pius X. They were obviously proud of Old Glory, for not only did they unfurl the flags, but they waved them again and again. It was a stirring spectacle there in St. Peter's.

"We have made a splendid pope. He is a most amiable pope. We all love him. The whole world will love him when it knows him. It is difficult for me to speak of the future ruling of Pius X., for how can I know it definitely? We know his past has been filled with apostolic zeal and gentle firmness. We know his winning personality. The interests of the church in America are sure to be watched with jealous care and a paternal eye. He was one of the cardinals who have taken a most active interest in the social movement since his elevation to the cardinalate. I am informed that within the patriarchate of Venice the social principles laid down by Leo XIII. have had a wonderful development. What could be more hopeful for us in America, the great working people? We wish his holiness to bless our God-loving people who, reading the Declaration of Independence, the magna charta of our Constitution, find God's name in its opening and closing sentences. Should the capitalist live up to the teachings of our church he could not be harsh nor unjust with our toilers."

J. J. CONWAY.

SARTO'S ELECTION IS DUE TO GIBBONS

American Prelate Is Credited With Having Formed Coalition to Defeat Rampolla.

[SPECIAL CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

ROME, Aug. 4.—It is a matter of talk in high ecclesiastical circles that to Cardinal Gibbons, archbishop of Baltimore, was largely due the election of Cardinal Sarto as pope. The American prelate is credited with having practically formed a coalition of foreign cardinals, to which, it is believed, the defeat of Cardinal Rampolla is due. His reason was that he feared Rampolla, if elected, would pursue a narrow pro-Italian policy, which would not be conducive to the best interests of the church, particularly in America.

Pope Pius X. is believed, on the other hand, to be thoroughly satisfactory, not alone to the American cardinal, but to others representing foreign constituencies. The new pope is known to be a man of liberal ideas, though a devout churchman, who will fight, if necessary, for what is due the great organization of which he is now the head. He is said to be well conversant with the affairs of the church in America and to lean towards that element in it which is represented by Cardinal Gibbons and the archbishop ireland. It is believed here that under the new regime Cardinal Gibbons will be a commanding figure in the councils of the church, particularly in so far as they touch on American affairs. It is further believed that at the first consistory held by Pius X. there will be at least one more American cardinal named; perhaps more than one. Greater recognition of the other great English-speaking countries will also be given. It is recalled that there are several questions between the vatican and the United States government which are open.

The position of the church in the Philippines is perhaps the most complex of these. It is the general opinion among the American churchmen here that the curia will be guided more largely by the views of Cardinal Gibbons than has been the case heretofore, and that this matter, while it is recognized has possibilities of friction, will be happily settled to the satisfaction of both the church and the government at Washington.

The same is true of other American questions. Great as has been the growth of the Roman Catholic church in America under the rule of Leo XIII., the opinion of the leading members of the American Catholic colony here is that it will be even greater under Pius X., and that American ideas will be quite as potential in the highest council of the church as they have ever been.

It has become very popular with well-known bankers, ministers, lawyers and others, whose business or profession prevents their taking much exercise, while those who have been troubled with indigestion, mal-assimilation of food and loss of flesh, brought on by irregular eating, worrying or other causes, have found health and strength in this reliable remedy.

Mi-o-na has been so uniformly successful in building up good, solid, healthy flesh, and in curing all stomach troubles, that Schilling Bros. Co. sell it under their signed guarantee to refund the money if it does not give satisfaction. A guarantee like this speaks volumes for the merit of Mi-o-na.

MYSTERY CLEARED

Hasty Conclusion of Cumberland Messenger Boy Gave Pittsburgher a Fright.

The mystery surrounding the telegram received by Howard P. Lingo of No. 229 Amber street, East End, while he was at work at the Westinghouse plant at East Pittsburgh early yesterday morning announcing the serious illness of his mother, Mrs. Sarah J. Lingo, was cleared up when Mr. Lingo arrived at Cumberland, Md., yesterday. Before leaving Pittsburgh Mr. Lingo said that his mother had gone to Cumberland, her former home, on a visit. The telegram notifying him of the sudden illness was signed "Father." Mr. Lingo's father has been dead since 1892, and the signature so startled him that he took the first train he could get for Cumberland.

When he arrived there yesterday he investigated the matter, and learned that his mother had become ill while stopping at a boarding house. The proprietor of the boarding house carried the message to the telegraph office and handed it over to a messenger boy. The operator discovered that the message to Mr. Lingo was not signed, and he inquired the name of the sender, so he affixed the signature. The boy replied to sign it "Father," thinking the sender was Mr. Lingo's father.

Mr. Lingo found his mother considerably improved.

TWO GIRLS DISAPPEAR

Started for Sunday School, but Did Not Reach There. Police Searching.

Cora Painter, 14 years old, daughter of Samuel Painter of 6348 Butler street, and Virginia Wintergreen, 13 years old, daughter of Nicholas Wintergreen of No. 6350 Butler street, have been missing from their homes since last Sunday morning. They started for the Morningside Presbyterian Sunday school last Sunday morning. They did not return during the day and a search was made that night. The girls did not go to the Sunday school, but left the road a short way from their homes and no further trace of them has been found.

The brothers are distracted and the fathers of the girls have been spending all their time scouring the country. Cora Painter remarked to a girl friend that she was going to Butler, but no trace of them was reported from there last night.

The girls are both blue eyed and Cora is stout, with flowing, curly hair. She wore a brown skirt and a white waist. Virginia was dressed mostly in white. The police are searching for the girls.

BATTLE WITH ST. BERNARD

C. J. Keenan Terribly Mutilated by a Large and Vicious Canine.

C. J. Keenan of No. 6374 Aurelia street fought for his life with a ferocious St. Bernard dog last night at Whitfield and Kirkwood streets. Mr. Keenan was passing the corner when he was set upon by a dog as big as himself. He defended himself as best he could until help arrived. He was carried to the office of Dr. George Fundenburg, where his wounds were dressed. A dozen stitches were necessary to close the wounds in his cheeks, nose and upper lip, which was nearly torn off. He was removed to his home.

The dog is the property of John Adams of No. 4809 Harrison street, and he said that this is not the first time the dog has attacked people. An Italian boy who lights the lamps in that section was also chased by it, and it is said that it has a bad record in Youngstown, from which city he was brought by Mr. Adams.

Mr. Keenan said last night that he would probably enter suit for damages against the owner of the canine.

COLORED PREACHER KILLED BY WHITECAPS

LEWISBURG, TENN., Aug. 4.—One negro was killed and another fatally wounded by a band of whitecappers last night. The mob made its appearance at the home of a negro preacher, John Millikin. Millikin attempted to escape but was brought down by a volley, dying almost instantly. John Hunter, a son-in-law of Millikin, was made to accompany the mob on a fruitless search for another negro and in an attempt to escape was fatally shot. The wife of Millikin was struck over the head with a gun.

OFF FOR A HUNT.

Pittsburghers to Invade Section Untouched by Whites for Over Fifty Years.

CHICAGO, Aug. 4.—(Special.)—A party of business men from Chicago and the east, started this evening for a hunting and business trip in the Saw Tooth mountains of Southern Idaho, a country where no white man has been for over 50 years, with bear and deer and grouse and trout from the ice streams in the neighborhood completely at their mercy.

In the expedition will be Grant McCargo, president of the Pennsylvania Lubricating Company of Pittsburgh; Dr. M. R. Ward of Pittsburgh, R. Hunt of Pittsburgh, Wallace Rowe, president of the Pittsburgh Steel Company, and W. L. Abott, president of the Iron City Trust Company of Pittsburgh.

EASTERN STOCKS AGAIN VERY WEAK

Wall Street Surprised by a Sudden Resumption of Liquidation Which Carried Some Prices to a New Low Level.

By JOHN O. BAGLIN, Financial Editor.

The unexpected happened in Wall street yesterday, there being a sudden resumption of liquidation, which gathered momentum as the day wore along and culminated in a number of specialties declining to the lowest prices of the year. The "rumor-mill" also resumed active operations, and the effect of the many reports in circulation was to produce an unsettled feeling throughout the street. The London market opened for business after the triple holiday, and the quotations received from that center showed moderate advances over the New York parity. Foreigners were sellers at the opening and buyers during the afternoon, but their operations were not sufficient to have any particular influence upon values. The market here was weak from the start, a few specialties leading the decline during the first half hour, but the entire railroad list participated in the weakness during the latter part of the day. The announcement that the Consolidated Gas Company stockholders would be offered the privilege of paying $150 a share for $6,000,000 worth of treasury stock, payment to be made in September, was unfavorably received. The stock was vigorously sold and broke from 183 to 178¾. The proposition for raising $9,000,000 by the sale of $6,000,000 worth of stock was not the kind of a "melon" the street had been looking for, and the fact that payment was fixed at a most unfavorable date, when other regular drains on the money market would be in progress, was regarded with dissatisfaction. The stock displayed little or no rallying power, and closed within a fraction of the lowest.

The heavy selling of United States Steel was not to be accounted for by any news development of the day. It could not be construed as in any way reflecting public sentiment regarding the retirement of Mr. C. M. Schwab from the presidency, because he has been only the nominal head of the corporation for some time past, and his successor was a man of his own selection. A great deal of stress was laid upon a bulletin published by a news agency to the effect that Mr. H. C. Frick was to be advanced to a more important position in the councils of the corporation and would oppose the continuance of dividends on the common stock, with the view to applying the money to strengthening the position of the company. If there had been any good foundation for this report, its logical effect should have been to strengthen the market value of the preferred stock, but the latter was as weak as the common. The character of the selling indicated genuine liquidation of both the common and preferred stock, large blocks of both issues being thrown upon the market apparently without regard to price. The common sold down to and closed at 21, the lowest ever quoted, and the preferred declined to 69, which is within a fraction of the lowest. Wall street credited the bulk of the liquidation to Chicago and Pittsburgh holders, but so far as could be learned, Pittsburgh was not particularly active on either side of the market yesterday. The new 5 per cent bonds sympathized with the weakness, and after opening at 80, declined to 78½, closing at the lowest.

Weakness was the conspicuous feature of the remainder of the industrial list, and some of the specialties recorded sharp declines. Virginia-Carolina Chemical opened lower at 32 and broke to 25, and the preferred declined from 85 to 80, closing at 72¾ bid. Realty Construction preferred declined from 46 to 44¾. Amalgamated Copper broke 2¼ per cent from 40½ to 38¼, despite an advance in the metal in the London market. Tennessee Coal & Iron declined from 35 to 37 and Smelting from 42¾ to 41. Westinghouse Electric broke to the equivalent of 880 a share, and General Electric from 160 to 157½.

The greatest sufferers in the railroad list were Atchison and Union Pacific, both of which sold down to the lowest prices of the year. The decline in Union Pacific was from 74 to 71, and was on the forced liquidation of a loan for western holders of the stock. The decline in Atchison was from 61¾ to 58¾, and was based upon corn crop news and the liquidation of pool stock. Southern Railway common broke to 19 and Wabash preferred to 34, which are the lowest prices of the year. There was considerable pressure upon the Rock Island issues, the common declining to 21½ and the preferred to 50¾. Selling extended to the high-priced issues, which declined from 2 to 3 per cent. St. Paul sold off to 157¾, Pennsylvania to 121½, New York Central to 117¾, Chicago & Northwestern to 162 and Illinois Central to 127¼. Missouri Pacific, which reported an increase in gross earnings for the fourth week in July of $151,000, declined from 97 to 95¾. Canadian Pacific, which reported an increase in gross earnings of $164,000 for the first week in July, declined from 122¾ to 121. As a rule closing prices were the lowest of the day. The total sales were 657,800 shares.

As a result of the day's operations the street is again very gloomy, more from the mystery which surrounded the action of the market than from any decided change in general conditions. Call money rates were unchanged at 2 per cent, but the offerings of time money were smaller and rates were firmer. The general bond market was also heavy, and one of the features reported by specialists was the offering of large blocks of bonds at a considerable concession from the quoted prices for ordinary lots.

On the Pittsburgh stock exchange the market fully sympathized with the weakness prevailing in Wall street. The sales reached 7,616 shares and the business was well distributed, although the largest transactions were in United States Steel. The common stock sold off from 23¾ to 21 and the preferred from 70½ to 69¾, the latter rallying to 69½, but closing offered at 69¼. The selling appeared to be largely arbitrage business between here and the east, the local market ruling a fraction above New York. Crucible Steel common declined ⅝ to 11¼, and closed at 11⅛ bid. The preferred stock sold off from 74 to 72½, closing with a net loss of 1 per cent. Manufacturers Light & Heat declined to 32½, and closed at that price bid. The largest decline of the day was in Westinghouse Electric, which broke from 84 to 80, and closed to 80½ bid, the close being a net loss of $4 a share. Airbrake was offered at 152 and closed without sale or bid. Pittsburgh Coal common declined a dollar to 27, and closed at 26¾ bid, 27¼ asked. The preferred stock declined from 84¾ to 84 and closed at 83¾ bid. River Coal common sold unchanged at 10¼ and the preferred declined a fraction to 38. National Fire Proofing common declined to 22¼ and the preferred to 33½. There was very little change in the remainder of the industrial list. Colonial Trust sold at 500 and was offered at that price, and American Trust was offered down 5 points to 435, closing without sale or bid. Merchants Savings & Trust declined 1½ to 163½. There were no transactions in bonds and prices remained nominally unchanged.

SMALL MORTGAGES ON THE INCREASE

Big Commission Being Paid for Placing Second Mortgages on Real Estate.

DEAL FOR DOWNTOWN LOT

Maple Terrace Gets Another $40,000 House—New Pumping Station for Perrysville Avenue District—City Buys Small South Side Property.

One encouraging feature of the real estate market—encouraging to the brokers who are making the deals—is the number of mortgages that are being placed. Since the slump in the stock market has forced so many Pittsburghers to pay heavily on margins and has so shaken the confidence of people with small amounts of money to put out, there has been more money coming forward in sums from $2,000 to $10,000 than for months. The number of borrowers is increasing too, according to the statements of mortgage brokers, some of them being forced to raise funds on short notice to meet payments and others being in need of funds to carry on building projects. First mortgages are being placed at from 5.5 to 6 per cent. In second mortgages there has been a noticeable increase within the last few weeks and brokers are charging stiff commissions. No money is being loaned on second mortgages for less than 6 per cent, and in some cases the rate is higher. For getting these loans brokers are paid from 10 to 20 per cent commission, much more than they got for any other class of realty transactions. In one case recently reported the broker received a bonus of $300 for placing a loan of $4,000. Another deal of $2,500 paid him a bonus of $300 or 20 per cent, and a third loan of $8,000 netted him $300 commission. A big proportion of the loans are being made by real estate firms who have a class of patrons with snug sums at ready disposal.

Profitable All Around.

One of the queerest real estate deals ever made in Pittsburgh came to light yesterday, although the names of the parties interested cannot be divulged for a few days. A store building on a leading downtown street is held to be worth $100,000 and is under lease until October 1, 1906, for $3,200 a year. Through a Pittsburgh broker a New York firm tried to buy the property. Failing to agree on terms, the New Yorker offered to pay the owner $7,000 a year until the end of the lease besides paying all taxes and insurance, etc., if he would agree to sell him the property any time within that period for $100,000, the price now asked. After some delay the deal was signed up, the bond owner turning over the deed was made out to John Mills of Marietta, O. It turns out that the price paid for the lot, 40x100 feet, was only $45,000, considerably less than was reported when the deal was made.

Allegheny: Henry W. Armstrong sold for Sarah Mackie to John and Hannah Doherty and William G. Doherty, Nos. 1416 and 1418 Poplar street, Third ward, Allegheny, two brick houses on lot 21.5x64 feet, for $4,700.

Webster avenue: The Aronson Realty Company sold for Mrs. Helen Troupe to Samuel Caplan No. 2156 Webster avenue, two brick houses on lot 44x100 feet, for $5,000.

Penn avenue: R. L. Crawford sold to A. L. Lowrie an improved lot 44x100 feet, on the north side of Penn avenue, near Twenty-fifth street, Twelfth ward, for $8,000.

City Gets South Side Property.

South Side: George L. Gearing sold to the city of Pittsburgh an improved lot 20x76 feet, at the southeast corner of Twenty-second street and Fox alley, Twenty-fifth ward, for $7,000. The property will be used for an approach to the Twenty-second street bridge.

Penn avenue: Jeannette McClure sold to John Frazer an improved lot 24x100 feet, on the north side of Penn avenue, near Twenty-fifth street, Twelfth ward, for $6,000.

Ward street: George C. Cushwa sold to Edwin N. Venton an improved lot 20x100 feet, on the east side of Ward street, Fourteenth ward, for $4,000.

Wylie avenue: George C. Norris of the Consolidated Real Estate Company sold for A. Henderson to A. E. Evans a lot 20x100 feet, in Olive street, Thirteenth ward, for $340.

Bellevue: The Real Estate Savings & Trust Company sold the Allegheny Real Estate Improvement Company to Architect Marius Rousseau, four lots, 182x125 feet, in Brighton road, in the Bellevue park plan, for $3,600. The buyer will build a $5,000 brick house.

Nelson, Morris & Co. yesterday took out a permit in Allegheny for a brick three-story storage house and stables at Anderson and Lacock streets, Fourth ward, Allegheny, to cost $25,000.

NO AID GIVEN MOTHER JONES

President Declined to Have an Interview on Child Labor Question.

SHE IS VERY INDIGNANT

Roosevelt's Secretary Explained That Congress Could Not Act, but She Says Her Rebuff Will Be Heard of Later.

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Herald Building, Herald Square.
NEW YORK, Aug. 4.

President Roosevelt has declined to grant an interview to "Mother" Jones. The letter of Secretary Barnes arrived this morning, as follows:

Oyster Bay, N. Y., Aug. 4, 1903.

Dear Madam:—I beg to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 30th and state that it has been brought to the president's attention. The president, as was shown by his action while governor of New York, has the heartiest sympathy with every effort to prevent child labor in factories, and on this matter no argument need be addressed him, as his position has been announced again and again. Under the Constitution it is not at present seen how congress has power to act in such a matter. It would seem that the states alone at present have the power to deal with the subject. Very truly yours,
E. F. BARNES.

Acting Secretary to the President.

Mother Jones was indignant after she read the letter.

"The president has not heard the last of this matter; but he will when labor casts its vote; and I give you the word of Mother Jones that the reply will be a surprise to the politicians," she said.

"Our little army has accomplished what it set out to do; the public realizes what the mill owners are doing with child labor. We have sent back hundreds of dollars to support the strikers in Philadelphia and the cause of the textile workers is growing stronger. I am going to West Virginia to aid the coal miners in that state and I will not be afraid to tell them how President Roosevelt feels regarding child labor. Children work in the mines, you know."

PEEKED INTO THE JAIL, THEN HE WENT INSIDE

Eddie Anderson's Desire to See His Old Home Opened the Doors for Him.

Eddie Anderson, a young negro of the hill district, took a peek into the jail yesterday. A little later he was inside; but he has been there before. He climbed up to the window looking into the office and making ugly faces at Deputy Warden John McNeil.

Constable Charles H. Tyler was sitting at the front in a door of Alderman P. B. Kelley's office in Ross street, a short distance above the jail. Tyler knows Anderson, as do most of the constables and policemen of the Wylie avenue district, on account of his numerous escapades. He also knew he held a warrant for Anderson's arrest on a charge of assault and battery and he was looking out for a night on his prey. Tyler reached up and caught Anderson by the ankles. Anderson tried to kick his way to liberty, but was taken at a disadvantage and was soon seeing the landscape from the inside of the bars.

A few minutes after Anderson was placed in a cell Elmer Hinton, another negro, was hanging on the bars outside the jail where Anderson had been a few moments before to see what the trouble was with his friend. Constable Tyler also held a warrant for Hinton's arrest and ran outside to catch him, but the negro took fright and disappeared in the direction of High street before Tyler could reach him.

Anderson and John Heyl had a fight in Wylie avenue on Monday night over the ownership of a horse and the latter was badly beaten up. Anderson, Hinton and Heyl were only released from the workhouse a short time ago after serving a term for robbing the store of the Krelger Manufacturing Company in Fifth avenue.

LOVE NATIVE TONGUE.

Poles in the German Provinces on the Verge of Revolution Against Kaiser.

BERLIN, Aug. 4.—(Special.)—Audacity of the leaders of the Polish national party in the German-Polish provinces, is increasing every day and ever since the last election the districts of Silesia and Posen have been in a state of fermentation almost bordering on revolution. At a mass meeting at Schroda in Posen the audience, which numbered many thousands, applauded every attack upon the government and pledged themselves to teach their children the Polish language, which is no longer taught in the schools.

The newly elected Polish members of the reichstag are all pledged to oppose the government in every possible way and if possible force it to recognize the Polish language in the schools. It is evident that the kaiser will have a hard task in subduing the revived anti-German feeling in Poland.

Braddock's Garbage Problem.

The garbage question in Braddock promises to be solved in the near future. Efforts are now being made to have all garbage and refuse matter dumped in cars on the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie railroad and hauled to a remote place and burned. The disposing of garbage in Braddock has bothered the council for many years. Several times sites were to be purchased for a furnace, but objections were made to the location each time, and the matter was allowed to drop.

Herron and Martz Held.

At a hearing before Magistrate Thomas D. Stewart, George Martz and R. G. Herron, the McKeesport men arrested after an exciting chase and hunt in the building at No. 312 Fifth avenue Monday night, were held for court on charges of larceny and felonious assault and battery. It was alleged at the hearing by Estella Rose Eberhardt, who preferred the charges, that Herron and Martz went to her house at No. 1221 Clark street Monday night and robbed her.

KARO CORN SYRUP.

The New Table Delicacy That's Made from Corn—Good for Every Home Use.

Corn as a food product heads the list of grains in nutritive value. The successful extracting and retaining of the strengthening food properties found in this cereal resulted in the manufacture of Karo Corn Syrup—different and better than any syrup made.

This new table delicacy is found excellent for every home use. For candy it is far superior to any other syrup. The children all love it and thrive upon it. As an energy and strength producer, it is an ideal food for infants and invalids, fit for any stomach.

Karo Corn Syrup is not a molasses, but a pure, wholesome, nutritious syrup, absolutely free from adulteration. Its reasonable price appeals to the prudent housewife. Sold only in airtight, friction-top cans, which preserve its purity, insure its cleanliness and guarantee its goodness. At all grocers, 10c, 25c and 50c.

Remember the Date of the $5.00 Excursion to Niagara Falls and Return, Via Pennsylvania Railroad, Saturday, August 15th.

Trains leave Union station, Pittsburgh, at 9 a. m. and 11 p. m., eastern standard time. Tickets good five days returning.

Standard day coaches and Pullman cars on both trains. Secure your Pullman space in advance.

AGRICULTURE WAS CRIPPLED AND SHE HAD TO BE REPLACED

Lying prone on the sidewalk in Wood street, looking like a huge corpse with a burlap sack tied about its head, the immense statue of "Agriculture," that for several months has graced the Wood street side of the Farmers Deposit bank building, reposed for several hours last night. Hundreds of people stopped and gazed at this great lump of granite from the Vermont quarries, and many queries were put as to why the statue had been removed from its sentinel post 65 feet above the street.

"Maybe the wind loosened it from its foundations," was the observation of one man, who evidently did not know that the stone weighed three tons and had been set into firm foundations that defied any hurricane. Other speculations as to the removal of the great white block failed to throw any light on the question, and "Agriculture," with a solid granite scythe in her hand, reposed alone, like Ruth the gleaner, separated from her kin.

The reason for taking the statue down is that a large portion of the cheek and forehead was knocked off when it was put up several months ago. Part of the left arm was knocked off, too, and "Agriculture" has retained its position near the north end of the building only until a duplicate could be made. The new statue arrived yesterday and will be set up today.

It cost the Farmers bank $1,700 to replace the granite block, and no one except Supt. Leisenger and those whose offices are near the statue knew it was defaced. The marks could not be detected from the street. But they were there, and that was sufficient reason why the damaged stone should be replaced.

SANG ONCE AGAIN THE MANY OLD-TIME SONGS

Unique Annual Ceremony Took Place at Chatauqua Yesterday.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

CHAUTAUQUA, N. Y., Aug. 4.—This is the day when all old Chautauquans love to gather in at the assembly and talk over old times and sing old songs. It is called "Old First Night," and on this occasion is celebrated the opening night of the first assembly 29 years ago.

There was a repetition of the first vesper service in the hall in the grove and later the anniversary exercises in the amphitheater. Short addresses, mainly reminiscences, were made by men prominent in the work, several of whom were here on that first night. A cablegram of greetings was read from Bishop Vincent, the founder of the institution. Illumination and fireworks on the lake front were on the programm but as so many times before this season, the rain interfered.

The liquor problem is being discussed from all points of view this week. The audiences have heard the physiological effects of alcohol; of the Salvation Army's dealings with the question and of the saloon and the world of graft. Today it was from a woman's standpoint, and Mrs. Lillian M. Stevens, president of the National Women's Christian Temperance union gave an address on "The W. C. T. U. and the Liquor Problem."

INSURANCE BUSINESS GREATLY INCREASED

Life Policies Issued in Pennsylvania Last Year Numbered 678,713.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

HARRISBURG, Aug. 4.—The second part of the annual report of Insurance Commissioner Durham for the year ending December 31, 1902, is in the hands of the printer. During the year the companies of this state issued 9,710 policies, insuring $25,497,175 upon the lives of residents of this state. Companies of other states issued 669,003 policies in this state, insuring $269,187,126 80, making an aggregate by all companies of 678,713 policies, insuring $234,684,301 80, being an increase of 14,574 policies, and an increase of $2,192,823 68 insurance.

The total losses paid by all life companies in this state during 1902 was $14,-482,118 49. The insurance in force at the end of the year, 1902, upon the lives of residents of Pennsylvania, including industrial policies of small amounts, aggregated 2,634,122 policies, insuring $1,142,-674,213 13. The Pennsylvania life companies had in force at the close of the year a total of 221,048 policies, insuring $530,178,836 00. The same companies had a total net premium income of $20,488,-602 48 and a total income from all sources of $26,179,274 06.

The entire expenditures of Pennsylvania life companies in 1902 were $16,023,-859 78. The entire income of assessments of life companies of this state for the year 1902 was $2,094,728 45. The expenditures were $181,168 03.

The assessment life companies of other states licensed to do business in this state, and reporting to this department, show in 1902 a total income of $12,871,450 26, and expenditures amounting to $10,480,-167 61. The assessment accident companies reporting to this department show in 1902 a total income of $1,855,836 99, and expenditures amounting to $1,444,-525 42.

FAITH SAVED HER LIFE.

Mrs. General Ketcham Attributes Her Rapid Recovery to Christian Science.

NEW YORK, Aug. 4.—(Special.)—Mrs. John Henry Ketcham, wife of Gen. Ketcham, the veteran congressman, who was attacked in her apartments at No. 1411 West Eighty-second street, beaten with an iron bar which broke her collar bone, and choked into insensibility, had today almost recovered her normal health, despite her years and slight strength. Her marvelous improvement she ascribed entirely to Christian Science.

"Christian Science, in which I believe most devoutly, saved my life and caused my complete recovery," she said today. "I had no fear when I was attacked; I had no thought but in my belief. That is what saved me. I have had no pain and I have had no fever. I am perfect in my thought. I am quiet and restful."
Mrs. Ketcham is 65 years old.

PITTSBURGH TO LAKE BY ELECTRIC ROUTE

A meeting of the directors of the Mahoning Valley Street Railway Company will be held in Youngstown, O., today, and will be attended by Murry A. Verner of Pittsburgh, Myron T. Herrick of Cleveland and the full board of directors. At the meeting, it is said, action will be taken relative to the proposed construction of the missing links of the system between Cleveland and Pittsburgh.

Is a Very Mild Strike.

Nothing new has developed in the strike situation at East Pittsburgh, where some of the machinists employed by the Westinghouse Machine Company are on strike for an increase in wages and the signing of the union scale. The men have pickets placed about the works, to prevent, if possible, men returning to work. The plant is operating as usual, apparently. No trouble has so far occurred and none is expected.

Getting Ideas for a Church.

The Rev. C. H. Dunlap, pastor of the Avalon Presbyterian church, and the building committee of that congregation, have concluded an inspection of the First Presbyterian church at New Castle, Pa., with a view to securing ideas for extensive improvements to be made this summer upon the Avalon church. The First Presbyterian church of New Castle, is considered one of the finest examples of classic architecture in this part of the state.

Alleged Embezzler Brought Back.

NEW YORK, Aug. 4.—(Special.)—Charged with embezzling the funds of the Southport (Conn.) National bank, involving in ruin the two trust funds, two churches and some of his relatives, Oliver G. Sherwood, former cashier of that bank, was brought to this city today a prisoner from Panama, where he was arrested. He is charged with embezzling nearly $100,000 of the bank.

EUROPEAN SQUADRON ORDERED TO USE GUNS

Convivial Season Ended for Admiral Cotton and Jackies Must Go to Work.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4.—Further details of the cordial reception with which the European squadron is meeting in Portuguese waters reached the navy department today in the following cable dispatch from Rear Admiral Cotton:

Luncheon, thirty covers today, to cabinet ministers and ranking officers navy and army. All ministers present except one absent from Lisbon. Toast to president and king enthusiastically received and feeling response by premier. Official reception tomorrow will conclude international ceremonies.

Acting Secretary of the Navy Darling today had the following cable dispatch sent to Rear Admiral Cotton at Lisbon:

"Squadron sail Saturday for some quiet ports in Mediterranean, where conditions are best to increase efficiency of guns' crews preparatory to the target practice in September."

In the later autumn the European squadron will come across the Atlantic and proceed to the Carribean, where, with the North and South Atlantic squadrons, it will participate in the winter maneuvers. It has been decided that the maneuvers shall begin somewhat later than last year and the fleet will not assemble until early in January. This, it is thought, will insure better weather for the exercises.

WANT NEW LIBEL LAW.

Press League to Agitate the Repeal of the Salus-Grady Act.

HARRISBURG, Aug. 4.—(Special.)—Plans for organizing a Press league of Pennsylvania to secure the passage by the next legislature of a new libel bill to take the place of the Salus-Grady law, were discussed at a meeting here today of the libel committee of the Pennsylvania State Editorial association.

The aim of the league will be to work in harmony with the present press and editorial corporations of Pennsylvania for the enactment of a law that will equitably and justly deal with the interests of the newspapers of the state, and at the same time fully protect the interests of the pubic.

The committee decided to invite representatives of all such organizations in the state to meet with its members at an early date and take the necessary steps to perfect such an organization. The committee consists of Dietrich Lamade of Williamsport, B. F. Meyers, Harrisburg; P. Gray Meek, Bellefonte and James McKee, Towanda. It was created at the annual meeting of the State Editorial association at Atlantic City, in June.

Steubenville Pastor Called.

The congregation of the McCandless Avenue Presbyterian church, which has been without a pastor for the last six months, has invited the Rev. Dr. W. A. Williams of Steubenville, O., to take charge of the church. Dr. Williams for six years was professor of Greek and English in Franklin college, New Athens, O., and was president of the college during its most prosperous period. He is also the author of a number of song books, and one of his most popular songs is "Christ Is All."

CUTICURA OINTMENT

Purest of Emollients and Greatest of Skin Cures.

The Most Wonderful Curative of All Time

For Torturing, Disfiguring Skin Humours

And Purest and Sweetest of Toilet Emollients.

Cuticura Ointment is beyond question the most successful curative for torturing, disfiguring humours of the skin and scalp, including loss of hair, ever compounded, in proof of which a single anointing preceded by a hot bath with Cuticura Soap, and followed in the severer cases, by a dose of Cuticura Resolvent, is often sufficient to afford immediate relief in the most distressing forms of itching, burning and scaly humours, permit rest and sleep, and point to a speedy cure when all other remedies fail. It is especially so in the treatment of infants and children, cleansing, soothing and healing the most distressing of infantile humours, and preserving, purifying and beautifying the skin, scalp and hair.

Cuticura Ointment possesses, at the same time, the charm of satisfying the simple wants of the toilet, in caring for the skin, scalp, hair, hands and feet, from infancy to age, far more effectually, agreeably and economically than the most expensive of toilet emollients. Its "Instant relief for skin-tortured babies," or "Sanative, antiseptic cleansing," or "One-night treatment of the hands or feet," or "Single treatment of the hair," or "Use after athletics," cycling, golf, tennis, riding, sparring, or any sport, each in connection with the use of Cuticura Soap, is sufficient evidence of this.

Sold throughout the world. Cuticura Resolvent, Pills (in form of Chocolate Coated Pills, 25c. per vial of 60). Ointment, 50c., Soap, 25c. Depots, London, 27 Charterhouse Sq.; Paris, 5 Rue de la Paix; Boston, 137 Columbus Ave. Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., Sole Proprietors.
Send for "The Cuticura Skin Book."

JULY EXPORTS SHOW DECREASE

Small Falling Off in Wire, Wire Nails and Pipe Shipped Abroad.

AGGREGATE TONNAGE HEAVY

Over 11,000 Tons of the Product Manufactured by the Auxiliary Plants of the United States Steel Corporation in and About Pittsburgh Sent to Foreign Parts.

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Herald Building, Herald Square.
NEW YORK, Aug. 4.

More than 11,000 tons of wire, wire nails and iron pipe manufactured in the Pittsburgh and vicinity plants of the American Steel & Wire Company and the National Tube Company, branches of the United States Steel Corporation, were exported last month to various parts of the world.

In the aggregate the July exports show a decrease of about 500 tons when compared with June shipments. Three thousand five hundred and sixty-one tons of wire were sent abroad last month, while 5,091 tons were shipped during the previous month. South America and Europe were the largest buyers in July. Seven hundred and fifty-nine tons went to the Argentine republic, 118 tons to Chile and two small lots to Brazil, making in all 920 tons for South American ports, compared with 727 tons for June.

To Europe 870 tons were sent last month. The bulk of the shipments, 749 tons, went to Great Britain. The wire exports to the continent were small, 121 tons in all having been sent there. Mexico took 404 tons this month. To Australia 345 tons were shipped as against 2,669 tons in June. Three hundred and twenty-eight tons were forwarded to China and Japan. Cuba was sent 289 tons.

The exports of wire nails made a total of 3,499 tons, an increase of about 20 per cent over June. July exports went chiefly to China and Japan, 1,790 tons going to the far east in five lots. Last month's wire nail shipments to Europe aggregated 745 tons, 648 tons of which went to British ports. One hundred and ninety-seven tons comprised the total exports to the continent. South America was sent 568 tons. Shipments were also made to Manila, Singapore, Mexico and Cuba.

The pipe exports last month made up a total of 4,191 tons; about a similar tonnage went out in June. The principal July shipments were made to Europe, 2,509 tons going to that part of the world. About 3,000 tons were sent in June. Last month's pipe shipments to that part of the world comprised 1,514 tons to the continent and 1,046 tons to British ports. To China and Japan 717 tons were shipped. Chile was sent 354 tons. Two hundred and twenty-six tons went to Mexico. One hundred and forty-nine tons was sent to Sydney, Cape Breton and smaller lots went to Australia, Cuba and Manila.

Order Given to Build Bridges.

BALTIMORE, MD., Aug. 4.—(Special.)—An order has been obtained from the circuit court for Washington county by counsel for the Western Maryland railroad allowing the road, conditionally, to cross the Chesapeake & Ohio canal with bridges. LAWYER AMMON'S APPEAL HAS BEEN TURNED DOWN

Former Pittsburgh Attorney Must Now Commence His Term in Sing Sing.

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 4.—Justice Gegerich in the supreme court today denied the application of Col. Robert A. Ammon, the former Pittsburgh lawer, for a certificate of reasonable doubt. He was convicted on a charge of having received $30,501 of the money of the "Franklin Syndicate," the 320 per cent get-rich-quick concern, of which William F. Miller was the manager, and was anxious to get a stay of sentence, pending the determination of his appeal.

Ammon was sentenced to an indefinite term of imprisonment, not to be less than four years, and not to exceed four and a half years. His counsel, Arthur G. Palmer, contended that there had been errors in the judge's charge to the jury, and that evidence had been admitted which was not legal, especially that of District Attorney Clarke of Kings county.

"After a very careful consideration of the record," says Justice Gegerich, "I have reached the conclusion that none of the alleged errors complained of justifies the granting of this application. Motion denied." The result of this decision is that Col. Ammon will be taken at once to Sing Sing.
